KAISER WILHELM II COLLIDES IN FOG

Hit by Incemore in English Channel, Returns to Southampton Badly Damaged.

NOBODY ON BOARD HURT

Cut Below Water Line, Will Transfer Her 1,000 Passengers to Another Ship.

INCEMORE ALSO DAMAGED

Goes to Southampton with Crumpled Bows After Hitting the Kaiser Amidships.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 17.—Much excitement was caused in Southampton today when news arrived that the North German Lloyd Line's Kaiser Wilhelm II., with nearly 1,000 passengers, had been in collision in the English Channel in a dense fog.

The anxiety was later dispelled by the return of the liner, which had left the port for New York early in the day, and of the vessel which struck her, the grain steamer Incemore, of 3,060 tons.

The smaller ship made harbor in a sinking condition, while the damage to the big liner is such that she is unable to continue her voyage. Her passengers may possibly be transferred to the Imperator tomorrow.

The liner was about an hour's steaming from the Needles when the collision occurred. She was struck amidships on the starboard side, near the saloon. The impact was so severe that the bows of the Incemore were flattened, and her anchor was driven in.

"There was no panic or confusion on the Kaiser Wilhelm II.," said a passenger in an interview, "although, of course, there was a great deal of excitement for some moments. The order was quickly given to close the watertight doors, and the boats were swung out. The boats were also swung out on the Incemore.

"Children on the deck of the liner cried and some women showed alarm, but the passengers were soon reassured, and when the order to lower the boats was countermanded the anxiety was quite removed. It was found that the ship, though damaged below the water line, was making very little water. She went under her own steam to Southampton Water, where she anchored for the night."

SOUTHAMPTON, June 17.—The Kaiser Wilhelm II. left Southampton shortly after noon today. She lies at anchor tonight off Netley, three miles to the southeast of Southamptotn, with a big hole in her side amidships, caused by the collision with the Liverpool steamer Incemore, which was bound from a Black Sea port for Antwerp.

The Incemore is in dock here with her bows badly smashed.

The collision occurred thirteen miles south of the Nab Lightship in a dense fog. Just how it occurred and on which vessel lies the responsibility cannot be ascertained at the present time. The officers of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. refuse to give out any information.

Such scant details as have been obtained come from the Incemore. That vessel, it is stated by those on board, had virtually come to a stop because of the danger of continuing under way in such a thick fog, when suddenly there loomed just ahead of her the huge bulk of the Kaiser Wilhelm.

Both Captains did their best to avert a collision, but the short distance separating the vessels rendered their efforts ineffectual and the Incemore struck the liner on the starboard side amidships. The force of the impact crumpled up her own bows and tore a big gap in the Kaiser Wilhelm's side.

The two steamers stood by each other until it was ascertained that neither needed immediate assistance. Then both started slowly for Southampton.

The forepeak of the Incemore rapidly filled with water, but a stout bulkhead confined it there, and, although so much down by the bows that the propellor was half out of the water, she managed to crawl into port. There it was found that the damage to the boat extended for a length of twelve feet and a width of ten feet.

Officials of the North German Lloyd Company are endeavoring to make arrangements for the transfer of the Kaiser Wilhelm's passengers to another steamer. A proposals was made to the Hamburg-American Line that the Imperator, which will leave Southampton tomorrow with Col. Roosevelt in the large list of passengers, take the Kaiser Wilhelm's passengers, but this has not yet been settled.

LONDON, June 17.—The London office of the North German Lloyd Company tonight made the following statement:

"The Kaiser Wilhelm II. was run into at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by the steamer Incemore in a dense fog, ten miles southeast of St. Catherine's Point.

"The Incemore rammed the Kaiser Wilhelm at right angles, and scraped along for some distance, but the watertight doors in the bulkheads kept back the water, which leaked into one compartment. Directly the fog came on Capt. Dahl had closed his watertight doors to be ready for any contingency.

"The Kaiser Wilhelm II. has a hole below the waterline nearly amidships, but the extent of the damage has not yet been ascertained. After waiting on the spot for half an hour the Kaiser returned to Southampton.

"No one on board was injured. The boats were got ready for swinging out, but were not swung out. There was no excitement on the vessel. Capt. Dahl decided to come into dock so as to be ready in the morning for an examination by divers. The marine superintendent of the company and other technical officials are on their way to Southampton. The intention is to have the necessary repairs done at Southampton, so that the Kaiser Wilhelm can return to Bremerhaven."

FIRES ON ENVOY'S AUTO.

German Ambassador's Party Target for Policeman's Bullet.

Special to The New York Times.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 17.—Count Johann von Bernstorff, German Ambassador to the United States, narrowly escaped serious injury here today when Michael Murphy, an over-zealous special policeman, drew a revolver and fired point blank at the automobile in which the German diplomat and a party of friends were riding.

The bullet went wide and Count von Bernstorff was disposed to make light of the incident and readily accepted a profound apology tendered by Mayor Dobbins.

Count von Bernstorff journeyed from Chicago to Champaign in the special car of Arthur Meeker, the Chicago packer and partner of J. Ogden Armour.

The German Ambassador had accepted an invitation to deliver the annual commencement address at the University of Illinois. Escorted by Mr. Meeker, who is a Trustee of the university; Dr. David Kinley, Vice President of the institution, and Dr. Evarts Boutelle Green, the Ambassador was being driven to the campus when the firing took place.

Michael Murphy, a special policeman, employed by business men, stood at First Street and University Avenue, when the Ambassador's car sped by. He held up his hand as a warning, but the chauffeur disregarded the signal, as the policeman was not in uniform, and there appeared to be no cause for halting. Infuriated at the failure to obey his signal, Murphy drew his revolver and fired at the car.

While Murphy asserted he had only fired at the tires Mr. Meeker charged that the shot was aimed point blank at the car.

When his escort wished to report the matter at once to the city authorities Count von Bernstorff requested that the trip to the campus be continued. As soon as Mayor Robbins was notified he hurried to make a formal apology to the Ambassador, who readily accepted it.

Count von Bernstorff requested that no extreme steps be taken against Murphy merely because of his own diplomatic status. Nevertheless Murphy was placed under arrest, the star removed from his coat, and his commission as a special policeman Mayor Robbins said would be revoked.

Because of the position taken by Count von Bernstorff no State or national apology will be required, according to the international law experts of the university.

President James and other university officials were highly indignant at the affront and its possibilities of danger to their distinguished guest.

UPHOLDS EUGENIC LAW.

Wisconsin Court Says It Is Not Discriminating or Unreasonable.

Special to The New York Times.

MADISON, Wis., June 17.—The Supreme Court today handed down a decision upholding the eugenic marriage law. The opinion was written by Chief Justice J. B. Winslow. The chief argument advanced against the law was that it was discriminatory, in that it compelled male applicants for marriage licenses to undergo physical examination, while the law was not made to apply to female applicants. The court finds no merit in this argument.

"Classification," says the court, "is not to be condemned because there may be occasional instances in which it does not fit the situation. It is proper if the great mass of situations to which the law applies justify the formation of a class."

The court maintained that the law required only such examination as the ordinary medical practitioner could make. The court reversed the judgment of the Milwaukee County Circuit Court, which declared the law invalid.

Alfred A. Peterson, Milwaukee, was unable to obtain a license in last January because of failure to present a medical certificate. Peterson then began the action to test the constitutionality of the measure.

The law prescribed a fee of $3 to physicians. In the case of Peterson it was shown that four physicians refused to make the examination on the ground that the fee was insufficient to carry out what they thought were the requirements of the law.

BURIES A BIG "KNOCKER."

Paterson Inters a Hammer and Starts a "Boosting" Campaign.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., June 17.—With several thousand people gathered around to witness the ceremonies the Board of Trade here this afternoon buried a huge thirty-foot hammer, symbolic of the "knocking" Paterson has received both from people in the city and from the outside. The act marked the beginning of a campaign to boost the city. Together with the hammer were buried three stuffed dummies labeled "Chronic knockers."

The obsequies were preceded by a procession which took in the principal streets of the business section. Five hundred members of the Board of Trade were in line. Each carried a sign of some kind with a message to the people to boost the city.

The hammer was made of wood covered with canvas. Its head bore this lettered injunction: "Quit knocking and boost." On the handle were the words: "The hammer—bury it." William B. Bryant delivered the funeral oration, in which he urged the development of a community spirit.

A public meeting was held at the high school tonight. Edward F. Trefz, Field Secretary of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker. He said the problem of the Board of Trade was not one of manufacture nor of population, as these would come; but it was up to the business men to make Paterson the best city in the world.

VISITOR STIRS LAFAYETTE.

Former Professor, Who Burned Pardee Hall, Appears at Commencement.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Penn., June 17.—There was a sensation at the commencement exercises of Lafayette College today when George H. Stephens, a former member of the Faculty, who served a long prison sentence for burning Pardee Hall in 1899, walked into the auditorium and took a seat in the gallery. He was recognized by officers who sat near him and watched his every move.

At the close of the exercises Stephens, who disobeyed a court order by coming to Easton without permission of the Police Department, was placed on a train and sent west. Stephens occupied the chair of ethics and moral philosophy at Lafayette and was dismissed for cause. Subsequently he took revenge by burning Pardee Hall and committing other depredations.

Today he never let his gaze wander from Dr. Warfield, who was presiding at his last commencement.

There were ninety members of today's graduating class.

ROOSEVELT OUT OF FALL CAMPAIGN

Accepts London Doctor's Advice to Make No More Speeches for Several Months.

MUST KEEP OFF THE STUMP

Throat in Such Condition, He Cannot Take Part in Extended Fight, He Says.

TAKES VERDICT CHEERFULLY

Specialist's Order, the Colonel's Answer to Those Who Are Urging Him to Enter Political Arena.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 17.—The condition of Col. Theodore Roosevelt's throat is such it will prevent his taking the stump in the campaign in the United States next Fall, and will compel him to use the greatest care for several months to come. The affection of his larynx is a direct result of the hardships he endured while in Brazil recently, although his last hard campaign was the primary cause of the ailment.

This announcement was made today after he had visited Sir St. Clair Thomson, professor of laryngology and physician for diseases of the nose and throat at King's College Hospital.

"Last night, though addressing only a small crowd, my voice wasn't in good shape," said the Colonel. "So today I saw Sir St. Clair Thomson, the throat specialist, who looked after me four years ago. He examined my throat and said the larynx had been in bad shape for some time, probably owing to the strain of two years ago. Then the fever affected it further. He told me it would be an impossibility for me to go into anything in the nature of a continuous campaign for some months. This means it will be impossible for me to do the things I have been asked to do either in the primary or electoral campaign. I can't even speak once a day and can make no open-air speeches at all. No Madison Square Garden this year."

Col. Roosevelt said he would obey the doctor's orders. He seemed to accept the verdict cheerfully.

This morning the Colonel had breakfast with the Bishop of London, and in referring to it he said:

"I have always been immensely interested in the work he has done in the East End slums. It seemed to me the Bishop was trying to make Christianity be what it ought to be. I have little interest in dogmatic theology, but much in the practical application of religion."

A journalist asked the Colonel if he intended to visit the Panama fair.

"I hadn't thought of it. When is it?" he asked. "Young man, take it for granted I'll go some time. I'd rather have that $25,000,000 spent on San Francisco than on Colombia."

The Colonel is sailing on the Imperator tomorrow. He said he would have nothing to say regarding politics at Quarantine.

"I won't talk politics until I have been back some time."

He took the opportunity to brand as fakes in advance any wireless interviews on any subject which might possibly emanate from the Imperator during the voyage.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 17.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is suffering from an affection of the larynx as a direct result of the hardships he endured in his recent Brazilian trip, which will effectually prevent him from taking part as an orator in the political campaign in the United States next Fall and will compel him to exercise the greatest care for some months to come.

"This is my answer to those who wanted me to go into a campaign," said Col. Roosevelt today in describing the condition of his throat. "If any one expected me to do so, I cannot now."

The announcement of the ex-President's disability was made after he had paid a visit to Sir St. Clair Thomson, professor of laryngology and physician for diseases of the nose and throat in Kings' College Hospital, a specialist whom he had consulted when he was in London in 1909.

After a thorough examination, Dr. Thomson said that Col. Roosevelt must not attempt to speak in the open air or indulge in extended speechmaking for several months. He said the trouble was the result of Col. Roosevelt's last hard campaign, as a primary cause, and that the Brazilian fever from which the Colonel had suffered affected his throat, settling, as was generally the case in such ailments, on the patient's weakest spot.

Col. Roosevelt was the guest of the Bishop of London at breakfast today and expressed deep interest in the Bishop's work in the East End slums of London.

Afterward the Colonel visited the National Gallery and then had luncheon with Arthur J. Balfour, former Unionist Premier; Prof. Gilbert Murray of Oxford University, Prof. John Bury of Cambridge University, and Col. Charles Delme-Radcliffe, the lion hunter.

George W. Perkins, National Executive Chairman of the Progressive Party, was told at his home in Riverdale last night of Col. Roosevelt's statement that, in deference to the specialist's advice,

EUGENE ZIMMERMAN SUED AS HER FIANCE

Miss Wareham, Dog Fancier, Asks $100,000 of Duchess of Manchester's Father.

SAYS HE PROMISED TO WED

Proceedings Begun in Queens County, in Which Defense Denies All Allegations.

A breach of promise suit for $100,000 against Eugene Zimmerman, father of the Duchess of Manchester, has been begun by Miss Ivy Wareham of Elmhurst, L. I., well known as a dog fancier, whose thoroughbreds have won blue ribbons at many exhibitions.

Mr. Zimmerman, now in his 69th year, obtained a promise of marriage from Miss Wareham in this city on Dec. 20, 1913, when he likewise made a promise of marriage to her, according to an affidavit made by Miss Wareham. The plaintiff asserts that she has at all times since been ready, to carry out her part of the contract.

Mr. Zimmerman is represented by William H. Blymyer of 49 Wall Street, and Miss Wareham's counsel is Philip C. Samuels of 200 Broadway. Mr. Blymyer would not discuss the suit last night at his home at Pelham Manor. He did not know where Mr. Zimmerman and Miss Wareham had become acquainted, he said, and he did not know where Mr. Zimmerman was at present, except that he was in the West.

At Miss Wareham's home it was said last night that she was in New Haven.

The complaint has not been filed in the Supreme or County Court of Queens, nor has it been filed in the office of the clerk of that county. Mr. Blymyer admitted, however, that a copy of the complaint had been served on him several months ago, and explained that it would not have to be filed until the case came to trial.

The first facts about the suit were disclosed yesterday by an order which Supreme Court Justice James Van Siclen made to admit the answer of Mr. Zimmerman, which was verified for him by his attorney. The answer contained a general denial of the allegations of Miss Wareham, whose counsel raised the objection that it had not been made personally by the defendant.

With the order of Justice Van Siclen, filed in the office of County Clerk Leonard in Jamaica, were other papers in the suit, including an affidavit made by Miss Wareham on March 11, 1914, before Joseph Namerman, Commissioner of Deeds. In part, it reads:

> Plaintiff complains as follows:
>
> First—That heretofore and in the City of New York, and on or about the 20th day of December, 1913, and on numerous occasions prior thereto, the plaintiff, at the request of the defendant, undertook, promised, and agreed to marry said defendant, and in consideration thereof, said defendant undertook, promised, and agreed to marry the plaintiff herein within a reasonable time thereafter.
>
> Second—That although more than a reasonable time has elapsed, the defendant has failed and refused to marry the plaintiff, although said plaintiff, confiding in defendant's said promise, has at all times remained, has been, and now is ready, willing, and able to marry the defendant.
>
> Third—That by reason of the promises and defendant's failure to carry out the agreement, the plaintiff has suffered damage in the sum of $100,000.
>
> Wherefore plaintiff demands judgment against the defendant in the sum of $100,000, together with costs and disbursements of this action.

Mr. Blymyer makes an outright denial of the first allegation, and contends that the defendant, having no knowledge of the others, also makes a denial of them. The attorney gives as his reason for answering for his client that Mr. Zimmerman was not in his county at the time the answer was prepared.

Mr. Samuels pressed his objection to the answer and asked how the attorney for the defendant knew whether Mr. Zimmerman denied the alleged promise of marriage. In granting the motion to admit the answer, Justice Van Siclen wrote this memorandum:

"It seems that under the authority of Byers against Wilson, 43 Hun. 397, the motion must be granted. Such a verification by an attorney is not a commendable practice; but as long as the strict letter of the statute demands it, it must be tolerated. Motion is granted without costs."

Written notice was filed with the County Clerk on May 18 last that application for a trial of the case of Ivy Wareham against Eugene Zimmerman would be made on the first Monday in June. Mr. Blymyer said that the case probably would not be tried within another year. What efforts Mr. Samuels is making to hasten the trial coud not be learned. At his home, 215 Audubon Avenue, it was said late last night that he was not there.

Eugene Zimmerman was born in Vicksburg, Miss., in 1845. He served in the United States Navy during the civil war. In 1878 he married Miss Marietta A. Evans in Cincinnati. She died in 1881, leaving him a daughter, who married the ninth Duke of Manchester.

Mr. Zimmerman first became prominent in the railroad world as President of the Cincinnati & Green River and the Kentucky and South Atlantic Railroads. He held those places for many years.

He became President of the Chesapeake & Nashville Railroad in 1882, and in June, 1883, was elected President of the Dayton, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad. In 1904 he became President of the Chicago, Hamilton & Dayton and got the Queen & Crescent route to be its tributary. Mr. Zimmerman obtained control of the Pere Marquette system in 1903, and the Chicago, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

He has large holdings in and is a Director of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western Railroad, Birmingham & Atlantic, Dayton & Union, and the North Alabama Coal and Iron Railroad Companies. He is a large stockholder in the Standard Oil Company, and is a member of the Loyal Legion.

A dispatch from Cincinnati last night said that Mr. Zimmerman had gone to Wellston, Ohio, on Friday. Efforts to find him in Wellston were not successful.

TO ARREST LORIMER IN BANK FAILURE

Ex-Senator Accused, with Munday, of Responsibility for Losses of Over $2,000,000.

BANK EXAMINER REPORTS

Big Doubtful Loans to Lorimer Interests—Criminal Prosecutions Now to Come.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 17.—William Lorimer and Charles B. Munday are charged with responsibility for the failure of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings Bank in the report filed at Springfield today by Bank Examiner D. V. Harkin with State Auditor Brady. Criminal prosecution of both was decided upon following a conference between Mr. Harkin and Attorney General P. J. Lucey. The Attorney General tomorrow will ask for the appointment of a receiver for the bank, setting forth in his petition the charges made by Mr. Harkin in his report.

It is Mr. Lucey's intention to make the appointment of a receiver the first step in the criminal prosecution of the bank officials. The receivership will afford an opportunity for a more thorough investigation of the affairs of the bank than Mr. Harkin was able to make. It will also lead to a further search for collateral missing from the bank. It is the intention of the Attorney General to base criminal action upon a general charge of conspiracy to loot the bank and not upon any specific misdeed.

Following is a list of some of the transactions which were called to the attention of the Attorney General by Bank Examiner Harkin in his report:

A $120,000 loan to William Lorimer, Jr., & Co. on a note secured by Southern Traction Company bonds.

A $100,000 loan to J. P. Gallagher, William Lorimer's partner in the firm of Lorimer & Gallagher, on a note secured by the same bonds.

A $160,000 loan to the Southern Traction Company, in which William Lorimer was interested, on its unsecured notes.

A purchase of $350,000 of the bonds of the same company.

A $160,000 loan to Lorimer & Gallagher on the notes of the firm.

A $203,000 purchase of the bonds of the Illinois and Louisiana Land Company, of which ex-Gov. J. Y. Sanderson of Louisiana is the head.

A $100,000 loan to the Litchfield Mill and Elevator Company, controlled by C. B. Munday.

A $125,000 unsecured loan to C. B. Munday & Co. of Litchfield, Ill.

A $130,000 loan to Truax, Greene & Co. This loan is secured in part by notes by the bank as worth $30,000, but to which Bank Examiner Harkin gave a valuation of $15,000.

A personal unsecured loan of $125,000 to C. E. Ward, Lorimer's private secretary at the time he was in the United States Senate and now a Director in the Lorimer bank.

A total of $1,573,000 is involved in these transactions.

Bank Examiner Harkin charged off more than $2,000,000 of the loans made by the bank as "desperate." He holds that only $2,000,000 of the assets of the bank are "good." The capital, surplus, and undivided profits amount to $1,300,000. The deposits are $3,430,000. This makes a total of $4,730,000 covered by $2,000,000 of sound assets. On this basis the loss may run as high as $2,730,000.

Another item which receives attention in the Bank Examiner's report is one of $600,000 representing "money in transit." The large amount of money in transit attracted attention at the time the last statement of the bank was made. Although the La Salle Street Bank was capitalized at only $1,000,000, its report showed as much money in transit as if it had been one of the largest banks in Chicago. The Bank Examiner's report declares that the $600,000 in transit represents the kiting and shifting of collateral from the La Salle Street Bank to the others in the Lorimer-Munday chain of banks.

"The question of criminal prosecution hinges on whether Mr. Lorimer and Mr. Munday were the controlling and dominating factors in the concerns to which big loans were made by the bank," said Attorney General Lucey tonight. "I do not believe that it will be difficult to find out whether they were."

State officials declare that the La Salle Bank never will be reopened. Officially they are ignoring the assertion of C. B. Munday that $1,000,000 has been raised to put the bank on its feet.

Charges that the State Auditor exceeded his rightful powers when he ordered the closing of the bank were the burden of a suit filed in the Cook County Superior Court today, asking for an accounting and the appointment of a receiver if necessary. Mismanagement and misappropriation of the bank funds are also alleged in the suit, which was filed in the name of Desider L. Tarjan, a depositor, whose claim is $2,000. In the complaint it is charged that the officers of the bank engaged in large enterprises with the money deposited in the bank, without giving adequate security for it, and that in consequence of the failure of the projects the funds have been depleted.

U. S. PSYCHOLOGY BUREAU.

Republican Proposes It, Taking Up the President's Remark.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Representative E. E. Roberts, Republican, of Nevada, took up today the President's statement that present business depression was "psychological" and introduced a resolution to authorize Secretary of Commerce Redfield to create a "Bureau of Psychology" in his department for research work into business depressions—past, present, and future.

The resolution provides:

> That the Secretary of Commerce be and he is hereby directed to establish and maintain a bureau of psychology at Washington, D. C., for the purpose of research as to the causes of business depressions, including the one now existing, and that the sum of $2,000 is hereby appropriated and shall be expended under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1915.

Bennett Clark, the House parliamentarian, solemnly referred the resolution to the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

OUR PROPOSAL REJECTED AT NIAGARA; SHARP CRITICISM BY HUERTA DELEGATES

Mexican Delegates Flatly Reject Our Proposal, Calling It Tantamount to Abetting Election Fraud

Special to The New York Times

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 17.—The Mexican delegates to the mediation conference issued tonight a statement to the public containing the substance of a memorandum which they gave to the American delegates on June 12. The Mexican delegates explained that they issued the statement because knowledge of their criticism of the American proposals had already become public through the newspapers. The statement follows:

> There is no reason for further concealment of the difference which has arisen between the American and Mexican delegations, to which the press has already referred, over the provisional Government for Mexico, which is at present under consideration.
>
> The Mexican delegation, adopting a principle advanced by the mediating plenipotentiaries, agreed to the designation as Provisional President of a neutral. The American delegation submitted its plan, based on the condition that the Provisional President shall be a Constitutionalist, a condition which the Mexican delegation flatly rejected, of its own accord and without even consulting its Government. To put in writing the reasons for the rejection, so that they might better be studied by the American delegates, the Mexican delegation addressed to them the memorandum mentioned, the chief considerations of which are the following:
>
> In a country unused to electoral functions, such as Mexico, and particularly in the circumstances and conditions it would be in, once the revolution had ceased, a provisional Government composed of revolutionaries, and with revolutionaries in authority throughout the country, would turn the elections as it wished; the public vote would be falsified and the result would necessarily be the election of another revolutionary.
>
> Consequently, when the Washington Government insists today on the designation of a Constitutionalist as provisional President, it favors also from today the imposition of a revolutionary President at the elections. Such an attitude is bad for both countries and for the chief of the revolution (who will doubtless also be its candidate); bad for the two countries because it will create a national sentiment of hostility in the Mexican people, when a sympathetic rapprochement between them and the United States should be striven for; bad for Carranza and for his party because public opinion in Mexico, whose susceptibility in the matter is well known to them, would ever accuse them of having brought about the intervention of a foreign nation to enable them to achieve power, and of wielding an authority submissive to a foreign Government.
>
> In the United States, and in some European countries, the influence of the Government in power on elections is slight, if any. In Latin-American countries it is usually decisive and, product of a revolution which believes in its right to power by conquest, a revolutionary Government does not hesitate to set aside all law to trample on the public will. In Mexico, in the present circumstances, only a wellbalanced Government can guarantee electoral freedom, so that the rejection of the neutral Government proposed by the mediators is tantamount to abetting and even to exacting fraud and violence at the elections.
>
> The American delegation draws an illogical inference when it says that the rebel successes show that the nation is with them. The Eastern States of the republic, which have a total population of over ten million inhabitants, are not under rebel control. Of these Guanajuato, Calisco, Puebla, Vera Cruz, Mexico, and Oaxaca alone have over seven million. But admitting said erroneous inference to be correct, it is no argument for the forcible imposition of the triumph of the revolutionary candidate, as under a neutral Government he would be assured of a certain and honorable victory. If the nation is with Carranza, as the American delegation claims it is, the nation will elect him without the necessity of tainting his triumph with either fraud or violence or the charge of its being the fruit of foreign intervention, accusations which public opinion will always make against it. Carranza, elected by the nation under a neutral provisional Government, would command the respect due to the person who incarnates the nation's will, whereas elected under a Government purposely imposed, as the result of any action at Washington, he would always be regarded as a traitor.
>
> If things are as the American delegation claims them to be, Carranza is certain of his election, and in this case only a matter of form is being discussed, which is whether he is to be elected at elections held by a rebel provisional government which will exercise violence against the people to achieve its end, or at elections presided over by a neutral government which will carry them out honestly. Now, the government of a people in the front rank of civilization and moral culture cannot assume, for a mere matter of form, the responsibility for the continuation of the slaughter, pillage, and atrocities which accompany the struggle in Mexico and which a vain effort has been made to conceal from the people of the United States.
>
> The memorandum [of June 12] also refers to two other points which are not yet public property.

URGE REBEL CHIEFS TO SETTLE QUARREL

Carranza and Villa Partisans in Juarez Make Joint Appeal to Both.

FEAR DISASTER TO CAUSE

Report of Consul Edwards Was Interpreted in Washington as Meaning Trouble Was Over.

EL PASO, June 17.—Carranza and Villa adherents tonight issued a joint appeal to both the Constitutionalist First Chief and to Gen. Villa. They asked that both desist from what they considered a condition which would ruin the chances of Constitutionalist success, both internally and internationally.

Determined to prevent a breach between the two revolutionary leaders, a group of Mexicans met in a hotel here tonight to discuss the situation, which they considered critical. The document was drawn up in simple language and telegraphed jointly to Carranza and Villa. It asked that personal differences be thrust aside for the welfare of what the authors considered the last Mexican revolution.

Those signing the document as representatives of the Carranza faction were Alfredo Pani, in charge of the Treasury Department at Juarez and Carranza's representative in the recent diplomatic exchanges; Juan N. Amador, a local attorney, and Manuel Prieta, a Carranza official. For Villa the document was signed by A. Farias, Villa's confidential agent; Lasaro de la Garza, Villa's financial agent; Carlos Arguelles, a former member of the House of Deputies in Mexico City, and Carlos Dominguez, a former member of Carranza's military staff, but now a Villa adherent.

It came out tonight that one of the causes of the recent coolness between Carranza and Villa was the fact that the latter got the entire shipment of arms landed at Tampico by the Antilla. How Villa got the munitions was not made known, but it was said that the task was accomplished through the daring of some of Villa's lieutenants who went to Tampico for the purpose. Carranza's forces in the east got none of the ammunition.

Thomas Edwards, American Consul at Juarez, has sent a report to the State Department, echoing the assertion of Villa officials that the breach between him and Carranza in no way would interfere with the military movements against the Huerta Government. Mr. Edwards declared tonight that in no way did he assert that the trouble between the two revolutionary leaders had been patched up.

E. V. Anaya, Mayor of Juarez, and H. Perez Abreu, head of the Bureau of Information, have been missing since the coup last night that placed Juarez completely in Villa's hands. Early this morning a special train, guarded by thirty soldiers, left for Chihuahua, taking on board more than a dozen customs and minor officials believed to be Carranza sympathizers. It is currently reported that the Mayor and Abreu were on board this train, but Juarez officials still maintain absolute silence regarding the significance of all events of the past twenty-four hours.

More than 1,000,000 pesos in new Carranza currency was seized at the custom house when Villa's men took charge of Juarez, it was learned today. The money was part of an issue recently authorized by Carranza and designed to supplant all previous issues, including the "Villa money" which is now flooding rebel territory. The quoted price of both issues took a sudden drop in El Paso today, only 15 cents being bid for Villa and 13 cents for Carranza money.

This morning Larzo de la Garza, who has acted as agent here for Villa in the disposition of the confiscated Spanish cotton that was seized at Torreon, issued a statement that Spaniards were at liberty to return to any part of Mexico held by the Constitutionalists. The statement said:

"The order of Villa expelling the Spaniards was forced by circumstances, in view of the fact that there was a very hostile attitude held by the people. But now that the situation in all Constitutionalist territory is entirely quiet, the Spaniards may return to their labors with full guarantees."

It is known that the expulsion order was fathered by Villa at both Chihuahua and Torreon, and that, following the expulsion of the Spaniards from Chihuahua, there was a heated controversy between Villa and Carranza, the latter pointing out that the order would make a bad impression both in this country and abroad. That no heed was paid to this warning by Villa was evidenced by the fact that the Spaniards had but twenty-four hours after the fall of Torreon in which to leave the country. There are fully 300 Spaniards still remaining in El Paso, and many of these have signified their intention of returning.

AMERICANS WILL REPLY

Obtain Permission from Secretary Bryan to Make a Counter-Statement Today.

Special to The New York Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ontario, June 17.—Throughout the circle, embracing all those involved in the Mexican peace undertaking, profound gloom prevailed today. Mediators and both sets of delegates argued a disastrous ending of their efforts from yesterday's fruitless conference in Buffalo between Justice Joseph R. Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American Commissioners, and Rafael Zubaran Capmany and Louis Cabrera, the delegates appointed by Gen. Carranza to represent the Constitutionalist cause in the peace negotiations.

That an unhappy ending was at hand was indicated tonight, when the Mexican delegates issued a formal statement disclosing inside information concerning the main points of their differences with the American delegates. The Mexican delegates, although clothing their views in courteous language, virtually allege that a Provisional Government composed of Constitutionalists, which was urged by the American delegates, would control the general elections in such a way as to insure the choice of the Constitutionalist candidates and that the contest would be a farce—in short, to use the Mexican delegates' own words, the American proposal was "tantamount to abetting and even to exacting fraud and violence at the elections."

The Mexican statement [printed elsewhere on this page] summarizes a memorandum delivered to the American delegates by the Mexican delegates in which the latter explain their position, as it has been outlined in these dispatches, in response to the American contention that a Constitutionalist instead of a neutral be placed at the head of the proposed Provisional Government.

The Mexican delegates construed the American proposal to mean that, as the Constitutionalists would win in the general elections, it was just as well to install them in power immediately under the provisional form of authority. This implication is resented by the Mexican delegates in their memorandum. They insist that the fair and honest way for the Mexican people to express their will is through elections conducted by a neutral Government.

When Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann learned tonight of the statement of the Mexican delegation they consulted Secretary Bryan over the long-distance telephone, and got his authority to issue a reply summarizing their note. The preparation of this answer was begun late tonight, and in view of the fact that a considerable time would be required to put it in shape, Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann decided to withhold it until tomorrow.

The American delegates would not comment on the action of the Mexican delegation in making public a summary of the notes exchanged between them. One theory expressed by outsiders was that the publication might have a bad effect at this delicate period of the negotiations.

Whatever faint hope of the success of the mediation movement may exist—and it can hardly be called a hope—is found in the belief on all sides that the United States Government will make another desperate endeavor to persuade Gen. Carranza to modify his attitude.

"The situation now centres in Washington and not in Niagara Falls," was one expression heard frequently today among those concerned in the mediation proceedings. Apparently these persons are unwilling to believe that after a month of constant labor to adjust Mexico's troubles the Wilson Administration will permit the peace movement to go to smash. But how failure is to be prevented nobody here is able to suggest.

The American delegates are waiting for the Administration to digest the 2,000-word report of their conference with the Constitutionalist representatives yesterday. At that conference it was made plain that the United States could not hope for co-operation from the Constitutionalists in its effort to settle the Mexican problem by diplomacy.

The effect upon the peace negotiations of Gen. Villa's reported break with Gen. Carranza is problematical, according to Niagara Falls opinion. It is anybody's guess as to whether the course of the mediation conference will be changed by what is supposed to be happening in the Constitutionalist ranks.

Interest in Carranza-Villa Break.

Mediators and both sets of delegates read with interest today press dispatches telling of the Carranza-Villa trouble, but they had no predictions to make as to its meaning with reference to the peace movement. While the mediators have not discussed the matter of the displacement of Carranza as the head of the Constitutionalist movement, it is known that they will be glad to receive delegates appointed by Villa if the latter succeeds Carranza as supreme chief.

The mediators would insist that Gen. Villa comply with the conditions laid down in the several communications of the mediators to Gen. Carranza, namely, that he order his forces to suspend hostilities and that he accept in principle the pacification plan outlined at Niagara Falls. Only upon these terms would they consent to the admission of Villa delegates in the conference. It is probable, also, that the mediators would not be willing to accept Gen. Villa as the chief authority of the Constitutionalist party unless he were recognized in that capacity by the Government of the United States.

There was the barest intimation tonight from persons close to the American delegates that there was a prospect that both sides—the Constitutionalists and the Federals—might modify their attitude. This implied intimation may have been merely the expression of a heartfelt hope, for there has been nothing to show that anything of an encouraging nature has reached the American delegates since they parted with the Carranza emissaries in Buffalo yesterday.

No Conferences Yesterday.

There were no conferences today between the mediators and either group of delegates, nor did the two mediators who are here, Ambassador da Gama and Minister Suarez, have any discussions with each other that promised anything for the future. From the point of view of the mediators, their effort has failed, so far as practical results are concerned. As a last resort to save the peace movement they will ask the American and Mexican delegates to consider men who, in the opinion of the mediators, measure up to the requirements of the offices of provisional President and the Cabinet. But, in view of the refusal of Gen. Carranza to accept a provisional Government that is not composed of out-and-out militant revolutionists, the making of these nominations is expected to be without result.

The mediators will not suggest anybody for provisional President who is a militant revolutionist. Their idea is that the person holding that office must be a neutral, although they are willing to concede that he shall sympathize with the reforms which the Constitutionalists seek to bring about. It is probable that the mediators will seek to effect a compromise on the selection of a neutral as provisional President by proposing that of the four other members of the temporary government two shall be pronounced Constitutionalists and two shall be men who have not supported the revolutionary movement, although they need not be close friends of or in any way affiliated with Gen. Huerta.

The attitude of the Carranza envoys at Buffalo yesterday seems to make certain in advance that men of the political characteristics likely to be suggested by the mediators will not be acceptable to the United States unless there is a change in the attitude of the Washington Government.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are understood here to be of the opinion that it would be useless to attempt to establish a provisional Government that was not composed of men satisfactory to Gen. Carranza. Yesterday's conference at Buffalo established, or rather emphasized, the fact that Gen. Carranza would not accept any settlement at Niagara Falls that did not provide for the installation in the provisional Presidency and other high offices of outright Constitutionalists. The statement issued by the Mexican delegates tonight shows that they are determined not to agree to any such proposals.

CARRANZA GETS A B C NOTE.

Saltillo Hears It Leaves Way Open for Further Negotiations.

SALTILLO, June 16, (via Laredo, Texas, June 17.)—Gen. Carranza late today received a communication from the Niagara Falls mediators in answer to his announcement that he was willing to send a representative to the peace conferences. He declined to make public the contents of the communication or to indicate the nature of his reply, which, it was said, had not been completely prepared.

The note of the mediators asked that the Constitutionalists agree to an armistice. A prominent official said the note had not terminated negotiations.

REBEL ENVOYS IN WASHINGTON

Say Buffalo Conference Has Not Altered Mediation Situation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The return of Señors Zubaran and Cabrera from their conference yesterday with the American peace delegates at Buffalo does not appear to have inspired in the Constitutionalists any faith in the success of mediation. For weeks past they have reiterated that there was no gain for them in the Niagara conferences, that the mediators had blundered, and that failure was certain. Today one of the most conservative of the group here said that yesterday's meeting with the American representatives had not changed the situation.

The feeling grows in Washington that a crisis in mediation, if not its end, will come at the next meeting of all the conferees on Friday. This impression seemed to be confirmed by what a high official of the Administration said today. It was suggested to him that the American people were deeply interested in the progress of Mexican negotiations, and that perhaps the Administration had not been altogether wise in withholding information on every point.

"We can't say anything until Friday," was the official's response.

This was taken to mean that on that day, for some reason, the etiquette that might explain the Administration's reluctance to discuss matters before the mediators might be relaxed. In many quarters the inference is drawn that the mediators may on that day lay aside their rôles as intermediaries and leave the parties interested free to make any statements they please. Constitutionalists here are rather inclined to issue a statement on their part sharply assailing at least one of the mediators for working against the Constitutionalists in the interests of Huerta.

With the American and Huertista delegates in complete deadlock over a possible provisional President to succeed Gen. Huerta, the one basis suggested here on which negotiations may continue with some hope of compromise relates to the property rights of the wealthy members of the Cientifico group. The Huertistas say they have nothing to fear on the battlefield worse than what the American delegates would have them accept at the hands of the mediators. But it is suggested that the United States might propose that if the Huertistas would accept a Constitutionalist provisional President the Constitutionalists might be induced to guarantee personal and property protection to their enemies.

But utterances by President Wilson indicating his firm determination not to recognize as national the debts incurred by Gen. Huerta's régime show that many difficulties would lie in the path of a settlement of this sort. The Constitutionalists themselves are determined to invalidate the Huerta debts as far as possible, and they will not commit themselves in advance either as to the bonds Gen. Huerta has issued or the concessions he has granted.

HUERTA KEEPS DEPUTIES.

Call for Extra Session Says Way to Peace May Be Found.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—A call for an extra session of Congress has been sent to the standing committee of Congress, which held a session immediately after the adjournment of the regular session this evening. The call, sent by the Foreign Relations and Interior Departments, says that as the approval of the Legislature will be necessary for the ratification of agreements concluded at the Niagara Falls conference the Executive proposes that Congress be convened in extra session to last as long as needed, so that the Executive may submit the result of the conference to the Legislature and obtain its approval for agreements reached thereat and its action on other questions which directly or indirectly may have a connection with such agreements or may flow therefrom whether such questions be international or internal.

The executive proposal for the extra session also says:

"By virtue of the good offices of the mediating powers and their efficacious action, it is very probable that between the Constitutional Provisional Government of the United Mexican States and the Carranzista revolutionists some agreements will also be reached which may conduce to the country's political pacification."

Gen. Huerta was approached today by THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent in regard to the possible outcome of the Niagara Falls negotiations, but he said that he was determined not to make any statement before the termination of the conference.

Rumors of a possibility that Huerta may take the field against the rebels prevail in some circles.

HUERTA AND CARDEN CLASH.

Dictator Resents Minister's Suggestion That He Resign.

VERA CRUZ, June 17.—British subjects who arrived here from Mexico City today report a recent clash between Provisional President Huerta and Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister.

The dispute arose out of the advice volunteered by Sir Lionel that the de facto President should resign and leave the country immediately. The British Minister also offered Gen. Huerta a British safe conduct and a warship to take him to any port he might name, together with his family.

Gen. Huerta is said to have become enraged and to have threatened to arrest Sir Lionel Carden if he ever repeated the proposal.

Sir Lionel Carden is said to have based his suggestion on his personal friendly relations with Gen. Huerta and to have urged upon him that the time had come when flight was his only resource.

A small revolt among the Federal garrison at Soledad is reported to have occurred last Monday. It is said that eleven men of the Twenty-ninth Mexican Infantry deserted because they had not been paid for twelve days. They were pursued and three of them killed, and the other two captured and executed.

REBEL GUNBOAT SUNK.

Captain and Engineer Commit Suicide—U. S. Ships Save Many.

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, Mazatlan, June 16, (by wireless via San Diego, June 17.)—The Constitutionalist gunboat Tampico was sunk today by the Federal gunboat Guerrero in twenty-two fathoms of water, leaving the Guerrero the sole warship representing either faction on the west coast of Mexico. The battle began at 8:20 A. M. and lasted until noon.

The rebels lost ten killed and ten wounded, the Federals none. In despair at the outcome, Capt. Malpico and his Chief Engineer, after fighting with great bravery against heavy odds, committed suicide.

The Tampico, which was on the way from Topolobampo to Mazatlan, was in no condition to fight when the more heavily armed Guerrero, bound south from Guaymas, in a chase overhauled her.

Capt. Malpico appealed to the American destroyers Perry and Preble, which were following the Mexican vessels, for a tow to Altata, where the Tampico hoped to take refuge in shallow water. The laws of neutrality prevented the American commanders from complying, but the Perry and Preble and the cruiser New Orleans, which was accompanying them, were able to save many from drowning when the Tampico sank and to give surgical aid to the wounded.

After her victory the Guerrero headed for Mazatlan, where she will be of great service to the beleaguered Federal garrison in preventing the army under Gen. Obregon occupying commanding positions.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A new problem for American diplomacy was injected into the Mexican situation today when it became known that Rear Admiral Howard, commanding the American Squadron in Pacific waters had taken aboard his vessels at Topolobampo, Constitutionalists who sought safety when their vessel, the Tampico, was sunk by the Federal gunboat Guerrero.

As it would be impracticable to keep these prisoners long aboard the American warship they probably will be brought to the United States and interned. It was pointed out that to succor the wounded or to rescue the drowning and then put them ashore to rejoin their rebel comrades would be a clear violation of neutrality.

Those familiar with precedents thought the status of these Constitutionalist refugees would be identical with that of the 4,000 Federal soldiers and camp followers who crossed the Rio Grande into Texas after defeat at Ojinaga. These refugees have been interned ever since, first at Fort Bliss and now at Fort Wingate, N. M.

TRUSTS BACKING VILLA?

Story of Oil Interference in Mexico Is Revived in Texas.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 17.—The old story about the interference of Standard Oil and other trust interests in the affairs of Mexico was revived here in a new form today. Information, said to have been officially obtained, that the rupture between Gen. Carranza and Gen. Villa was the result of financial intriguing on the part of American interests, was telegraphed to Washington tonight by United States officials here. The official who made the report has just returned from a trip into Mexico, terminating with a considerable stay at Juarez and El Paso.

It is said that the agent names the El Paso hotel and the same room where the conferences relative to the financing of Villa's revolt against Carranza took place. He also gives, it is said, the identity of every man who had a part in the transaction.

The agent further asserts that practically every mineral concession worth the name in the States of Chihuahua and Sonora was willed, granted, and bequeathed to the representatives of an American concern by order of Villa in return for exceedingly remunerative allowances.

Copies of the official papers granting these concessions, it is said, went to Gen. Carranza, nobody doubting at that time the loyalty of Villa to Carranza. Carranza is said to have remonstrated with Villa and to have endeavored to persuade him to withdraw them. Villa was obdurate and so was Carranza.

The report further says that [illegible] papers and wrote [illegible] the face of each: "Annulled. V. Carranza."

Villa, the Administration was greatly relieved this afternoon to hear from Consul Edwards at Juarez that the difficulty had been smoothed over. Mr. Edwards reported that this adjustment had already produced practical results, as Gen. Villa was on his way south at the head of his army to push the assault against Zacatecas.

Other official dispatches received are to the effect that all the principal officers of the revolutionary movement sided with Villa in his differences with the Chief over methods of procedure in the military campaign, and that Carranza has agreed that Villa shall take supreme command in the military operations against the Huerta Government.

All the military officers under Villa, including Gen. Felipe Angeles, his chief of artillery, who has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for Provisional President, are said to have stood by Villa in his revolt.

Resignation Accepted at First.

According to the official dispatches the difference between Carranza and Villa arose over the attack upon Zacatecas. Gen. Carranza, it is said, insisted that Gen. Natera should lead the assault, and mapped out plans which Villa did not support. Villa insisted, according to the reports, that the First Chief of the Constitutionalist forces was being influenced by ambitious politicians in the revolutionary movement and determined that the only way to meet the situation was to resign his commission as chief of the military forces in Northern Mexico. Carranza at first accepted his resignation and ordered Villa to Chihuahua to assume the military Governorship of that State. Immediately, it is said, all of Villa's subordinate officers revolted, insisting that the First Chief had made a mistake. Carranza then is said to have yielded and to have restored Villa to his command, with instructions to go ahead with his plan of campaign.

Immediately after his restoration of command Villa is said to have ordered the imprisonment of men who had stirred up trouble between himself and Carranza. Official dispatches to the Washington Government made no mention of this, but the agents of Gen. Carranza here are said to understand the situation thoroughly, and in some quarters the action of Villa was commended.

Before Mr. Edwards's dispatch was received the only official information of the State Department came from George C. Carothers, formerly Consular Agent at Torreon, who has lately followed Gen. Carranza and Gen. Villa from place to place as a special representative. It is understood that Mr. Carothers, who has been regarded as having confidential means of information, reported that a serious breach, which had long been expected, had come at last.

There is reason to believe that a short time ago news of a breach between the two most prominent Constitutionalist leaders would not have caused unmitigated grief in high quarters here. That was at the time when Gen. Carranza showed himself most intractable in regard to American wishes as to mediation. Since then, however, the American Government has become accustomed to the refusal of Gen. Carranza to participate in the peace conferences and is looking forward to the time when direct communications with the Constitutionalists may be resumed without embarrassment from the standing point of difference of mediation.

The Constitutionalists here, who are mostly personal supporters of Gen. Carranza, were undoubtedly much worried during the day. They found great difficulty in communicating with Constitutionalists south of the Rio Grande, and they were largely in the dark as to the course of events. They said, however, that if they could get into communication with the proper persons they might give out a statement on the subject late tonight. This statement, they said, might cover not only the supposed clash between Gen. Carranza and Gen. Villa, but the fruitless mission of Señors Zubaran, Capmann, and Cabrera to Buffalo yesterday.

Natera's Defeats Encouraged Huerta.

With things as they are at Niagara Falls, the Administration would be bitterly disappointed if Consul Edwards's information proved incorrect. The Huertistas have already become encouraged at the sharp repulse they administered to Gen. Natera's attacking force at Zacatecas, and unless Gen. Villa returned to his obedience and took command of the attacking forces, the fear would be felt that even now Gen. Huerta might turn the tide against his divided enemies and drive them toward the north.

Their encouragement of the last few days is thought to explain the efforts of the Huertista delegates at Niagara Falls to ignore the internal points at issue, over which an impasse seemed to have been reached, and proceed to a settlement of the disputes with the United States. Those disputes relate to scarcely more than the flag incident of Tampico and the holding up of an orderly with a mail bag for the fleet at Vera Cruz. Apparently the Huertistas still hope that, with the American differences out of the way, a brisk campaign may enable them to check the advance of the Constitutionalists.

Great interest was evident here today in a report from Mexico City that Gen. Huerta had already summoned Congress in extraordinary session. In some quarters the hopeful suggestion was made that it might be to receive some plan of pacification agreed upon at Niagara Falls, but the prevailing opinion is that it will refer to the failure of the Niagara conference to reach any agreement. It is even suggested that Congress may be called to receive Gen. Huerta's resignation and to ratify the installation of his successor, who would be expected to carry on the war against the Constitutionalists, and against the United States, if necessary.

VILLA STILL IN COMMAND.

Resignation Not Accepted—Natera Summoned to Confer with Him.

SALTILLO, June 16, via Laredo, Texas, June 17.—Gen. Villa's resignation as commander of the Constitutionalist Army of the Central Division has not been accepted, and the threatened breach with Gen. Carranza has been averted, according to a statement from the latter's headquarters late today.

TORREON, June 17.—Gen. Panfilo Natera, commander of the new Central Division, has been excused from his duties at Zacatecas to discuss the military situation with Gen. Villa. While in Torreon Gen. Natera will be the guest of Gen. Villa.

Villa today announced that so far he had been unable to send more than 500 men toward Zacatecas. The condition of the railway had been extremely bad owing to heavy rains. Villa hopes to have the rest of his forces near Zacatecas within the next few days. The artillery brigade, commanded by Gen. Felipe Angeles, today started for the scene of operations.

It was learned today that the Federal forces at Zacatecas numbered between 12,000 and 15,000 men, more reinforcements, said to have been part of the Saltillo garrison, having reached the town late last week. In addition to about 150 machine guns, the Federals have several large field pieces. Access to the city is possible for an army only through two narrow valleys, defended by redoubts and intrenchments on and near the base of three hills commanding the city.

GENERALS DEFIED CARRANZA.

Summoned to Choose Villa's Successor, They Repudiated the Chief.

LAREDO, Texas, June 17.—After Villa's resignation representatives from each of his brigades were summoned to come to Saltillo to consult with Carranza about his successor; but they had not arrived early on Tuesday, and it was reported in Saltillo that instead they sent a message signed by Villa and fourteen Generals saying that they no longer recognized Carranza as first chief of the Constitutionalist Army, but that they would continue to operate independently against Huerta, the common enemy.

"Come with us or remain away, as you choose," was said to be the purport of the message.

JAPAN AND PEACE PARLEY.

Some Persons See a Significance in Revival of Land Issue.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The renewal of the correspondence between the United States and Japan is being coupled in some quarters with the impending crisis at Niagara Falls. For several months the suggestion has been in circulation that Japan would seize as the best opportunity for pressing her contentions the time when the United States was most deeply engrossed in the Mexican situation. While Mr. Bryan has announced that the correspondence is to be renewed, it is understood that Japan, as the aggrieved party, took the initiative in reviving the issue.

On the evening of Jan. 27, when the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations was at the White House, President Wilson sketched the international situation in a way to show the close bearing on each other of the pending difficulties between the United States and the several countries, Mexico, Japan, Great Britain, Russia, and Colombia. He was then urging particularly the repeal of the tolls exemption clause of the Panama Canal act, and the inference was drawn that he thought unless Great Britain and other maritime countries were placated in regard to the canal, all these difficulties might be aggressively pressed against the United States should any one of them become complete.

The renewal of Japan's demand for settlement of the California question now seems to fit in with what the President told the Committee on Foreign Relations. It is understood that since August, when the last Japanese communication was received, the suggestion has been made and rejected that arbitration be allowed to settle the California matter.

CUERNAVACA STILL CUT OFF.

But Gen. Blanquet Says Repairs Are Going Ahead.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—Minister Blanquet's attention was drawn by newspapermen tonight to the fact that rail and telegraph communication with Cuernavaca had not yet been restored, and he was asked whether a new rebel attack on Cuernavaca was impending.

He said the situation in the State of Morelos had improved and repairs to railway and telegraph lines were proceeding.

A "PEACE OF THE AMERICAS."

Monroe Doctrine Will Set a Standard, Says Talcott Williams.

EASTON, Penn., June 17.—Talcott Williams, Director of the School of Journalism in Columbia University, spoke today at the commencement of Lafayette College on "The Real Monroe Doctrine."

"A century hence," he said, "it will be plain to all that there began in the four clauses of the Platt amendment, penned by a country lawyer of Connecticut, sitting as its Senator, for the peace of Cuba, the first international assertion that there is a 'peace of the Americas,' a common standard of public order, national credit, just courts, and public health, whose failure in any American sovereignty is an offense against the peace and sovereignty of all American nations. Within our own Union this principle was once denied by the Kentucky resolutions of 1798. It is accepted today in our Union by all. In due season the great principle laid down for Cuba will become the common international law of the hemisphere.

"But exactly as our Union could never come about save through the ratification of the States which compose it, so the foundation principle of the real Monroe Doctrine could never reach its efficient exercise, its crown, and its culmination unless the nations which it has already protected from foreign interference for near a century could share in the application of its basic and final principle, to wit, that there is a peace of the Americas, a common standard for all American nations of security, credit, justice, and sanitation for which the American peoples as a whole will in the end recognize themselves as responsible.

Solace Sails for Vera Cruz.

The hospital ship Solace, which returned recently from Vera Cruz with sick and wounded sailors left the Navy Yard yesterday for Vera Cruz. She is taking back nearly 100 sailors and marines whom she brought from the Mexican City, all practically well. She is expected to reach Vera Cruz on Sunday, and will soon return to Brooklyn, with another load of sick men.

INQUIRY FOR RESCUE WORK.

Federal Inspectors to Report on All Drownings from Ships.

The Department of Commerce, through the various boards of the United States steamboat inspection service, intends to investigate every case wherein death is reported by falling overboard from vessels. D. N. Hoover, Jr., Acting Inspector General of the Service, yesterday ordered that in all such cases of accidental drowning Inspectors should make comprehensive investigations. The inquiry is to take in the devices for saving life and the availability of such equipment and also what efforts are made to effect a rescue.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield thinks that the loss of life by falling overboard is too frequent and apparently too little is done to remedy conditions. The Secretary in a letter to the bureau says of such accidents:

"Sometimes it is a passenger, sometimes a member of the crew. I think it ought to be shown and stated in the report that the Inspector inquired into the life-saving equipment that was available and found the same adequate or the reverse, as the case may be."

RICH SPINSTER A SUICIDE.

Josephine Schwarz Takes Poison on Sunningdale Golf Links.

Miss Josephine Schwarz, 40 years old and wealthy, of 128 South Fulton Avenue, Mount Vernon, an aunt of Miss Jessie Thorpe, a crack shot of the Siwanoy Country Club, committed suicide yesterday by drinking carbolic acid on the golf links of the Sunningdale Country Club, near that place. As she was in good health and so far as known had no love affairs, her reason for ending her life is a mystery.

Miss Schwarz first visited the home of her sister, Mrs. Walter Thorpe, on Summit Avenue, and, after playing with Mrs. Thorpe's children, started out for a walk. She went direct to the golf course, where she drank the acid. When found she was unconscious. She was hurried to the hospital, where she died several hours late.

LAWYER HELD FOR THEFT.

Milton T. Loebel Alleged to Have Wrongly Cashed Check.

Milton T. Loebel, 29 years old, a lawyer, of 17 East Ninety-seventh Street, was held in $1,000 bail yesterday by Magistrate Herbert charged with the theft of $600.

The complaint was George H. Creegan, of 601 West 136th Street, who alleged that on Oct. 6, 1911 Creegan, acting as trustee for the stockholders of the Lovejoy Company of 446 Pearl Street, issued a check on the National Nassau Bank to Mrs. William Granbart, of 1,614 King's Highway, Brooklyn, and gave it to Loebel who was her attorney. The check never reached her, but it was indorsed with her name and cashed, it is charged, by Loebel.

BRYAN HECTORED OVER HIS TREATIES

"Regret" Clause in Colombian Compact a Taft Legacy, He Tells Senate Committee.

RUMOR OF A $1,000,000 FEE

Hannis Taylor, Whose Name Was Mentioned, Laughs at Reported Commission from Colombia.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Sharp opposition to the treaty with Colombia, under which the United States would pay $25,000,000 to Colombia in settlement of the Panama Canal controversy, was exhibited by members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today when Secretary Bryan appeared before the committee to urge favorable action on the convention. The treaty to establish what is held by many to be a protectorate over Nicaragua was also criticised, and Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan took the Secretary to task for the interest alleged to have been displayed by the State Department in promoting the financial operations in Nicaragua of Brown Brothers & Co. and J. & W. Seligman & Co. of New York.

In addition the Secretary of State listened to a sharp inquiry into the international connections of Charles A. Douglas, who appeared as counsel for Nicaragua in the negotiation of the treaty with that country, and who also represents the Mexican Constitutionalists. Mr. Douglas had expected the treaty with Nicaragua to be discussed at length, but almost the entire session was taken up with the Colombian treaty and Senator Smith's resolution in regard to international finance in Nicaragua.

Hostility and suspicion were so markedly exhibited by members of the committee toward the treaty with Colombia that it is probable a very thorough investigation will be made into the terms of the convention. The points of investigation will include the facts relating to the establishment of the Republic of Panama and the acquisition of the Canal Zone by the United States, the maintenance of alleged press bureaus in the United States to mold public opinion favorably toward the proposed treaties, the uses to which the fund would be put by Colombia, if paid, and what fees, if any, attorneys in the United States are to receive if the treaty is ratified.

There is current a report that a $1,000,000 fee will be paid to persons in the United States if the treaty is ratified. The men to get the money are said to have been working toward a settlement for a long time. Facts to support the report are lacking, but it has been circulated with such persistence that several members of the committee indicated today that they would not vote on the treaty until their suspicions had been set at rest upon this score. Akin to this report is another that a ring in Colombia has spent most of its time during the last six months in determining how the funds shall be divided if the treaty is ratified.

Secretary Bryan told the committee that ratification of the treaty would restore good feeling between the United States and Colombia, and between Colombia and the Republic of Panama, and would regain for this country much of its lost prestige in South America.

Regarding that part of the treaty in which the United States declares its "sincere regret" that anything should have occurred to disrupt the friendly relations between the two countries, Secretary Bryan told the committee that this was a heritage from the Taft Administration. This statement did not meet with immediate acceptance, and Secretary Bryan then asserted that there was on file in the State Department a note prepared by the then Minister Dubois in which occurred the same expression of regret which has been employed in the treaty. The Dubois note probably will be laid before the committee.

Boas Long Under Discussion.

There was a brief colloquy in the committee today between Senator Smith and Secretary Bryan respecting the appointment of Boas Long, Chief of the Division of Latin-American Affairs, as Minister to Salvador. Senator Smith had learned from Mr. Long that he was very friendly with John Gray, attorney for Minor Keith, chief factor in the United Fruit Company. Senator Smith indicated in his dialogue with Secretary Bryan that he thought that to the United Fruit Company was being given considerable leeway in Central American affairs. Secretary Bryan replied that he had heard the United Fruit Company had some interest in Central America.

After Mr. Bryan's departure the committee ordered the treaty with Colombia to be sent to the Senate with the recommendation that the injunction of secrecy be removed. Copies of the treaty, purporting to be accurate, have been published frequently, and it was indicated that these copies were substantially correct. The treaty probably will be made public when the Senate next goes into executive session.

The proposed treaty with Nicaragua, under which the United States would pay $3,000,000 for a monopoly of the Nicaraguan Canal route, the establishment of a naval base on the Bay of Fonseca and Big and Little Corn Islands, will be taken up in committee tomorrow. Secretary Bryan is expected to appear before the committee again to urge the adoption of this treaty.

The two conventions appear to have caused entirely different alignments in the Committee on Foreign Relations. While the Democrats have generally adopted an attitude of inquiry toward the Colombian treaty, there has been exhibited hostility to the Nicaraguan treaty on the ground that it is a return to the imperialism against which Secretary Bryan declaimed so vigorously in 1900. On the other hand, Republicans favor what they regard as a return to "dollar diplomacy" in Nicaragua, but sharply oppose what they consider the "national humiliation" involved in the treaty with Colombia.

The proposed treaty with Nicaragua, in addition to the material considerations accorded to the United States, gives this Government control over Nicaraguan finances and inhibits the declaration of war by that country without the consent of the United States. Some of the Democratic members of the committee construe the treaty to mean that the United States will undertake practically to establish a protectorate over Nicaragua.

Nothing Like $1,000,000, Says Taylor

The name of Hannis Taylor, a Washington attorney, has been mentioned in connection with the rumored $1,000,000 fee, said to be attached to the ratification of the Colombian treaty. Mr. Taylor said today that he had heard this report, but denied that so great a sum was involved in his connection with the treaty.

"Since the beginning of the present Administration I have acted as legal adviser to the Colombian Legation," said Mr. Taylor. "I have a contract with the Colombian Government, and my services have been retained in connection with the pending treaty. The contract terminates with the conclusion of the treaty. There is provided in the contract that I shall render a bill for a reasonable fee, just as an attorney would do in any other case, and that if there is a dispute about the sum, two friends shall settle it.

"It will be a reasonable fee. I have heard this ridiculous canard about a $1,000,000 fee. I have been congratulated that I am about to become rich. There is no such sum involved. Canards are started about everything. My contract is perfectly regular, and if the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs wishes to see it I shall be glad to have the members examine it."

In the present inquiry into the relation of the State Department with attorneys and others interested in Central American affairs, the most aggressive factor has been Senator Smith of Michigan. He has not been favorably impressed with the foreign policy of the Administration since its inception, and recently his critical faculties have been sharpened by the effort of the Administration to depose his friend, W. M. Palmer of Grand Rapids, Mich., from the postmastership of that city.

USED TERM 'DEEPLY REGRETS.'

What Minister Dubois Said to Colombia on Feb. 15, 1913.

The phrase "deeply regrets" occurs in a communication presented to Señor Francisco José Urrutia of Colombia by Minister Dubois on Feb. 15, 1913, and first published in THE NEW YORK TIMES on March 29, 1913. The note was written in connection with an attempt made by President Taft and Secretary of State Knox to achieve a settlement with Colombia in the last hours of their Administration. In this Mr. Dubois presented certain definite suggestions for a compromise.

In the first place Colombia was to ratify the tripartite treaty of 1909, which was known as the Knox-Arosemena Treaty, by which Panama was to agree to annually apportion $250,000 from payments by the United States to apply on the Colombian claim against the United States until $10,000,000 had been paid. Secondly, the United States was to pay to Colombia $10,000,000 for an option on the Atrato route for an interoceanic canal and was to receive the right to establish coaling stations at St. Andrews and Old Providence. In the third place the United States was to extend its good offices to adjust the dispute between Panama and Colombia, and lastly there was to be an arrangement for the arbitration of all reversionary rights to the Panama Railway.

In submitting a memorandum to Señor Urrutia concerning the terms of this suggested settlement, Mr. Dubois dealt at some length with the reversionary rights to the Panama Railway, and in this connection used the words "deeply regrets."

"Notwithstanding the fact that the United States believes that these rights passed to Panama at its secession," his memorandum said, "and notwithstanding the fact that the United States has already paid Panama for these rights, nevertheless, animated by a sincere desire to renew an old friendship, the alteration of which it deeply regrets, the United States is ready to submit to arbitration the controversy with Colombia, referring to the legal claim which she maintains she possesses to the reversionary rights in the Panama Railroad."

In reply to the proposals of Minister Dubois, Señor Urrutia asked that the United States either agree to submit all differences between the two countries to arbitration, or to make direct proposals carrying with them moral and material reparation for the secession of Panama and matters incidental thereto. Thereupon Minister Dubois withdrew his proposals and the negotiations came to nothing.

PLAN BIG OFFICE BUILDING.

Thirty-two-Story Structure to Cover American Bank Note Plot.

The intention to erect a thirty-two-story office building on the American Bank Note plot, at Trinity Place and Greenwich Street, between Rector and Cedar Streets, was announced yesterday. Within a few days a new company will be incorporated to erect the building.

Francis H. Kimball and Frederick Rossa have prepared plans for the structure, which will occupy 26,000 square feet. The building will cost $4,000,000.

All the space in the building has been rented for twenty-one years to large industrial corporations and railroads. The plot is held at $1,300,000. Herbert J. Spyr negotiated the deal.

ROOSEVELT PRAISED JUDGE.

Letter to A. G. Dayton Under Impeachment Charges Made Public.

GRAFTON, West Va., June 17.—Making public a letter written by Col. Theodore Roosevelt to his father, Judge A. G. Dayton of the United States District Court, Arthur Dayton here today outlined the defense Judge Dayton will make against the charge of Representative M. M. Neely of West Virginia in the House that he was guilty of "high crimes and misdemeanors." The letter, written in New York, May 29, 1914, just before Col. Roosevelt sailed for Europe, follows:

> My Dear Judge Dayton: It is a matter of the simplest justice to you to say that I appointed you wholly without solicitation, because as a Congressman I had learned to respect and admire you. At that time I had directed that an investigation of Judge Jackson's conduct be made by the Department of Justice.
>
> Whenever I disagreed with you in any given course I could always count upon your action with really lofty disinterestedness of purpose and a desire to follow the dictates of your own conscience.
>
> You had nothing whatever to do with the Jackson case, and I was not aware that you even knew I had taken action.
>
> THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Mr. Dayton said he had filed with the House Committee affidavits form every man mentioned in the impeachment charges and that part of the court record would be submitted in the defense.

ROOSEVELT OUT OF FALL CAMPAIGN

he would not go into the campaign next Fall.

"I do not care to make any comment," said Mr. Perkins. "Col. Roosevelt will be back in this country in ten days and can then speak for himself."

Mr. Perkins would not say whether the Colonel's apparent determination to stay out of the campaign would change the plan of the Progressives in this State for "going it alone."

Francis W. Bird, Chairman of the Progressive County Committee, said:

"This is bad news. But it will not change our plans. We will run a straight ticket. If the Colonel cannot run we will nominate somebody else for Governor. It might not hurt the Progressive Party a bit to stand on its own feet and not depend entirely on the Colonel."

Mr. Bird said that no action would be taken until after the Colonel's return to this country.

Theodore Douglas Robinson, nephew of Col. Roosevelt and Chairman of the Progressive State Committee, could not be reached last night at his home.

Oddly enough, a leading Republican in this State, a few days after the Colonel's departure, predicted that the Colonel while abroad probably would consult a physician and find that something was the matter with him which would make it necessary for him to stay out of the campaign.

CONTRADICTS CRITIC OF CARNEGIE'S WORK

Clyde Furst, Secretary of Foundation, Says Churchill's Charges Are Untrue.

DENIES HOSTILITY TO SECTS

Restrictions Regarding Pensions to Teachers Imposed for Administrative Expediency.

Andrew Carnegie, who is in Europe, is expected by his associates in his civic activities to reply to the charges made by Thomas W. Churchill, President of the Board of Education, on Tuesday night. Mr. Churchill characterized the work of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as an attempt to standardize the college educational systems of the country to the detriment of individual merit; a striving for abstract scholarship rather than humanized ideals of service. He asserted the Foundation made a general attack on denominational control of the colleges in a way that resembled bribery to induce colleges to abandon religion. The criticism made at the commencement exercises of Manhattan College in Carnegie Hall was directed especially to the Carnegie system for pensioning retiring teachers.

Clyde Furst, Secretary of the Foundation, said that the conclusions of Mr. Churchill were based on an erroneous idea of the purposes and principles of the organization. All sectarian institutions were treated alike, he said, and any one with even a slight acquaintance with Mr. Carnegie must be aware of his deep religious convictions and his broad sympathy for all true religious bodies irrespective of doctrine or form. He continued:

"The only reason for the provision in the act of incorporation of the Foundation to the effect that retiring pensions shall be paid only to teachers in institutions not under the control of a sect, nor imposing any theological test as a condition of connection therewith, is administrative expediency. If a college were owned and controlled by another organization it would be very difficult, if not impossible, to deal with that college alone. A foundation like this, for instance, cannot deal with a national organization like the Catholic Church.

"The charge that the Carnegie Foundation has ever objected to denominational colleges as such is not true. It has most cordial relations with denominational institutions, such as the University of Chicago, which is Baptist, and the Catholic University of America in Washington. In the case of the University of Chicago, we cannot provide pensions for its teaching staff for the particular reason that a majority of its board of trustees, six members, I believe, must be chosen from the Baptist denomination.

"Whenever we are requested, or opportunity offers for us to aid in any way, we gladly co-operate with all good educational efforts, whether denominational or not. We have been doing this right along, and are now assisting sectarian institutions to improve their methods of instruction whenever our advice and aid are sought or accepted. In this way we have helped to develop their own resources along the lines of more efficient educational methods and practical economic administration of such institutions."

Chose Ten Institutions.

Recently the foundation was asked to make an investigation, and choose the best of the twenty-eight educational institutions affiliated with or controlled by the Church of the Disciples of Christ—colleges and universities in the South and West principally.

"We made the investigation and recommended that ten of the twenty-eight institutions were worthy of being helped and continued," said Secretary Furst. "The denomination, which intends to apply $3,500,000 to its educational field, thereupon announced that it would give $3,000,000 to the ten colleges and universities, and only $500,000 to the remaining eighteen institutions. Yes, this practically means that the other eighteen institutions must show by their own efforts the need for their existence or go out of business for lack of support.

"To only one of the educational institutions affiliated with this denomination does the foundation provide pensions. That is Drake University, which is under secular control. Its other colleges and universities include Hiram College, where President Garfield was graduated; Bethany College at Lindsberg, Ky., and Transylvania University at Lexington, Ky. Then we were asked to revise the educational methods. We did this, and the qualifications and systems recommended by us are now being put into effect.

"The object of the foundation is to improve educational facilities. We are working for the special benefit of the pupil, not to keep alive useless or unnecessary institutions."

Mr. Furst said that, contrary to the statement of Mr. Churchill, Mr. Carnegie was interested in religious work so deeply that he had made special contributions toward the cost, in part or in full, of some 6,000 organs for churches throughout the country.

"There have been no gifts to denominational institutions which approach those of Mr. Carnegie," he asserted. "He has given over $20,000,000 to such institutions in this country, including college buildings and libraries. His Church Peace Foundation of $2,000,000 included all denominations, the Roman Catholic being represented by Cardinal Gibbons, and he has frequently given organs to Roman Catholic churches."

Mr. Furst said it was absurd to charge the Foundation with striving for abstract scholarship. The absurdity of it was shown, he contended, by the criticism of the Foundation because it opposed such scholarships in Vermont and insisted on the need there of vocational training. The latest bulletin of the Foundation was a study of educational problems in Vermont prepared at the request of the State Educational Commission appointed by the Legislature, he said. In this the rural community problem was recognized and the report recommended the reorganization of elementary and secondary education.

Operation of Pension System.

"The Foundation has no way of enforcing its will except by disseminating information, nor has it any desire to have educational institutions conform themselves to a common pattern.

"As for the pensions to retired professors, our aim is to be simply an object lesson in the pension system. Any college that wants to can start its own pension system, at a cost of something like a building or two, and we will gladly help it to make the plans. We have taken much trouble to help colleges and universities to found their own pension systems, Brown University being a recent example. The new pension system of the Protestant Episcopal Church was planned in our office, and the Church Pension Fund has taken over one of our men to manage it.

"Criticism like Mr. Churchill's is very far from being representative. All of the national bodies representative in education are feeling the usefulness of the Foundation. The study of medical education was carried on in co-operation with the American Medical Association. A similar study of legal education is being carried on at the request of the American Bar Association, and a study of the engineering education at the request of the committees representing the national engineering societies."

It was recalled at the interview that Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, President of the Foundation, and Abraham Flexner, who did special work for it, were among those who signed a petition to Mayor Kline requesting him to refuse the reappointment of Mr. Churchill to the Board of Education.

TAKES KINGSBURY TO TASK.

Rev. Father Farrell Defies Charities Commissioner to Sue Him.

The Rev. Father Farrell of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul of Brooklyn has issued a reply to Commissioner Kingsbury of the Department of Charities, taking the Commissioner to task for statements made in answer to the priest's charge that he had misrepresented conditions in the public hospitals.

"It must be remembered," says the priest's statement, "that I said nothing about him or his department until after, by continued publication, he had alarmed the whole town about the evil conditions in his hospitals and had so filled the poor with dread that many feared to go to them.

"I deprecated his course in this matter, for I saw the harm he was doing and heard in many places of the bad name he was giving his department and the city. I had practical knowledge also of his rejection of cases the private hospitals had actually treated on the most trivial pretexts, and his willingness to broadly condemn the hospitals as a whole on exceptional and individual incidents.

"The Commissioner has not replied to my suggestions, but, instead, has accused me of making 'false and misleading statements.' He is wrathful and injured and boastful, all in turn, and felicitates himself, for instance, as he announced for weeks he had given 'not only a careful study of bed capacity,' with a view of making a 'definite standard of floor and cubic air space' to prevent overcrowding. He ought to know that the State Board of Charities did this years ago, and its standards are regularly enforced in all the private hospitals. He can save his time and that of the city employes by conforming to the law as it is."

Details are given in support of the priest's statement that the recent visit of city officials to Blackwell's Island at midnight was a "theatrical performance." He also tells why, in his view, it is impossible for the hospitals to go to the Commissioner individually to complain about the rejection of their bills, and ends by defying the Commissioner to bring a suit for libel.

MISS WILSON AS ORATOR.

Urges Use of Schools for District Discussion by Voters.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, was the principal speaker at the closing session tonight of the National Federation of Women's Clubs.

The President's daughter, who was enthusiastically received by an enormous audience, completely filling the Auditorium, urged the use of school houses as local forums for votes.

"How much does the average voter discuss the questions he decides at elections?" she said. "He reads the newspaper each morning and from it he gets his information and oftentimes gets a narrow view or prejudice. Shortly before election he goes to a few partisan meetings. At these meetings are read the programmes which have been arranged privately by private parties. Then he discusses the question with a few of his friends. But he has already decided as to how he is going to vote. He then goes to some dignified place, oftentimes a back room of a saloon, and registers his vote.

"Is it not strange that we should neglect the great question of common counsel which we know in our own minds is absolutely essential? Our forefathers realized the necessity of common counsel and met in town halls, school buildings, and various other neighborhood places, where they discussed questions of national and of local interest. We have fallen away from that habit, however. We have been so absorbed in our own private business that we have forgotten the great public question of government.

"We must have our council chambers. Every school district in this country has a Capitol if we only knew it. They are the school buildings themselves. Here we must organize in neighborhood units and meet regularly in these Capitols of ours. We must meet as neighborhood units and not as exclusive partisan organizations, and there should be no limit to the membership in these organizations, except the limit of the neighborhood."

During the day $20,000 in comparatively small sums from various States was given to the General Federation, thus completing its endowment fund of $700,000.

STATE DEMOCRATS TO CONFER TODAY

Chairman Osborn Looks for "Highly Inflammatory Speechmaking."

MURPHY IS STORM CENTRE

Wilson-Mitchel Men Write That the "Taint of Tammany Hall" Will Kill Any Candidate.

An "order of exercises," but no fixed programme, according to William Church Osborn, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, has been arranged for the Democratic State conference which will be called to order at the Hotel Knickerbocker at noon today, and which is scheduled to continue throughout today and tomorrow. Mr. Osborn said last night that in addition to this Democratic absence of cut-and-dried procedure there would be absolute and uncurtailed freedom of speech.

"We will have a good old-fashioned Democratic time, and I cheerfully look forward to a whole lot of highly inflammatory speechmaking," Mr. Osborn added.

The State Committee, presumably controlled by Charles F. Murphy; the State Executive Committee, which has few Tammany adherents on it, and the Democratic County Chairmen who less than a year ago while Gov. Sulzer's going was good, showed a clear majority for him against the "organization," but who at present are of uncertain affiliation, will participate in the gathering today. Owing to the divergent political trend so pronounced in two of the constitutent bodies, some Democratic leaders on the eve of the meeting freely confessed that they were worrying and wondering whether it would go down in party history as a conference or as a collision.

Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy came to town yesterday morning from his country place at Good Ground, L. I. According to one of his close friends, he had paid so little attention to the forthcoming conference that he believed it was scheduled for yesterday. Mr. Murphy said nothing to discourage the construction that had been placed on his arrival in the city yesterday. On the other hand, he deprecated suggestions that his early coming was due to a desire to talk the situation over with Committeemen from up State prior to the conference.

Mr. Murphy will have a seat and a voice in the conference as a member of the State Committee. He is not likely to make any contribution to the "inflammatory speechmaking" to which Mr. Osborn made hopeful reference. Mr. Murphy said he would use his seat but not his voice, as if to convey the impression that he would not endeavor in any way to make his influence felt at today's gathering.

Osborn Against Convention.

The principal question before the conference, Mr. Osborn said, would be whether the Democrats should follow the Republicans and hold an unofficial convention for the purpose of promulgating a party platform, and possibly recommend fifteen candidates for delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention. Mr. Osborn himself is opposed to the unofficial convention, and said he would fight the proposition from the time it was broached to the conference. William F. McCombs, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Acting Lieut. Gov. Robert F. Wagner are taking the same view. Among the up-State members of the State Committee there is division on the question. Mr. Murphy, it is understood, has directed his adherents to preserve neutrality in this fight and to vote with the majority.

It was said yesterday that ample warning had been served on Mr. Murphy that any aggressive move on the part of his adherents to unduly assert themselves would tend to inject into the deliberations the anti-Murphy issue which all the leaders who must shoulder the responsibilities of the coming campaign are anxious to avoid in the interest of harmony.

Rumblings of the storm were heard last night when the Jeffersonian Alliance, composed entirely of Democrats who are pro-Wilson and anti-Murphy, sent a circular letter to the members of the Democratic State Executive Committee. In this communication, which was signed by Bert Hanson as Chairman of the Central City Committee, the anti-Tammany war whoop was sounded very plainly, and the members were called upon to assist the Democrats in this State in electing "candidates of the kind they desire."

Hot Shot for Tammany.

"This is not the time for phrases that please or words that soothe; but it is the time for action that is at once courageous and effective," the letter said. "The Democrats of this State will receive with resentment daintily drafted pronunciamentos, filled with unctuous generalities, but barren of aught that tends to remedy the party evils complained of.

"The Democrats of this State are determined that the control of their party by Tammany Hall shall end, and they are prepared to act so that this determination shall be made effective. Unless, therefore, our party is to be foreclosed of success at the outset, there must be nominated this Fall candidates for State office whose names will emphatically carry an unmistakable conviction to the public that, if elected, they will not be subservient to or dominated by Tammany Hall.

"The taint of Tammany Hall will be fatal to the prospects of any candidate nominated for State office this Fall. It is useless to discuss whether or not this public sentiment is right or wrong. It exists, and, if we hope to be successful, we must recognize it.

"Not again will conspicuously respectable nonentities, eminent obscurities, or 'independent Democrats,' who are covertly aligned with Tammany Hall, deceive the public.

"If we are to succeed, men must be nominated whose careers have demonstrated not only their fitness and capacity for public office, but also their devotion to Democratic ideals and principles and their opposition to Tammany Hall.

"The Democratic organization in this State neither supports nor is in harmony with Democratic practices and principles as exemplified at Washington. It should be. But so long as Tammany Hall dominates the State organization the accomplishment of such a reformation is a task that appeals only to visionaries and dreamers.

"The President in the Nation and the Mayor in the City of New York typify that Democracy which the people desire and will support. The great work before you is to bring about the election of Democratic State officials who will work with the Mayor and the President."

Plan for Three Tickets.

Should the conference go on record as against an unofficial convention, the problem will be to determine how a platform is to be drafted and what attitude the party shall assume in the primaries.

Mr. Osborn is of the opinion that, while the primaries should be as wide open as the spirit of direct primaries demands, there must be some control exercised, with a view of providing for the necessary geographical balance of the State ticket. The situation in this respect is rendered more complex by the certainty that, with the Tammany organization and the Democratic organization in Kings County as closely allied as they are at present, Tammany automatically would control the primaries and be in a position to grab every place on the State ticket or dictate every nomination, because the two organizations together surely would bring out the necessary plurality to nominate for all offices.

Mr. Osborn, as a way out of this difficulty, believes that if three primary tickets could be placed in the field—one by the State Committee, which of necessity would bear the organization brand; another by the State Executive Committee, which is anti-Tammany, and a third by the County Chairmen, who are supposed to be closer to the rank and file of the party than any of the other organization functionaries, every enrolled Democrat would have a fair opportunity for registering his will at the primaries in connection with the nomination of candidates for State offices.

MRS. BLATCH AT CONFERENCE.

Women Want Constitutional Convention Delegates Pledged.

Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, head of the Women's Political Union, will appear before the Democratic conference at the Hotel Knickerbocker today, as she did before the Republican conference last May, and urge that delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention next year be selected at a State convention, where they can be pledged through a platform plank in favor of woman suffrage.

A woman's committee, formed to obtain representation in the Constitutional Convention for women, has sent a letter to Chairman Osborn urging favorable consideration of their plea by the Democratic Conference. Attached to this letter was a brief through which the women sought to show that there was nothing in the Constitution or the statutes of the State to prevent the election of women delegates to the Constitutional Convention. Miss Lillian D. Wald, the settlement worker is head of the committee, and the other officers are Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid, Miss Cornelia E. Bryce, Miss Anne Rhodes, and Miss Harriet B. Lowenstein.

It was announced yesterday that Mrs. Blatch and Mrs. Norman Whitehouse, representing the woman suffragists, would appear before the Republican County Committee tonight to urge that the Republican candidates for State Senate and Assembly from New York County be pledged in favor of the Constitutional amendment to give women the ballot which will come up at next year's session.

UNKIND TO PRENDERGAST.

Bainbridge Colby Quotes Oratory Two Years Old.

At a meeting of the Bronx County Progressive Committee held last night at the McKinley Square Casino, Bainbridge Colby, one of the Progressive leaders, attacked Controller Prendergast, who, after joining hands with the Progressives, turned his allegiance again to the Republican Party. In a speech made at the Republican Club last Monday night Controller Prendergast said he was glad to be back in the Republican fold.

"Prendergast is merely traveling the beaten track of all traitors," said Mr. Colby. "Benedict Arnold's name is synonymous with treason. His reasoning, his conduct constitute a standard of betrayal. Prendergast's latest utterance shows that his course is shaped in strict conformity to this classic model of disloyalty.

"I cannot but recall the words of Mr. Prendergast at the meeting held in Orchestra Hall, Chicago, when the Progressive Party was born. Said he: 'As the Crusaders of old pledged themselves to God and country, so do we consecrate our lives to the services of that enduring democracy ordained by the Divine Power.' He advocated the Ten Commandments as the slogan of the new party. He said the nomination of the Republican President had been brought about 'by men who have no place in decent society.'

"I notice that Mr. Prendergast remarked on Monday night that it was pleasant to be 'home again' and 'by the fireside.'"

REPUBLICANS' FIRST GUN.

County Committee to Hear Congressional Campaign Speech.

When the Republican County Committee meets at the Murray Hill Lyceum tonight Representative William E. Humphrey of Washington will assail the policies of the Wilson Administration, especially the tariff, in a speech marking the opening of the Republican Congressional campaign in this State.

The County Committee will adopt rules and regulations for the unofficial primaries to elect delegates to the unofficial State Convention in Saratoga on Aug. 15. Both New York County and in Kings the unofficial primaries will be held on Aug. 6 at the headquarters of the various Republican district organizations.

ROBINSON STILL CHAIRMAN.

Has No "Immediate Intention" of Resigning, He Says.

Theodore Douglas Robinson, Chairman of the Progressive State Committee, said yesterday that he had no "immediate intention" of relinquishing his place. Common report in Progressive circles has it that Mr. Robinson surely will retire as State Chairman if Col. Roosevelt, his uncle, should be the Progressive candidate for Governor.

"I have taken it for granted that Mr. Robinson would get out if Col. Roosevelt becomes the candidate," said George W. Perkins.

FOR ROOSEVELT OR NOBODY

Maryland Bull Moose Say, Too, Allies Must Adopt Their Principles.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—A State-wide conference tonight of leading representatives of the Progressive Party, which was called to order by Gen. J. Stuart MacDonald as Chairman of the State Central Committee, and over which former Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte presided, adopted resolutions in which they declared themselves unalterably opposed to any political combination or concession which might involve any sacrifice or compromise, real or apparent, of their principles, or which failed to recognize and indorse the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt.

The resolutions pointed to the successful revolt of last Autumn against the misrule of Tammany Hall as an example to friends of good government and pure politics in Maryland, and added: "We have seen with alarm the undisguised repudiation by the party now dominant in the nation of the plain provision of its party platform."

EBERHART IS BEATEN.

Minnesota's Governor Only Republican Defeated in the Primaries.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 17.—Gov. A. O. Eberhart was the only Republican incumbent defeated in yesterday's primary, according to incomplete returns tonight. W. E. Lee apparently defeated Eberhart by 2,000 votes.

Five members of Congress who sought another nomination were successful. The two Democratic Congressional nominations were won by John L. Long, who will oppose Sidney Anderson in the First District, and H. S. Swenson.

The contest for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination is still undecided between Representative W. S. Hammond and Daniel Lawler.

Brownsville Men Indorse Sulzer.

Say Antitoxin Didn't Cause Death.

The Brooklyn Coroners announced last night that they would not investigate the death of Mrs. Catherine E. Mercer of 20 Crescent Place, East New York, who died on Monday after having been inoculated with typhoid antitoxin. The death was due to typhoid fever and not to the effects of antitoxin, the Coroners decided.

YALE CHEERS NAON AS HE GETS LL. D.

Remarkable Demonstration for A B C Envoy Whom Taft Praises to Alumni.

DEGREES CONFERRED ON 798

One Woman, President Woolley of Mt. Holyoke, Honored—Hadley Reports Great Gifts.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, June 17.—There was a remarkable demonstration at Yale University's commencement exercises today when the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on Romulo S. Naon, Minister to the United States from the Argentine Republic, and one of the A, B, C envoys. When Señor Naon stepped up to receive his parchment the cheering and applause broke out which continued for five minutes. It was one of the most striking tributes ever paid to the recipient of an honorary degree here.

The commencement exercises, the two hundred and thirteenth in the history of the institution, were held in Woolsey Hall. The university conferred 777 degrees in course and 21 honorary degrees. The commencement exercises were preceded by the procession, which formed in Vanderbilt Court, moved through the Green, and thence through College Street to Woolsey Hall, while the Trinity Church chimes on the Green and the band which headed the column played "Onward Christian Soldiers." Mr. Taft and Señor Naon walked together in the procession.

The formal commencement exercises included music conducted by Prof. Horatio Parker, dean of the Music School, and included three numbers composed by Jean Sibelius, who was among the recipients of honorary degrees.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson of New York City, a member of the Yale Corporation. Prof. Wolbur L. Cross of the Scientific School presented the candidates for honorary degrees, which were conferred by President Hadley as follows:

MASTER OF ARTS.—Edward Robinson Baldwin, '90, Medical School, assistant director of the laboratory at Saranac Lake, N. Y.; Fred Towsley Murphy, Yale, '97, Professor of Surgery at Washington University, St. Louis; Edwin Howland Blashfield, mural painter, art critic, and historian; William Herbert Corbin, Yale, '89, Tax Commissioner of Connecticut; Charles Franklin Craig, '94, Professor at Johns Hopkins University; James Hartness, President of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; Henry Hun, '74, neurologist, of Albany; Elliot Proctor Joslin, '90, physician, Boston; Oliver C. Smith, President of the Connecticut Medical Society, Hartford; William Francis Verdi, physician, New Haven; Miss Mary Emma Woolley, President of Mount Holyoke College.

DOCTOR OF MUSIC—Jean Sibelius, musical composer of Finland.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE—Edgar Fahs Smith, Provost of University of Pennsylvania; Richard Pearson Strong, '93, Harvard Medical School.

DOCTOR OF DIVINITY—Sidney Lewis Gulick, Professor of Theology, Doshisha University, Japan; Peter Ainslee, leader in the Church of the Disciples.

DOCTOR OF LAWS—John Kimberly Beach, '77, Judge of Connecticut Supreme Court; William Crawford Gorgas, Surgeon General United States Army; George Wharton Pepper, lawyer, Philadelphia; Romulo S. Naon, Minister from Argentine Republic to the United States, and a mediator on Mexican affairs.

The degrees in course were divided as follows: Bachelors of Arts, 286; Bachelors of Philosophy, 313; Bachelors of Law, 29; Bachelors of Divinity, 27; Masters of Arts, 30; Masters of Forestry, 24; Doctors of Philosophy, 32; Mechanical Engineers and Doctors of Medicine, 8 each; Bachelors of Music, Bachelors of Civil Law, Civil Engineers, and Doctors of Law, 2 each; Engineers of Mines, 4; Masters of Laws, 6; Bachelor of Fine Arts and Electrical Engineer, 1 each—the last-mentioned degree being conferred for the first time.

After the commencement exercises the alumni dinner was held in the dining hall. Señor Naon made a speech in which he said that he believed that the friendship between the United States and his country would grow with the years.

Ex-President William H. Taft in his speech referred to the high intellectual attainments of Señor Naon, and in speaking of the latter's mediation efforts said:

"The result is doubtful, but nevertheless the step taken by Naon and his associates cannot but help make the feeling of amity between his land and ours stronger than ever before."

Mr. Taft had a little fun at the expense of his successor in office in Washington. In speaking of the needs of Yale University and the contributions made to it in the past year he said:

"In spite of the psychology of the present Administration and the reported hard time in the land, the contributions to the university were most gratifying."

Mr. Taft urged the alumni to help in the development of the law school.

President Hadley, who presided at the dinner, announced that pledges received by the university in the past year amounted to $2,124,000, and he also reported gifts and bequests of $682,530. His report showed that the reunion classes have given $57,000 to the alumni fund in the year. The largest class gift was from 1874, which gave $16,400.

Speeches also were made by George Wharton Pepper and the Rev. Dr. Gulick.

BUENOS AIRES, June 17.—The Argentinian newspapers today express satisfaction at the honor conferred by Yale University on Dr. Remulo S. Naon.

CORNELL BEATS ITS RECORD

Confers Commencement Degrees on 812—Schurman Lauds Athletes.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, June 17.—The largest class in the history of Cornell University was graduated today at the forty-sixth commencement. In all, 812 degrees were conferred by President Schurman at the exercises, which were held in the natural amphitheatre back of the library. Of this number, 727 were first degrees and 85 advanced degrees. Counting the degrees conferred at the Cornell Medical School and those granted during the year the University has presented 923 diplomas since last June.

The commencement exercises were marked by the absence for the first time in many years of ex-President Andrew D. White, who was confined to his house by illness. Henry B. Lord, a banker of this city and a nonagenarian member of the Board of Trustees, was lifted to the platform, however, and the entire audience paid him a silent salute by standing until he had been given his seat.

In his address President Schurman defined certain essentials of success. His tribute to the prowess of the 'Varsity athletic teams was applauded.

A new system of administration for the University's business was adopted today by the trustees. The office of Controller was created and was filled by the appointment of Emmons L. Williams, the present Treasurer. He will be responsible to three committees—those on general administration, finances, and buildings and grounds. These three bodies will exercise the powers hitherto held by the Executive Committee of the board.

At the meeting of the trustees it was announced that a bequest of $2,300 had been received from the estate of Miss Florence E. Dearstyne for the benefit of needy women students. J. G. White of New York has established three $100 prizes for proficiency in the Spanish languages and literature. Ira N. Place, Chairman of the Cornellian Council reported a gift of $20,000 by that body. Charles Lathrop Pack of Lakewood, N. J., has given $500 for the forestry school.

The Trustees announced the appointment of Prof. Ralph Sheldon Hosmer, head of the forestry department of the Hawaiian Islands as head of the forestry college to succeed Prof. Walter Mulford resigned. Prof. Ralph Rollins Adams of the University of Nebraska was appointed head of the plant industry department and Prof. A. B. Faust head of the German department.

It was learned today that a gift of $75,000 will be made to the athletic association by relatives of Henry Schoellkopf of Milwaukee, a former famous Cornell athlete who died two years ago. Friends of Schoellkopf among the Cornell alumni several months ago raised a fund of $100,000 which built a memorial club house in his honor on the new athletic field and it is reported that the gift of his family will pave the way for the beginning of the construction of a stadium.

WESLEYAN GRADUATES 92.

Dr. Shanklin Hands Diplomas to College's Largest Class.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 17.—Degrees were conferred by President William A. Shanklin today upon the largest class which has gone out of Wesleyan University, fifty-seven members receiving that of bachelor of arts and thirty-five that of bachelor of science. The Rich prize was awarded to Ralph Gordon Sickles of Indianapolis, Ind.

The members of the graduating class pledged themselves to pay $5 a year each for ten years to make up a fund of $5,000 which is to be presented to Wesleyan at the tenth reunion of the class. The gift will be in the form of an endowment insurance policy.

Honorary degrees were conferred as follows:

Master of Arts.—Gaylord W. Douglass, 1900, of Wilbraham Academy; Lyon Levi Norton, '90, of Mount Hermon School; Frank D. Haines, State Attorney, Middletown.

Doctor of Divinity.—The Rev. John W. Langdale, '03, Cincinnati; the Rev. Leon K. Willman, '97, of Asbury Park, N. J.

Doctor of Humane Letters.—Prof. Stockton Axson, '90, of Wright Institute, Houston, Texas.

Doctor of Laws.—The Rev. George P. Mains, '70, of New York City.

Doctor of Science.—Prof. Walter P. Bradley of Wesleyan.

GET DEGREES FROM BROWN.

GOV. WALSH GIVES DEGREES

Hands Diplomas to 97 Graduates of Holy Cross College.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 17.—A class of ninety-seven received diplomas at the Holy Cross College commencement today. Gov. David I. Walsh, an alumnus of the class of '93, distributed the diplomas.

The honorary degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon Dr. Thomas Farrell of Boston, the Rev. John H. Corrigan of Norwood, Brother Benjamin of the Xavarian Brotherhood in Danvers, Brother Henry of the Xavarian Brotherhood in Worcester, Thomas E. McDermott of New York, Dr. James H. Quinn of Springfield, and Dr. Michael J. Lawlor of Waterbury, Conn.

ENVOY WARNS GRADUATES.

Jusserand at U. of P. Tells Where Peril Lies.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—A message from France was today delivered to the graduating class at the one hundred and fifty-eighth commencement of the University of Pennsylvania by Jean J. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, who was the orator of the day. He told what France had done in the field of education, asserting that she ever had displayed a longing to learn and an aptitude to teach.

Ambassador Jusserand warned the graduating class that "exaggeration, lack of proportion, frivolous vaporings, sensationalism are a poison and a danger."

"Make it a rule," he said, "never to use a big word for a meager occasion; else, when there is a big occasion, you will not know what to say."

Degrees in course were conferred upon 707. No honorary degrees were conferred.

Gives Degree to Bainbridge Colby.

MOORES HILL, Ind., June 17.—At the commencement exercises today of Moores Hill College addresses were made by Gov. Ralston of Indiana and the Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill of New York, President of the International Peace Forum. Among the honorary degrees conferred was that of Doctor of Laws upon Bainbridge Colby of New York.

M. F. PLANT MARRIES MRS. S. B. MANWARING

Capitalist Weds Divorcee at Branford House, His Summer Home at Groton.

$8,000,000 BRIDAL GIFT?

Commodore Said He Would Marry on Aug. 18, His 62d Birthday —Bride Is 31.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 17.—Commodore Morton F. Plant and Mrs. M. C. Manwaring, recently divorced from Selden B. Manwaring, proprietor of the Oswegatchie Hotel, Waterford, were married at Branford House, Eastern Point Colony, Mr. Plant's palatial Summer residence at the mouth of this harbor, at noon today.

Justice of the Peace Benjamin H. Hewitt, an attorney, performed the ceremony in the drawing room with only immediate relatives and servants present. The Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James's Episcopal Church, was present at the ceremony. He says he happened to visit Branford House this afternoon upon invitation and was among the witnesses of the wedding.

After the ceremony Commodore Plant and his bride motored to New London and watched the Eastern Association baseball game, Mr. Plant being backer of the local team. The couple returned to Branford House. It is not yet known whether they will go along the New England coast in Mr. Plant's power yacht, Thelma, as originally planned, for the honeymoon.

It is reported that Mr. Plant gave his bride a present of $8,000,000.

Announcement of the engagement of Morton F. Plant and Mrs. Selden B. Manwaring was made the last of May. At that time Mr. Plant said that their marriage would take place in August. It was reported later that they would be married on Aug. 18, on Mr. Plant's sixty-second birthday.

Mr. Plant is worth many millions and has a magnificent country seat, Branford House, at Eastern Point, Groton, Conn. His New York home is at 2 East Fifty-second Street, and he has an office at 72 Broadway. He has done much for New London, Conn., in the last ten years, in building fine roads, churches, and hotels, and extending trolley lines. He is now building a five-story office block in New London, which also will house The New London Telegraph, which he has bought.

His first wife was Miss Nellie Capron of Baltimore, Md., whom he married in 1888. She died of typhoid fever in August, 1913. He has a seventeen-year-old son, Henry Bradley Plant.

Mrs. Manwaring is 31 years old, and obtained a divorce from Selden B. Manwaring last March at Hartford, Conn. She had been living there with her mother, Mrs. Rowena Caldwell, since her divorce. She received the custody of her twelve-year-old son, Philip Morgan Manwaring.

BLAMES WEALTH DIVISION.

Cause of Labor's Discontent, Vice President Marshall Says.

Special to The New York Times.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 18.—Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, who was graduated from Wabash College in 1876, delivered the commencement address there today, and in discussing labor troubles declared the present discontent was due to the present division of wealth.

"Slight knowledge will not enable the young man to assume the management of life's affairs," he said. "In the irrepressible conflict between labor and capital, he cannot assume that either property or labor is everything without tending to establish a peon class in America or an oligarchy of wealth. Complete knowledge may convince him that it will be better for the Republic to be controlled by neither of these classes.

"In 1850 we had a Republic where labor was satisfied, where respect for religion and reverence for law and order and a sincere attachment to the Constitution were strong. In that year the proportion of annual wealth created in the country by the joint efforts of labor and capital was one-fourth to labor and three-fourths to capital. Now the proportion has changed to less than one-fifth to labor and more than four-fifths to capital. This disproportion, to my mind, has much to do with our present discontent."

Honorary Degree for McAneny.

George McAneny, President of the Board of Aldermen, left yesterday for Geneva, N. Y., to attend Hobart College commencement. Mr. McAneny is to deliver the Phi Beta Kappa address this morning and the Degree of Doctor of Laws is to be conferred upon him. Mr. McAneny will go from Geneva to his Summer home at Lake George, and will not return to the city until next Tuesday.

BEVERIDGE SCORES WILSON.

Says Business Men Have Right to Express Views on Legislation.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17.—Albert J. Beveridge, candidate for United States Senator, in a ringing speech which was enthusiastically received at the Ninth District Progressive conference tonight, denounced the Administration's recent attack on business men who have written letters discussing business conditions and Administration policies.

"Secret letters marked at the top 'Not for publication' were sent out from New York by the hundreds of thousands to men all over the country whom the canal tolls repeal conspirators thought would be influential," he said. "These letters made false statements. They were sent broadcast from New York to back up the Administration in breaking its platform pledge to the people. Yet not one word of condemnation did the Administration utter.

"But when an American wholesale house dares to express its opinion, that business house is not only rebuked by the Administration but the Administration tries to break down the business reputation of that wholesale firm.

"It is not the open public expression of business men that the country has to fear; it is the secret, hidden, corrupt methods of certain cunning big interests that constitute the real danger. The more our business men openly, over their signatures, give their views upon the country's business legislation, the better it will be."

SCANLON'S TRIAL STARTS.

Expedite Case Against Man Charged with Attacking Mrs. Ellert.

Following James Hefferman's conviction on Tuesday of having attacked Mrs. Clara Ellert in Joseph Cassidy's Democratic Club in Long Island City last December, the trial of Harry Scanlon, jointly indicted with him, was begun yesterday before Justice Scudder in the Queens County Supreme Court. Justice Scudder said he intended to complete the trial yesterday if it took until midnight.

Mrs. Ellert retold her story this time with more details since on the first trial she was allowed to tell only of the things which related to Hefferman. She was put through a cross-examination for two hours, but it only served to strengthen her story.

Scanlon was accompanied to court by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Scanlon, and his two sisters. Mrs. Alfred J. Eno and other members of the Woman's Suffrage Party of Queens, who had done much to bring the case to trial after District Attorney Matthew J. Smith of Queens had refused to prosecute it, were with Mrs. Ellert.

JAIL FOR THEATRE OWNER.

Cassman Convicted Twice of Overcrowding Moving Picture House.

Louis Cassman of 129 Rivington Street was sentenced to twenty days in the Tombs and to pay a fine of $100 yesterday in Special Sessions on complaint of James T. Horan, a fireman, who charged that Cassman had admitted to his moving picture theatre at 134 Essex Street more than twice the number of persons allowed under his license. Horan said that he found 416 persons in the theatre. In the balcony there were 139 spectators where there should have been only 22.

The fireman testified that he asked Cassman to reduce the audience, but that the theatre manager failed to do so. Cassman had been convicted previously of the same offense, so the Justices imposed a jail sentence in addition to the fine.

POSS WINS DIVORCE SUIT.

Wife's Counter Charges Not Sustained by Jury.

The jury which has been hearing testimony in the suit and counter suit for absolute divorce brought in the Supreme Court by Frank R. Poss, manufacturer of automobile supplies, and Mrs. Lillian K. Poss, returned a sealed verdict yesterday favoring Mr. Poss, both in his suit and in his wife's counter suit. The verdict was that Mrs. Poss had been indiscreet on two of the five occasions cited by her husband, and that Mr. Poss had acted improperly on none of the eight occasions mentioned by his wife.

When the verdict was announced George Gordon Battle, Mrs. Poss's attorney, said he would appeal. Abraham Levy, attorney for Mr. Poss, complimented the jury.

"The result convinced me," he said, "that the present-day jury is not susceptible to sentiment and gush. Neither is it influenced by theatrical claptrap and Belasco-like staging of a law suit."

Agnostic Waits 29 Years for Degree.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 17.—Suspended twenty-nine years ago because he was an agnostic and would not attend chapel, Foster North of the Class '85 received his degree of Bachelor of Science from the University of Illinois today. President Edmund J. James of the university came upon the papers in North's old and forgotten case a short time ago. It was at his urging that North, who wished merely to be forgotten, came here today to receive the long withheld degree.

cabin passengers, 188 in the second cabin, and 700 in the third, with a crew of 640.

The passengers include Bishop Herman J. Alerding of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Dr. William H. Hennings, J. M. Acermann, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bancroft, James D. Brown, A. G. Eames, George Ehret, Jr., Raymond D. Fosdick, J. S. Goodall, Jay C. Hills, Frederic C. Johnson, William A. Kauffmann, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Brien, H. P. Ramsdall, Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Shell, David Slade, B. J. MacTammany, Charles Wild, Prof. Stanislaw Werkowski, Mrs. Louise B. Wright, Mrs. Charles L. Scullin, and Miss Florence Wade of St. Louis; William M. Clement, Mrs. A. H. Walker, Dr. Joseph Fraenkel, Mrs. Beverly MacMonagel, and Miss Elizabeth Gilbert of San Francisco; Robert Batcheller of Washington, and Mrs. Alvin W. Krech and family and Miss Doolittle of Utica, N. Y.

A message to Lloyd's from Southampton describes the damage suffered by the Kaiser Wilhelm II. as "serious."

The fog was general off the southern coast today and the steamer Copsewood of Middlesboro, from Grimsby for Newport, which arrived tonight at Cowes, reported that she had been in collision with the German steamer Etruria, from New Orleans for Hamburg. The Copsewood suffered damage on the port quarter.

CHERBOURG, June 17.—Eighty passengers for the Kaiser Wilhelm II., which was due to touch at Cherbourg, arrived here tonight and then learned of the accident.

They found accommodations at various hotels.

The Kaiser Wilhelm II. was launched in August, 1902, and was the third of the express steamers built by the North German Lloyd Company, following the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the Kronprinz Wilhelm. She is 706 feet 6 inches long and has a 72-foot beam, and is of 19,500 gross tonnage. She has a speed of 23½ knots, and for a long period held the blue ribbon of the Atlantic. She is still one of the most popular of the fast German liners.

Her first accident was in July, 1907, at Bremen, where she heeled over on her side while coaling through the sudden falling of the tide, it was said. In the same year she was in collision off Cherbourg in a fog with the Royal Mail Steam Packet steamer Orinoco.

In February, 1909, the Kaiser Wilhelm II. went aground in the Gedney Channel in a fog through trying to avoid a collision with the Hamburg-American steamer Prinz August Wilhelm, it was stated.

MARRIED TO SAVE HIS LIFE.

Wife, Suing for Divorce, Says Fiance Threatened to Die for Love.

Vice Chancellor Vivian M. Lewis heard testimony in Jersey City yesterday in the suit of Mrs. Florence Van Buskirk against her husband, Charles J. Van Buskirk, a Wall Street broker, who lives in Hackensack. Mrs. Van Buskirk names as co-respondent Mrs. M. Fritchy, wife of a merchant living in Hackensack. Van Buskirk has filed a cross bill for absolute divorce, naming Franklin F. Briggs, a Hackensack undertaker, as co-respondent.

Mrs. Van Buskirk testified yesterday that she married Van Buskirk on Jan. 3, 1901, at the earnest solicitation of his family, after he had threatened to kill himself if she did not become his wife.

"I did not want him to commit suicide," she said, "so I married him."

It was in November, 1913, Mrs. Van Buskirk alleged, that she learned of Van Buskirk's affection for Mrs. Fritchy.

She had, at her husband's command, invited Mrs. Fritchy to visit her for a week. Mrs. Van Buskirk alleged that one night she saw her husband kiss Mrs. Fritchy, who met him at the door with the greeting: "Well, Tubby, dear, is 'oo hungry? If 'oo is, I'll make 'oo some bouillon."

After that Mrs. Van Buskirk hired detectives to watch her husband, and obtained the evidence upon which she based her application for a divorce. The climax came, she said, on Dec. 5, when she and her mother and a detective caught Van Buskirk in Mrs. Fritchy's room, and to her assertion, "This is evidence for a divorce," Van Buskirk, she alleged, replied: "Well, Florence, you have got me. I guess we will have to go our own ways hereafter."

The case will be continued.

Deathbed Wife Shares Davis Estate.

Vice Chancellor Lewis announced in Jersey City yesterday that he is prepared to sign a final decree disposing of the $800,000 estate of Robert Davis, Democratic boss in Hudson County, who died in 1911. The estate will be divided into five parts, each of the heirs receiving one-fifth, from which will be first taken, however, a third interest for Annie Toppin Davis, who became Mr. Davis's third wife while he was on his deathbed.

Saks Featherweight Suits for Men

¶ To look at these featherweight garments is to feel cool.

¶ They are only one remove from transparency and Comstock!

¶ They are as light as badinage—the airy persiflage of clothes!

¶ The seams are taped and only a beggarly fraction of lining is visible.

¶ They are skeletons of fabric dependent entirely for support upon the tailoring.

¶ But the support they receive is sufficient—sufficient to make them sit perfectly on the human form, and thus more than offset A MINIMUM OF LINING with A MAXIMUM INDIVIDUALITY OF LINE.

The Man in the Tower's Silk Sock Secret

THE evolution of the silk stocking craze has been closely watched from the Tower.

* *

We believe our Secret Service of Fashion has solved the problem.

* *

You participated in the historical Hosiery Revolution—from cotton to silk, at fifty cents.

* *

Then came the bitter campaign as to which fifty cent sock was armor clad—toe and heel proof.

* *

And finally comes the DISCOVERY.

Weber and Heilbroner have found that for FIFTY-FIVE CENTS they can present a special silk sock, MADE FOR THEM—which so far outstrips any fifty-cent sock that there is no comparison.

* *

So we have the SPECIAL WEBER AND HEILBRONER SILK SOCK—pure thread silk, evenly woven, with reinforced heel and toe, at fifty-five cents.

* *

Fits perfectly over the ankle—has real substance—looks like a higher priced sock.

And wears the best of any sock we have had to do with.

* *

These fifty-five cent silk socks are of the same metropolitan family as Weber and Heilbroner fifty-five cent neckwear.

* *

Twelve fashionable solid colors—and neckwear that harmonizes perfectly with each.

GIRL AND FIANCE ACCUSED OF MURDER

Daughter of Wealthy Parents on Trial in Germany for Shooting of Official.

SAYS IT WAS AN ACCIDENT

Had Intended Suicide, She Says, but Fiance Bought the Revolver and Taught Her Its Use.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 17.—Another of the increasingly frequent German murder trials in which the prisoner is a girl accused of a "crime of passion" began at Elberfeld today.

The accused is a remarkably pretty young woman of 20, Brünhilde Wilden, the cultured daughter of wealthy parents. They vainly offered a large sum in bail to obtain her release pending her trial. She is charged with the deliberate murder of her former fiancé, a law-court official, Dr. Nettelbeck, at the behest of her subsequent fiancé, a practicing physician, Dr. Nolten of Düsseldorf, who is also in the dock charged as instigator and accomplice.

Fräulein Wilden asserts that she shot Nettelbeck accidentally after an altercation over his refusal to marry her. Although supposed to have broken off her former relations with the court official and to have become engaged to the physician, Fräulein Wilden was accustomed to visit Dr. Nettelbeck's lodgings. On the fatal occasion, she declares, she went there for the purpose of shooting herself before her former sweetheart's eyes, and as Dr. Nettelbeck tried to disarm her the weapon went off and killed him.

When it developed that the girl's second fiancé not only purchased the revolver, but also instructed her as to how to use it, the physician was arrested.

Fräulein Wilden, who wept a great deal in her cell before the trial, was remarkably composed today and gave unwavering replies to interrogatories. She proved well versed in Goethe, Schiller, and other classics. She said she had been educated for the concert stage.

HOSPITAL SHIP ASHORE.

The Maine, Presented by Americans to British Nation, May Go to Pieces.

GLASGOW, June 17.—The hospital ship Maine, presented to the British nation by American women during the South African war, went ashore today in the Firth of Lorne, on the west coast of Scotland, during a fog, and it is feared she will become a total wreck.

The Maine, which was attached to the home fleet of the British Navy, had a large number of patients on board at the time of the accident. All were placed in the ship's boats, where they remained until the arrival of other vessels summoned by wireless telegraphy.

The hospital ship Maine was partly the gift of Bernard N. Baker of the Atlantic Transport Company and partly of the Hospital Ship Maine Committee composed of American women. She did great service during the South African war in caring for both British and Boer wounded. She was in charge of American doctors and nurses, who treated hundreds of soldiers. Afterward she did similar service in China during the Boxer uprising, and was later formally presented to the British Government.

ACCUSES AMERICAN CONSUL.

Dominican Government Says Mr. Henry Aided the Revolutionists.

SANTO DOMINGO, June 17.—The Dominican Government today asked the United States Government for the immediate withdrawal of the American Consul at Puerto Plata, on the ground that he had sided with the revolution.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Frank Anderson Henry of Wilmington, Del., is Consul at Puerto Plata. He has been in the service for two years.

The Dominican Government's representations had not been received late today. State Department officials, however, were slow to believe that Mr. Henry had in any way transgressed the obligations of his position.

It was recalled that reports from naval officers commanding American warships on service in Dominican waters had made many complaints regarding the Dominican President's failure to keep his agreement not to fire into the neutral zone at Puerto Plata.

FRENCH KILL MANY MOORS.

Disperse the Fierce Riata Tribe After Four Days of Fighting.

OUDJA, Morocco, June 17.—Columns of French troops under Gen. Baumgarten and Gen. Gouraud have succeeded after four days' almost continuous fighting in dispersing the fierce Riata tribe.

The troops burned the villages and killed and wounded hundreds of tribesmen.

The French lost eleven men killed and fifty-three wounded.

ALBANIAN REBEL VICTORY.

Loyal Troops Sent Out Against the Insurgents Are Routed.

DURAZZO, June 17.—The fate of Durazzo is still in doubt.

The Mussulman insurgents returned to the attack on the city today and were repulsed.

Loyal troops sent against the insurgents on one of the outlying hills were, however, completely defeated after fierce fighting.

FOR BRITISH NAVY'S OIL.

Commons Authorize Investment of $11,000,000 in Persian Concern.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 17.—The oil fuel question was discussed in all its bearings in the House of Commons tonight in the course of a debate on a resolution authorizing the Admiralty to invest $11,000,000 in the Anglo-Persian Oil Company.

Much criticism had already been passed on the proposal to sink this large sum in an undertaking whose source of supply lies 150 miles from the Persian coast in a district inhabited by warlike and turbulent tribesmen.

First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill told the House that the problem the Admiralty had to solve was that of obtaining supplies of oil at a reasonable price. He said:

"We have had the experience of a long, steady squeeze from oil trusts all over the world, under which we are forced to pay more than double what we had to pay a few years ago.

"In the New World there is the Standard Oil Company, against which the Cowdray interests maintain, by warfare and by negotiation, a sort of semi-independent life. In the Old World the great combination of the Shell and Royal Dutch companies, with all their subsidiary and ancillary branches, has practically covered the whole ground."

The Anglo-Persian Company was in danger of being absorbed into the ring, said Mr. Churchill, and the Admiralty was, therefore, induced to obtain control of the undertaking.

For many years to come, he went on, the main motive power in the British Navy would be coal, but it already possessed nearly 250 warships wholly or partly dependent on oil. Of the quantity required, the Anglo-Persian Company would supply less than half.

After a lively debate the resolution was carried by 254 votes to 18.

TO FLY ACROSS NORTH SEA.

Lieut. Gran Plans a Monoplane Trip from Scotland to Norway.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 17.—Lieut. Gran, late of the Norwegian Navy, and a member of Scott's antarctic expedition, is planning to fly from Scotland to Norway over more than 300 miles of the North Sea in an ordinary Beirot monoplane fitted with air cushions which should keep the machine afloat twenty-four hours if it drops into the sea.

As the winds often die down in the evening Gran may fly at night.

GIRLS MOB MILITANTS.

Suffragettes Attacked by Working Women and Severely Handled.

LONDON, June 17.—A party of suffragettes carrying sandwich boards to advertise their cause were attacked by a crowd of working girls as they were parading through Whitehall today.

Two of the suffragettes were knocked down and the others were severely handled. A militant suffragette today created a diversion in the middle of the city by chaining herself to the statue of the Duke of Wellington in front of the Royal Exchange. She then shouted to the passing business men, calling on them to intervene in behalf of the imprisoned women. She was eventually removed by the police amid the jeers of a large crowd.

"WHITE WOLF" ESCAPES.

Breaks Through the Circle of Chinese Troops That Surrounded Him.

PEKING, June 17.—"White Wolf," the notorious brigand, with 1,000 of his followers, today broke through the circle of regular troops which had surrounded him on Lily Mountain, 100 miles to the south of Lan-Chow, since June 4.

Gen. Chao, with 5,000 regular troops, followed the brigands in hot pursuit.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance of New York yesterday received the following dispatch from its headquarters in Central China:

"Kan-Su stations rioted. All destroyed. Missionaries safe. There is not much cause for anxiety."

SIR F. POWELL WEDS AT 81.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 17.—Sir Francis Powell, the distinguished painter and President of the Royal Scottish Society of Painters in Watercolors, married, before the Sheriff in Glasgow on yesterday, Annie McNab, a servant in his household and the daughter of a gardener.

The bridegroom's age is 81, the bride's 23.

STORSTAD'S HELM RIGHT FOR CRASH

Chief Officer Admits It Was in a Position to Drive Her Into the Empress.

BUT DENIES SHIP SWUNG

His Captain Charges the Disaster to a Series of Blunders on the Part of the Lost Liner.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, June 17.—A crowded court this morning indicated the intense local interest in the investigation of the loss of the Empress of Ireland. The Captains of the two steamers were both in court, but seated on opposite sides, and their wives listened to the testimony from seats in the gallery.

Today's proceedings were marked by a number of interesting and significant developments calculated to prove of considerable assistance to the commission in the work of ascertaining the real cause of the disaster and where the chief blame for it rests. Chief Officer Tuftenes of the Storstad resumed the witness stand and underwent a grilling cross-examination at the hands of Mr. Aspinall, chief counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway, who forced from him several important admissions.

Replying to Mr. Aspinall, Tuftenes said that although only 33 years old he had held a master's certificate for seven years. He denied that the charterers of the Storstad paid bonuses for quick passages. Judging from the way the lights of the Empress changed before the fog hid her from view, he got the impression that the Empress was attempting to pass the Storstad port to port. He tried to do the same. He admitted that he put the helm of the Storstad nearly hard aport after twice hearing three short blasts, indicating that the Empress had reversed her engines.

Mr. Aspinall—If your ship had any headway that would send you to starboard? Did you wish to go to starboard? A.—No.

Lord Mersey—Then why did you do it? A.—Because I knew the current was against us and I did not wish my ship to be swung to port.

Mr. Aspinall—Isn't it a fact that in consequence of her helm being put ready hard aport the Storstad actually went to starboard and that is how the collision occurred? A.—No. My ship did not swing to starboard, because she did not answer her helm.

Mr. Aspinall—If the Storstad had answered her helm you would have expected to find the Empress on your port bow, as you in fact did? A.—Yes.

Storstad Ordered Ahead.

Tuftenes further admitted that he ordered his engines slow ahead immediately after blowing two blasts to inform the Empress his ship was stopped. He did not notify the Empress about going ahead. When Capt. Andersen reached the bridge it was too late to avert the collision. It was less than a minute before the impact that the Captain ordered his engines full speed astern.

"How far into the side of the Empress did the Storstad penetrate?" Mr. Aspinall asked.

The chief officer replied: "About twelve feet," and he attributed this to the speed of the Empress, because the Storstad was practically stationary.

Mr. Aspinall—Which means that according to your version the Empress must have crashed crab fashion against your bow.

Judge Routhier—Were you all the time convinced that the Storstad had the right of way? A.—Yes.

Mr. Aspinall—What does that mean? A.—That we were entitled to keep our course and our speed.

Mr. Aspinall—Do you seriously mean to suggest that you were entitled to maintain your speed in the fog? A.—Not full speed.

Mr. Aspinall—Then what speed? A.—Moderate speed.

Mr. Aspinall—Was it right to blow two short blasts to signify that you had stopped your ship and then order your engines ahead? A.—I thought it right at the time.

Mr. Aspinall—Was it not misleading? A.—There was no time for it to be misleading.

Lord Mersey—I understand your master did not get to the bridge until it was too late to avoid mischief. If you had called him as soon as you saw the fog, could he not have been there long before? A.—He might, but I saw no reason for him to come up as I saw no danger of a collision.

Capt. Andersen's Testimony.

The calling of Thomas Andersen, the Captain of the Storstad, caused quite a stir in court. He is a broad-shouldered, bluff, fresh-complexioned skipper, and he told his story with striking coolness and self-possession. Examined by Mr. Haight, he related how he hurried to the bridge when his chief officer called to him down the speaking tube. He immediately saw the Empress off his port bow, rushed to the telegraph, and rang full speed astern. The impact came about thirty seconds later. He did not notice the position of the helm when he went on the bridge.

Capt. Andersen declared that if the Storstad had been going full speed she would have cut the Empress almost in two.

"Were you satisfied with your chief officer for calling you when he did?" Mr. Aspinall asked.

"He ought to have called me earlier, but I do not think it would have made any difference."

"In view of the signals of the Empress which your chief officer heard the officers of the Empress must have been guilty of several extraordinary blunders if she behaved as you say she did."

"Yes."

"Can you explain how such remarkable blunders came to be made?"

"I cannot."

Replying to counsel representing the National Firemen's Union, Capt. Andersen indignantly denied that the Storstad was overloaded.

Edward Jones, first officer of the Empress, was next called, and corroborated Capt. Kendall as to the course of the navigation of the Empress. He declared that the Empress was absolutely stopped at the time of the collision.

Lord Mersey: "Are you quite sure?"

"Yes, quite."

The witness expressed the opinion that the cause of the Storstad fouling the Empress was that the Storstad feared to be too near the shore in the fog and tried to get further out. This was his first voyage as first officer of the Empress, but he had been second officer for some time. Replying to Mr. Newcombe, the witness said that the Empress had actually crossed the bows of the Storstad at a distance of five points and was northward of that vessel before her course was changed.

John Carroll, lookout man on the Empress, an elderly Irishman who said he did not know his age, gave evidence in amusing fashion. He said he reported the Storstad when she was about six miles away, about three points to starboard. He stayed in the crow's nest for two minutes after the collision.

"What did the Empress do?" Mr. Aspinall asked.

"She stopped still in the water with never a move out of her," said Carroll, amid laughter.

"What else did she do?"

"She listed to starboard."

"What did you do?"

"I got down from the crow's nest, went to the boat deck, took off my clothes, except my pants, took to the water, and was saved by one of our boats."

Quartermaster Murphy of the Empress was the last witness of the day. He described the signals which passed between the two vessels, corroborating the evidence of his superior officers. He, too, swore that the Empress was stationary at the moment of the collision. He declared there was no disorder on the Empress, and that the members of the crew did everything in their power in the work of rescuing survivors.

DIVERS TO SEEK BODIES.

Three from Cruiser Essex to Work on Empress Wreck.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, June 17.—Before the official investigation into the loss of the Empress of Ireland was resumed this morning, THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent was informed by Capt. Walsh, Marine Superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, that with the consent of the Admiralty, three divers of the British cruiser Essex, which is still here, have been lent to the Canadian Pacific Railway.

They proceeded this morning to Rimouski, where a vessel is being fitted up with special sea diving apparatus. The divers of the Essex will use this apparatus in efforts to recover other bodies from the submerged liner.

IN AID OF EMPRESS VICTIMS.

Brilliant Audience at Boston Opera Performance in Paris.

PARIS, June 17.—President Poincaré was not able to attend the performance given tonight by the Boston Opera Company in aid of the London Lord Mayor's Fund for the families of those who perished in the sinking of the steamship Empress of Ireland, but was represented by officials of his household.

The house was crowded with a brilliant audience, including the American, German, and British Ambassadors.

DIG OUT PARIS VICTIMS.

Bodies of Children and a Man Found —More of Sidewalk Collapses.

PARIS, June 17.—Paris continues to suffer from the effects of the great storm which swept over the district on Monday night, and sixty feet of the sidewalk in the Rue de Belleville collapsed tonight.

Large gangs of men are engaged in working in the trenches made by the flood.

The bodies of two children were recovered today from the pit in the Place Saint Philippe du Roule, and from the wrecked roadway in the Rue du Havre the body of a man was taken. It was buried so deeply that three hours were occupied in extricating it.

Several hats and umbrellas were found in the same place, two of which were identified as belonging to missing persons.

KILLED TESTING AEROPLANE

French Army Flier Falls in New Self-Righting Machine.

CHARTRES, France, June 17.—Major Julien Felix, commanding the aeroplane depot here, was killed today while testing a new self-righting aeroplane. When at a height of sixty feet the machine was observed to turn suddenly and drop to the ground.

The cause of the accident is unknown as the aeroplane was found to be in perfect order. It is thought that the aviator stopped his engine with the intention of testing the ability of the machine at planing and that while doing so he attempted to turn too sharply and the aeroplane capsized.

Major Felix was the army aviator who organized the French aviation squadron for service in Morocco. Last August he made a number of successful tests of a self-righting flying machine and has been engaged in similar work in the last few months.

NELSON TRAGEDY IN 232 LETTERS

Hitherto Unpublished Correspondence Between the Great Sailor and His Wife to be Sold.

REFERENCES TO "EMMA"

Nelson's Infatuation for Lady Hamilton Admitted by Him—Wife's Last Letter Returned to Her.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 17.—At Christie's on July 14 there will be sold a remarkable collection of 232 letters written by Nelson to Lady Nelson from August, 1785, when she was the widow of Dr. Josiah Nisbet, (he married her in 1787,) to Nov. 6, 1800, when she left him in consequence of his infatuation for Lady Hamilton. Most of the letters have not been published and are unknown to Nelson's biographers.

On the death of Lady Nelson the collection passed to her cousin, Mrs. Franklyn, one of whose descendants, A. J. Webbe, has sent them to Christie's.

The letters abound with references to Lady Hamilton, especially after the Battle of Aboukir, when "Emma" had Nelson really in thrall, and it was his letter describing Lady Hamilton's preparations for celebrating his birthday on his arrival at Naples that was the beginning of the end.

At the close of 1800 Lady Nelson left her husband, saying: "I am sick of hearing of 'Dear Lady Hamilton,' and am resolved that you shall either give up her or me."

The collection also contains three letters from Lady Nelson, showing that she attempted a reconciliation. The last letter was sent back to her with the envelope briefly marked: "Opened in mistake by Lord N., but not read."

INSPECTORS INQUIRE INTO LINERS' CRASH

Hear New York's Officers—German Line May Present Pretoria's Side.

RECKONINGS WIDE APART

Capt. Roberts Retells Story — Log Conflicts with Capt. Dugge's Wireless Statement.

With his log book spread out on the table before him Capt. W. J. Roberts of the American liner New York retold yesterday to the local Board of United States Steamboat Inspectors his story of the accident of last Saturday morning in the fog, when the Hamburg-American Line steamship Pretoria ran into and nearly sank the New York. The hearing was held at the Custom House, and while it is in no sense an investigation the findings of Capt. George T. Charlton, Inspector of Hulls, and J. L. Crone, Inspector of Boilers, will set forth the responsibility for the collision.

The hearing was behind closed doors. Late in the afternoon, after the New York's officers had been examined, it was announced that a letter had been sent to the Hamburg-American Line asking whether the company desired to submit any statement or whether Capt. Dugge of the Pretoria desired to be heard. As the Pretoria is a foreign vessel the United States has no jurisdiction, and unless some statement is made by her commander the Steamboat Inspection Service will not be able to sift out the merits of the conflicting statements made by Capt. Roberts officially and Capt. Dugge unofficially as to the position of the vessels when they came together. The Inspectors will hold back their report until the Pretoria returns to port unless they are notified in the meantime that her officers will not appear to give their version of the accident.

Capt. Roberts, taking the entries in the log item by item, traced the course of the New York in her approach to port. The vessel had been running slightly more to the south than usual, and this was to avoid ice danger. There had been ample warning of ice on the westbound track. One report of particularly dangerous bergs came from the Kaiser Wilhelm II., and reached the New York through the White Star liner Adriatic. Fog was encountered early on Saturday morning, and after an hour of intermittent fog the New York ran into thick fog. Then came the order to reduce the vessel's speed and Capt. Roberts ordered the bulkhead doors closed. The speed was shut down to about five knots an hour.

The skipper told of hearing the whistle of the Pretoria. Scenting danger, he began to send his vessel astern. Then he gave two prolonged whistles to indicate that he had stopped his engines. There was little sternway on the ship when those on the bridge made out the range lights of the Pretoria. Seeing that a collision could not be avoided the New York attempted to back away from danger. This happened in 40.31 north latitude and 64.50 west longitude.

First Officer E. J. Madden, Third Officer F. P. Wait, three quartermasters and two look-outs, all of whom were either on the bridge or on deck when the accident happened, gave testimony. One of the officers gave it as his opinion that hardly thirty seconds elapsed between the time that those on the New York made out the German liner and that when the two vessels came together. In the interval, he thought, it would have been impossible for Capt. Dugge to have put his helm to port so as to have avoided hitting the American ship. These witnesses were followed by Chief Engineer George Cartmell and five of the engineers. These men gave testimony as to conditions in the engine room just before the accident, and immediately preceding it, the working of the signals from the bridge, the order in which they were received and the promptness with which they were answered.

Nearly all of the witnesses were questioned closely, and the object of this was to bring out clearly whether there had been errors in navigation or violation of the United States regulations. The discrepancy between the position at the time of the accident given by Capt. Roberts and that given by Capt. Dugge by wireless is so great that the vessels were miles apart in reckoning when they actually collided.

"The two positions," said Capt. Charlton, the Inspector of Hulls, "are separated by about seventy miles east and west and about a mile north and south. The latitudinal position is the one which would count in determining which ship was off the lane fixed by the steamship conference."

This question as to whether one or both steamships was off a given course will not be given much consideration by the Board of Steamboat Inspectors. The question of which route eastbound and westbound liners must take is fixed by agreement of the companies, and is not one about which the Federal Government is greatly concerned. As one of the men of the service said, "the ocean is free to all."

"The object of this hearing," Capt. Charlton said, "is to learn, if possible, the circumstances that led to the collision, with a view of determining if there has been any violation of the law. If we find there was fault on the New York, then we will take such action against the licensed officers as the case may warrant."

The Inspector added that there would be no vindication of either skipper aimed at in the report. It will be a simple statement of facts, the findings of the board, and the recommendations. This will, of course, by implication vindicate and censure. The question of being on or off a given route, he added, would only be considered because of circumstances which might be brought out. What these circumstances may be he would not say.

Capt. Roberts, when seen as he left the hearing room, said that he had nothing to add to the story of the collision as he has already told it. His testimony was mostly a repetition of the report he has made to the International Mercantile Marine Company. The report of the findings of the board will be submitted to Capt. H. M. Seeley, Supervising Inspector for the Second District.

When the Pretoria reaches Hamburg, Capt. Dugge and his officers will be examined by the Deutscher Seemansamt. Whether they take advantage of the opportunity of telling their story here will depend upon the officials of the Hamburg-American Line.

NEW LINE VIA CANAL TO ENTER NEW YORK

Pacific Steam Navigation Company to Establish Service from Liverpool.

TO CIRCLE SOUTH AMERICA

Ships on Long Voyage Will Compete with Germans for Trade, Says General Manager.

Frederick Alcock, General Manager of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company of Liverpool, arrived here yesterday on the Olympic of the White Star Line, on his way to Panama to meet the Orcoma, which will be the first of the company's vessels to reach that port from Liverpool via the Straits of Magellan. In an interview at the pier Mr. Alcock said that his company had decided to make New York the terminal for its liners after the canal was opened.

"The Orcoma will be at Panama on July 5 knocking at the door of the new waterway, and if Col. Goethals opens it, why, she will come through to New York," he said. "The Pacific Steam Navigation Company has carried mails and passengers from Liverpool to the west coast of South America for more than sixty years. At first the terminal point for the home steamers was Valparaiso, and later it was transferred to Callao, where they were met by the coastal steamers of the company, which carried the mails and passengers on to Panama.

"Now the steamers from Liverpool turn around at Panama and go back the same way to Liverpool. When the canal is opened they will come through to New York, calling at Port Limon, Costa Rica, and Havana, and then go back from here to Liverpool, calling at Havana, Port Limon, through the canal, and down the west coast to the Straits of Magellan, up the east coast to Brazil, to Portugal, and Liverpool."

Mr. Alcock said that there was an impression prevalent in the United States that directly the Panama Canal was opened the commerce with the west coast would jump by leaps and bounds.

"The Andes," Mr. Alcock went on to say, "act as a natural barrier running north and south, and the land available for cultivation on the west side is comparatively small compared with that on the east, so that the latter coast is the natural outlet for the greater portion of the trade of South America. There will also be a fortnightly cargo through the Canal and Straits of Magellan."

"Does that mean that the Pacific Steam Navigation Company will be fighting German competition in the South American trade?" he was asked.

"Well," said the General Manager with a smile, "you can put it that way if you choose. They have got a footing on the east coast, but so far the Germans have not succeeded in breaking into the west coast trade, and we do not intend that they shall if we can prevent it."

HISSES FOR WITNESS WHO ATTACKS I. W. W.

J. W. Ferguson Jeered by Spectators at Industrial Relations Commission Session.

URGES OFFICIAL VIOLENCE

Newspaper Editor, ex-Mayor of Paterson, Prosecutor and Police Captain Testify on Strike.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., June 17.—For the first time since the Industrial Relations Commission was organized its proceedings were interrupted today by hisses and jeers from the spectators. Their ire was stirred by John W. Ferguson, a contractor. Mr. Ferguson was called as a witness because investigators had heard of remarks he had made about "the correct way to handle the I. W. W."

Mr. Ferguson said the strikers had not obtained from their labor more than a chance to remain alive under miserable conditions, and that many improvements were desirable. As an employer he was beginning to realize that the workman who was contented and had ample pay for his material needs produced much more for his employer than a discontented workman.

"Is it true that you have remarked that the right way to handle the I. W. W. leaders would have been to drive them out of town by violence?" asked Chairman Walsh.

"I think that is true substantially," Mr. Ferguson replied. "I think the I. W. W. agitators were a very bad lot and that the police would have been entirely justified in going beyond technical legal restrictions to rid our community of them. I believe the police should have met them at the station and should have told them that the next train would take them out."

The hisses and jeers then began among spectators from the local organization of the I. W. W. The noise gradually spread over most of the benches, but Mr. Ferguson was not disturbed. "These people," he said, "cost us a loss in reputation for our city, and in wages and loss of investments upward of $15,000,000. Wouldn't you, Mr. Walsh, agree that we were justified in handling the situation they presented in a drastic manner?"

Chairman Walsh was busy for some time rapping for order, but he finally replied to the witness:

"I cannot see any difference," he said, "between the idea you have brought forward and the idea of the I. W. W. man who testified here the other day that he would blow up a factory if he thought that blowing it up would help to win a strike."

Another witness was J. L. Matthews, editor of The Paterson Press. William O. Thompson, counsel for the commission, read editorials by Mr. Matthews which had been submitted by strikers and strike sympathizers in support of charges that "a despotism was in Paterson." One of the editorials intimated that it did not matter much how the I. W. W. agitators were removed so long as they were forced or induced to go away. Mr. Matthews was asked to explain what he meant by writing such an editorial.

"We had lost $5,000,000 in wages," he said, "and the mill owners had lost $2,500,000, while the community as a whole had lost $10,000,000, because investors had been intimidated and were passing us by. I felt that the people of Los Angeles had handled the I. W. W. matter in a way to satisfy the people, and that we could handle the matter also in a way to satisfy the people. We feel bad over this whole matter. It has permanently hurt us, for the reason that many of our factories have opened branches in Pennsylvania, and have moved much of their business there."

To obtain versions of the strike from persons not directly concerned in it, Chairman Walsh called as witnesses former Mayor McBride of Paterson, Police Capt. McBride, Prosecuting Attorney Michael Dunn, and the Rev. Dr. Anthony H. Stein, rector of Our Lady of Lourdes Church. Ex-Mayor McBride, who was in office during the strike, said it occurred because the men were underpaid, overworked, and badly treated, and I. W. W. agitators made the most of this situation. He said that he regretted that the strikers considered the agitators to be heroes.

"And these agitators," he said, "held the hope out to the workers that if they maintained a solid front they eventually would own the mills. They continually told them that the four-loom system would be forced upon them if there was any break in the ranks, and they went back to their bosses."

The former Mayor defended the policy of his administration in arresting strikers on the grounds that every arrest was made to maintain peace and order.

The best remedy for the evils of the strike, he said, would be a big union of all the workers in the industry in the United States so that manufacturers would not be tempted continually to undercut in selling their goods on the theory that they could drive down the cost of manufacture.

Michael Dunn, Prosecuting Attorney of Paterson, defended the official attitude toward those who were arrested in the strike. He placed the total number of arrests at 2,338. He urged a Federal eight-hour law as a first essential in any programme for industrial peace. He blamed "upstart manufacturers," operating without capital and undercutting their rivals' prices, for much of the trouble, and predicted that, without a fundamental change in the relationship of employers and workmen, Paterson would experience periodical outbreaks such as those of last year.

Police Capt. McBride testified that the policemen of Paterson sympathized with [illegible] side workings of the black list." He said that all employes were known as "active" or "dead" in the [illegible], and that all the "active" persons were weeded out by the organized employers. Zuersher will resume his testimony tomorrow morning.

MISSING BALLOONISTS SAFE.

Reach Rangers' Camp After Perilous Tramp in Oregon Forest.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—Roy Donaldson and Wilbur Henderson, pilot and aid of the balloon Springfield, are safe. The men, for whom rangers and searching parties have been combing the woods for days, staggered into the forest rangers' camp at Walker's Prairie today and fell exhausted at the cabin door. Their clothing was in shreds.

Donaldson told Homer Williams and A. Mitchel, the forest guards there, that the Springfield was forced to descend at 8 o'clock last Friday morning on a rocky slope of Table Mountain, about eighteen miles on a direct line from Walker's Prairie ranger station, and forty-eight miles northeast of Portland.

One of the most discouraging discoveries was that there were no matches in their kits. They struck out for the nearest stream and followed it westward. At night the mountain air chilled them severely. They could not build a fire, and had to eat what canned food they had raw.

The tramp to Walker's Prairie was one of extreme hardship. A network of undergrowth and fallen trees disputed every foot of the way.

No attempt was made to save the balloon.

Members of the Portland Rose Festival Aero Committee, which conducted the race under the auspices of the Aero Club of America, were elated over the escape of Donaldson and Henderson. Every one of the four balloons which started in the race last Wednesday—Uncle Sam, Million Population Club, Kansas City III., and Springfield—met with disaster.

STAMP TAX TEST HALTED.

Court Sustains Government's Demurrer in Spanish War Case.

Judge Hand upheld yesterday in the Federal District Court the demurrer interposed by Assistant District Attorney Kenneth M. Spence on behalf of the Government in the suit brought by the Thames and Mersey Insurance Company, Limited, a British corporation, to recover $3,500, which it is alleged had been exacted illegally from the company for the Spanish-American war stamp tax on policies of marine insurance. The company objected to the impost on the ground that it violated Section 9, Article I., of the United States Constitution, which provides that "no tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State."

Everett P. Wheeler, who appeared for the plaintiff, contended that each of the policies taxed affected the marine insurance on certain products of merchandise during their transit by sea from the United States to other ports, and pointed out to the court that the products which were thus insured were actually exported.

Judge Hand, in considering whether the insurance policies as documents were themselves exports, held that the eventual destination of the goods did not make them exports until they began to move. In the case at bar, he pointed out, though the policies were all along intended for export, the stamps were affixed before they were issued. After delivery they were sent with such documents as drafts and bills of lading to foreign countries, but until that time they could be recalled at any time and remained a portion of the general mass of goods in this country.

He ruled that unless the insurance company amended its complaint within ten days the complaint must be dismissed. As the suit was brought under the Tucker act as a test proceeding to recover marine insurance taxes, which amount to large figures, it is expected that it will be carried to the Federal Supreme Court.

MAE A. SULLIVAN FINED.

Woman Who Sued Hoe Must Pay $250 for Contempt of Court.

Mae A. Sullivan, whose $225,000 breach of promise suit against Arthur I. Hoe resulted in a disagreement, was fined $250 in the City Court yesterday for what Justice Green termed her "indifference and contempt" toward the orders of the court. The court ordered Miss Sullivan to appear for examination in supplementary proceedings in regard to a $290 judgment obtained against her by Stern & Greenberg, furniture dealers. Miss Sullivan ignored the order. A second order was issued, directing Miss Sullivan to show cause why she should not be punished for contempt of court. To this order Miss Sullivan also made no response.

"While I fully appreciate," Justice Green said, "the stress of mind under which this girl was laboring incident to the trial of her breach of promise action, she has failed absolutely to present any valid legal reason for her disobedience and contempt for the orders of this court, and it appears that she has also disobeyed other orders of this court in other proceedings with equal impunity. She must learn that orders of this court must be respected and obeyed, and while she has not yet reached years of mature discretion, she has had enough experience to become worldly wise and to understand the purpose and necessity of a mandate of the court."

STARTS SUIT TO TEST FOREIGN RESIDENCE

U. S. District Attorney Seeks to Forfeit Dunlap Gems and Furs Worth $97,496.

STAY ABROAD TOO SHORT

Government's Suit Is Based on Allegation That the Defendants Returned Here Twice in 15 Months.

Three forfeiture suits, involving jewels and furs worth $97,496, were brought yesterday in the Federal District Court by Assistant United States District Attorney Frank E. Carstarphan against William Allen Dunlap and his wife, Lavender Y. Dunlap, of Garden City, L. I. They involve legal questions as to the right of American citizens, who have been abroad for a short time, to claim foreign residence, and they have been undertaken only after District Attorney Marshall and Mr. Carstarphan had made a close study of the law and the decisions under it.

Mr. Dunlap was connected with Dunlap & Co., hat manufacturers, until the death of his father, and after that became Secretary of the Seward Development Company, a fur trading concern. While they lived in this country Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap resided in several places, and went finally to Garden City. From there in November, 1912, Mr. Dunlap went to England, and a few weeks later, after storing their furniture, Mrs. Dunlap joined him abroad.

In the early part of the following year Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap set sail for Mexico in the Hamburg-American liner Yparanga. When they got to Havana they heard such alarming accounts of the conditions in that country that they decided it would be unwise to continue their voyage to Vera Cruz. Consequently they left their ship and entered the United States by way of Key West. In doing so, it is charged Mrs. Dunlap brought into this country jewelry of the foreign value of $12,095 and the American value of $19,352 without declaring it for duty.

The gems, it is alleged, consisted of a pear-shaped diamond for a lavalliere, a pair of pear-shaped diamond earrings, a ruby and diamond cluster ring, a pearl and diamond necklace, a pair of diamond and Wedgwood earrings, a ruby necklace, with a bowknot with two diamonds, a gold bracelet, and a platinum and pearl necklace. The Dunlaps also brought with them on this trip a sable stole and muff worth $3,900, which are the subject of a separate forfeiture suit and which the Federal authorities say were left behind here when the Dunlaps returned to Europe.

Their second return to this country was on the Olympic last November, and the Government charges that Mrs. Dunlap had with her then not only the jewelry enumerated already, but another set worth abroad $46,499 and here $74,244. This included a pearl necklace with a diamond cluster clasp containing 253 pearls, a pair of pear-shaped pearl earrings with platinum mountings suspended from nine diamonds each, a platinum diamond brooch pin with a pendant of diamonds, a platinum and diamond collar, and a garnet and diamond cluster ring.

Moreover, in this second complaint the Government enumerates these articles as having been admitted without duty on the ground that the Dunlaps were foreign residents. A pair of small woolen blankets, three pairs of large blankets; two gowns, one piece each; a fur-trimmed evening coat, four silk and feather quilts, one silver fox muff and stole, one muff and neckpiece, seven dressed fur skins, and eight linen pillow slips.

The contention of the Government is that, whatever may have been the intention of the Dunlaps with regard to their residence, it was impossible for them to claim that they were foreign residents within the meaning of the Customs act for the purposes of the importation of these articles. Of the fifteen months that had elapsed since they left this country, seven had been spent here and only seven in Europe, while the other month was consumed in their voyages. Then the fact that they had left their furniture in storage here, and then had brought with them certain household articles, has thrown further suspicion on the good faith of their foreign residence.

At the same time it is recognized by the Government that, as intention has so much to do with the establishment of a foreign domicile, there may have been room for an honest mistake as to the law by the defendants. Consequently there is no intention of bringing criminal proceedings, and all the Government seeks is the forfeiture of the articles.

BLIND SINGER A SUICIDE.

Helen Mesow, Friend of Helen Keller, Found Dead in Her Home.

OAKLAND, Cal., June 17.—Miss Helen Mesow, a blind singer, was found dead in her apartment here early today and it is believed she poisoned herself.

On a table near the couch was a card bearing the name of W. C. Dohrmann, an Oakland real estate agent. The card contained this penciled message:

> Helen: 6 P. M. Wanted you to come to dinner this evening as it is our last night.—W. C. D.

Mrs. E. Stege of Melrose, Dohrmann's aunt, said that she and Dohrmann left the note at the apartment on Sunday. "Our last night," she said, "meant that Dohrmann was leaving town for a while."

Miss Mesow was educated in the California Institute for the Deaf and Blind and at the University of California. Afterward she continued her vocal studies in Paris. She was about 30 years old and was a friend of Helen Keller.

The 11th Annual Sale of

Men's Negligee Summer Shirts at $1.30

Regularly $2.00, $2.50 & $3.00

¶ The biggest day of any we ever have had in an annual shirt sale was the opening day of this one, and there's only one reason for it, and that's the merchandise. We believe we are well within the truth in saying that no such galaxy of designs has ever been shown in any popular-priced shirt sale before this one. The entire offering is a distinct advance on any assortments we have yet seen—not only as to variety, but as to the character of that variety. They are a wonderful lot of shirts and would be a matter of pride at the regular prices, let alone at such a fractional figure as $1.30.

Here is a brief description of the selection

Shirts of imported and domestic Madras, in printed designs and woven Russian cords.
Shirts of soft mercerized cloth, in fancy single or double colored stripes.
Shirts of silk stripe materials that yield nothing in appearance to silk itself.
Shirts of Oxford silk, in both brilliant and subdued color designs.

SPECIAL NOTE—At the last moment we were able to include in this sale on the opening day 600 new SILK AND LINEN BLAZER SHIRTS—in brilliant colorings—they sold out in four hours—Today, by special arrangement, we shall include 600 more which have just been delivered.

Warren McGarrick Was Drowned.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—An examination today of the body of 7-year-old Warren McGarrick, which was recovered from the Delaware River yesterday after a countrywide search for the boy had been in progress for three months, showed that death was due to drowning. There was no evidence of violence. The police still hold to the theory that the boy was accidentally drowned.

Frost Up-State Causes Damage.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 17.—Frost did considerable damage in some sections of Sullivan and Delaware Counties last night. Corn was ruined in some cases and fruit suffered generally.

TO MANAGE DURYEA ESTATE.

John Hill Morgan to Handle Property of Man Who Killed His Father.

John Hill Morgan was appointed a Commissioner by County Judge Dike of Brooklyn yesterday in proceedings brought by Mrs. Chester B. Duryea, whose husband was sent to Matteawan for killing his father, to have him declared an incompetent and for the management of his estate.

The will of Gen. Duryea, who was a retired starch manufacturer, disposed of an estate worth more than $300,000. Chester B. Duryea inherited most of it. His wife has been legally separated from him for several years. She has lived most of the time in Paris.

W. B. WILSON A SPEEDER.

Secretary, Stopped in Maryland, Released on Revealing His Identity.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., June 17.—Shortly after receiving the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws today at the Maryland Agricultural College, Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson was charged with being a violator of the motor vehicle laws, when his automobile was stopped at Bladensburg. Thomas H. Wildiman, Deputy Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, said the Secretary's machine was exceeding the speed limit, twelve miles an hour, by running at the rate of twenty-five miles.

When the Secretary established his identity and said he had important official business in Washington, Wildiman apologized and permitted the Secretary to proceed.

POWDER IN SHOES AS WELL AS GUNS

Foot-Ease to Be Added to Equipment of Hospital Corps at Fort Wayne.

Under the above heading the Detroit Free Press, among other things says: "The theory is that soldiers whose feet are in good condition can walk further and faster than soldiers who have corns and bunions incased in rawhide.

The Government's foot powder order is regarded as the last word in the scientific outfitting of the defenders of the flag."

This foot powder, shaken in the shoes of soldiers, has long been in use in the German army, and Uncle Sam's adoption of this form of treating and easing the feet, is in line with the expressions heard daily for more than twenty years, in all parts of the world, from millions of people who are shaking Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder for the feet, into their shoes, as the only practical and lasting treatment for easing and absolutely preventing sore feet. It can be obtained from dealers everywhere for 25c. or a trial package will be sent by mail free if you write to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

100 IN PERIL IN FOUR INCENDIARY FIRES

Women and Babies Rescued at 2 A. M. Amid Smoke and Flames.

FLAMES ON GOWANUS CANAL

Three Barges Burned and Stable and Refuse Sorting Plant Destroyed in Brooklyn.

Four fires, all believed to be the work of incendiaries, gave the Brooklyn Department much work yesterday and placed in danger the lives of nearly 100 persons. Three of these fires occurred in the same neighborhood at the same time. A fifth fire destroyed a paper plant on the Gowanus Canal.

The first alarm came from the five-story double apartment house at 131 and 133 Ashland Place, shortly after 2 A. M. Ten families, numbering more than fifty persons, were in the building. Marjory Harper, who lives on the top floor with her mother, was reading, when she smelled smoke, and after awakening her mother she ran through the building arousing the other tenants. Policeman Hendry turned in an alarm and with Policemen Hermance and Townsend went through the building, which by this time was filled with smoke. The flames were rushing through the dumbwaiter, which acted as a flue.

On the top floor the policeman found David Krom, his wife, and three children. They carried the children and led Mr. and Mrs. Krom to the second floor, from whence they were taken to the street by firemen on ladders. On the fourth floor the policemen found Lewis and Kate Williams and their two children bewildered by the smoke. All were carried to the street. Hendry returned to the building and found on the second floor Mrs. Milgram, an invalid, with her two daughters. Hendry got the girls to the street and carried the mother out. Mrs. Milgram and her daughter Rose were overcome by the smoke and were attended by Dr. Cotter of the Holy Family Hospital. Policeman Burke found on the third floor Mrs. Thirza Graff unconscious from smoke and carried her to the street.

Deputy Chief Lally sent in a second and third alarm. Deputy Police Commissioner Godley took charge of the police arrangements and assisted some of those rendered homeless to find shelter. After the fire had been put out an examination was made and a pile of rubbish was found on the second floor near the dumbwaiter shaft. Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy is investigating. The fire gutted the building and did $10,000 damage.

While this fire was at its height two other fires broke out simultaneously on Fulton Street less than two blocks away. One was in the three-story brick building at 695 Fulton Street. William Christie, a baker on his way home, saw smoke coming from the basement, and after notifying a policeman he awakened the occupants of the building. On the top floor was George Sullivan, his wife, Bertha, and their 2-and-a-half-year-old baby, George, Jr. Christie climbed to the top of a shed in front of the house and Sullivan dropped the baby into his arms. Christie then passed the child to a policeman on the street. Sullivan and his wife were rescued by the firemen. This fire did about $200 damage. Investigation showed that it originated in some rubbish on the second floor.

The third fire was at 604 Fulton Street, across the street. It also started among rubbish on the second floor, but was discovered promptly and extinguished by the firemen who were sent to fight the blaze at 695. It was the belief of the firemen that the three fires were started by the same person.

Late yesterday afternoon a fire that is thought to have been started by an incendiary gutted the four-story apartment house at 515 Throop Avenue. Two of the four apartments in the building are unoccupied. The occupants of the top floor were not at home, and Mrs. Samuel Spendenson, who lives on the third floor, was alone in the building. She tried to get out by the stairs and was rescued by firemen after she had been burned about the face and arms. She was attended by a physician and taken to the home of a neighbor. Police Inspector Farrell and detectives started an investigation immediately after the fire. Two alarms were turned in for the fire, which did about $7,000 damage.

About an hour before the Throop Avenue fire three alarms were sent in for a fire which destroyed the plant of the Brooklyn Ash Removal Company at Sixth Street and Gowanus Canal. The company receives the paper collected by the Street Cleaning Department and sends it to paper factories. The flames spread to two barges, the Owen Horan and the Martin Horan, which were loaded with bales of paper ready to be taken to Kingston, N. Y. Both boats were destroyed. The fire also spread to a building of the Brooklyn Stable Company and a barge tied up there. Both the building and the barge were destroyed. The fire boat David A. Boody fought the flames from the canal and helped materially in getting the fire under control. The damage was estimated at about $75,000.

INVESTIGATES CORONERS.

Commissioner of Accounts Starts Inquiry Ordered by the Mayor.

Commissioner of Accounts Leonard M. Wallstein started the investigation yesterday into the Coroners' offices which was ordered by Mayor Mitchel last week. Four examiners from his office will assist the Commissioner. Mr. Wallstein walked into the court just as Coroner Healy started to preside over nine small inquest cases. Coroner Healy was visibly perturbed, but he went ahead with his cases, and Commissioner Wallstein watched the proceedings closely and took notes. After the cases were disposed of the Commissioner called for the papers in each case and examined them closely. Then he went away.

Later Commissioner Wallstein said he intended to drop in from time to time at all of the Coroners' offices in the five boroughs and get an idea of how the work was being carried on. His four examiners will go over the records and reports of the Coroners' offices in Manhattan, and after the Commissioner has held a formal hearing, at which the Coroners and other witnesses will be examined under oath, he will make his report to the Mayor.

WOMAN TO RULE WOMEN.

Dr. Davis Puts Miss Harris in Charge of Workhouse Prisoners.

Dr. Katharine B. Davis appointed another woman yesterday to assist her in reorganizing the work of her office. The new appointee is Miss Mary B. Harris, and she will be the superintendent in charge of the women prisoners in the workhouse. Last week Miss Davis appointed Dr. Anna Hubert resident physician in charge of the women prisoners at the workhouse. Miss Harris is a graduate of the University of Chicago. She is the daughter of President John Harris of Bucknell University, is 32 years old, and comes from Lewisburg, Penn. She has just returned from abroad, where she has been studying for the last two years. She will have full charge of the women prisoners at the workhouse, and will be responsible only to Warden Fox.

Miss Harris's salary is to be $1,200 a year. Her appointment was made possible by the action of the Association of Grand Jurors, who furnished Commissioner Davis with enough money to employ both Miss Harris and Miss Hubert for the rest of the year. Commissioner Davis hopes that by next year she will obtain enough money from the city to keep both women permanently.

EXTENDS RIGHT OF SUIT.

Committee Makes Important Change in Clayton Anti-Trust Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A clause of the Clayton bill to amend the Sherman Anti-Trust act, providing that no person, individual, or corporation other than the United States should have the right to sue common carriers for injunctive relief from damage resulting from a violation of the Sherman act, was stricken out by the Senate Committee on the Judiciary today.

Reading of the bill was continued, but practically half of it, dealing specially with injunctions, remains to be considered. The elimination of the clause confining suits for relief to the Department of Justice is the second important change tentatively decided upon.

The committee previously eliminated a paragraph of the bill permitting railroads to enter into traffic arrangements under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The committee will continue reading the bill tomorrow, but final action on any part of it will be deferred, as much difficulty has been experienced so far in maintaining a quorum.

GLYNN VISITS WILSON.

Governor Also Looks In On House Before Leaving for Home.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Gov. Glynn today called at the White House to pay his respects to President Wilson. The call was not a long one, and Gov. Glynn, when he came out of the executive office, asked to be excused from saying just what was talked about.

The Governor then visited the Capitol and went in on the floor of the House, where he formerly sat as a member. He chatted for some time with Representative Fitzgerald and others of the New York delegation. He took the 12:30 train for New York.

SIX MEN GO TO JAIL FOR ELECTION FRAUD

Sixteen Others Pay $100 Fines, and District Attorney Goes After Those Higher Up.

Inquiry to be Shifted from Charles F. Murphy's District to Thomas F. Foley's.

Six election officials were sent to jail yesterday and sixteen others were fined as a result of District Attorney Whitman's investigation into the Constitutional Convention election on April 7. It became known also that the inquiry will be extended, with the hope of learning about the activities of men "higher up."

Although the men who have pleaded guilty say they acted on their own initiative, the District Attorney, it is understood, does not believe the crimes were committed without orders from persons of higher political rank. The names of three men have been mentioned in the inquiry, and their part in the election will be investigated.

District Attorney Whitman in court yesterday asked Justice Davis to continue the present term of court, so that the Grand Jury might continue its inquiry. All of the indictments, so far, have been in Charles F. Murphy's Twelfth Assembly District. The next district to be taken up, it is understood, is the Second, of which Thomas F. Foley is leader.

Six Inspectors, whose crimes, according to District Attorney Whitman, were more flagrant, received sentences of six months each in the penitentiary. The sixteen others escaped with fines of $100 each. Three others have not yet been sentenced. Two of them have aided the District Attorney, and it is probable that their cases will be dismissed. The third will be brought to trial. Justice Davis, in imposing sentence, said:

> The court has no sympathy with the argument advanced by counsel for the defense for leniency, except that they have pleaded guilty and saved the expense of trials. The election, however, was of the highest importance; as important as any election. The argument is entirely without point that, because the people were not as deeply interested in this election as they have been in other elections, the criminal acts were justified. I make this remark for the benefit of other election officials who may be present as well as for your benefit. The District Attorney has made a careful investigation into these cases, and the court will rely on his recommendations.

District Attorney Whitman asked that prison sentences be imposed on six of the men, because, he explained, their crime differed from that of the others in that they knew of the frauds. Theodore H. Ward, former Assistant District Attorney, who was counsel for the six men, pleaded that the Inspectors did not understand the importance of the special election. "The public was apathetic," he said. "There were no candidates for office. The Inspectors took the view that what is everybody's business is nobody's business."

These are the six men who were sent to jail: Henry Hogan, Republican poll clerk, Fifth Election District; Abram Greene, Democratic Inspector, Sixth Election District; Charles H. Cooledge, Democratic Inspector, Seventh Election District; Edward H. Lown, Democratic Inspector, Thirteenth Election District; William Sweeny, Republican Inspector, Fifth Election District; William H. Beisler, Republican Inspector, Nineteenth Election District.

The crime charged was a misdemeanor, a violation of Section 764 of the Penal law: "Being an Inspector of Election and allowing one to vote at an election when not qualified to vote." The other sixteen were charged with aiding or abetting the crime. These are the officials who were fined:

Louis Bachman, Republican poll clerk, Fifth Election District; Peter Conlon, Democratic poll clerk, Sixth Election District; Edwin Kubes, Republican Inspector, Seventh Election District; Gilbert J. Bagley, Democratic poll clerk, Thirteenth Election District; August Ramb, Republican ballot clerk, Thirteenth Election District; Leo Bleck, Democratic Inspector, Seventh Election District; George Wasen, Republican Inspector, Sixth Election District; James Larrousse, Republican Inspector, Thirteenth Election District; John B. Figliozi, Republican Inspector, Thirteenth Election District; Joseph Koch, Republican Inspector, Sixth Election District; Edward I. Stephenson, Democratic Inspector, Thirteenth Election District; Daniel W. Brosnan, Democratic Inspector, Sixth Election District; Thomas J. Lambert, Democratic Inspector, Nineteenth Election District; John J. WILL FLY VIA THE AZORES.

Curtiss's Big Aeroboat to Start for Europe from Newfoundland.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., June 17.—Lieut. Porte, chief pilot of the Rodman Wanamaker transatlantic flyer, admitted today that he had practically decided to shape his course from Newfoundland to the European continent via the Azores.

He said that he had not made public his intentions in this matter principally because he had spent much time and money in figuring out the chances for success by this route and making arrangements for it and did not wish any one else to take advantage of his plans. It is said that this change in route was the determining factor in deciding the change in the machine.

The distance to the Azores from Newfoundland is approximately 1,100 miles, and to fly this distance Glenn H. Curtiss decided a huge flying boat could be constructed which would possess many advantages of safety and comfort over the lightweight machine originally planned. Today the port wings of the machine were attached. Tomorrow those on the starboard side will be ready. Mr. Curtiss says there still is a possibility of making the preliminary tests on Friday, but he is more inclined to think Saturday morning will see the first trials made.

As the machine grows its solidity becomes more impressive. The cables, thick as a man's finger, seem enormous compared to those used on ordinary types of flying machines. The struts and supporting timbers throughout are of a size unknown in aeroplane practice. It is the biggest thing in flying boats ever seen.

A. J. Keley, aviator and expert mechanician, has joined the Curtiss forces, and is spoken of as an emergency substitute for George T. Hallett.

TRY AGAIN TO END STRIKE.

Westinghouse Officials Meet Committee of Employes Today.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, June 17.—Following a conference late this afternoon between Sheriff G. W. Richards and George W. Allen, members of the State House of Representatives; E. M. Herr, President of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and H. T. Herr, Vice President and General Manager of the Westinghouse Machine Company, it was announced that the officials of the Westinghouse companies would meet tomorrow afternoon with a committee of their employes in a further effort to adjust the present differences.

A number of Deputy Sheriffs were on duty today in Swissvale in the vicinity of the Union Switch and Signal Company's plant, where some of the workmen have walked out. About 600 men now at work in the plant, including clerks, foremen, and others, went into the buildings this morning after being taken to the Swissvale Station in a special train. They formed in line and marched into the plant without any sign of disorder.

BAD CHILD SURGERY FAILS TO WORK CURE

Mother by Adoption Asks Court for Relief—Says Girl Still Wants to Steal.

EVIL TENDENCIES DENIED

Mrs. Murray, Friend of Children, Testifies That Her Jewelry Was Safe with Accused Girl.

Because an operation that she caused to be performed on the head of her 14-year-old adopted daughter failed to cure her of criminal tendencies, Mrs. James Hickey of College Point applied yesterday to Surrogate Daniel Noble at Jamaica to set aside the adoption proceedings.

The child, before her adoption by Mrs. Hickey in November, 1906, was Mary Ross, an inmate of the New York Infant Asylum. Mrs. Hickey says the child is mentally defective and inclined to steal.

Mrs. Hickey's plea for freedom from the self-imposed responsibilities of foster motherhood was opposed by Mrs. John W. Murray of Croton-on-Hudson, a wealthy woman whose work with children has given her much publicity in the past few years. She is the wife of the Rev. John W. Murray.

Mrs. Murray said she originally procured little Mary Ross from the New York Infant Asylum and sent her to live with Mrs. Hickey, who liked the little girl so well at first that she adopted her when Mary was 6 years old. In September, 1912, Mrs. Murray took Mary back again, Mrs. Hickey having by that time discovered her alleged criminal tendencies.

Mrs. Hickey testified that the operation upon Mary's skull was performed by Dr. Stranahan of Yonkers, and that the child seemed to have improved, but was still mentally defective. She produced as a witness Dr. Cecil McCoy of 186 Jeroloman Street, Brooklyn, an expert in mental diseases. Mary was in court, and Dr. McCoy examined the child and pronounced her still defective. He said she would never be wholly normal, although she might improve.

Mrs. Murray asserted that in the two years that the child has been living with her since leaving Mrs. Hickey she has had constantly in her home more than $1,000 worth of jewelry, and Mary has never attempted to steal any of it. She declared that, if the adoption proceedings are set aside, the little girl will be cast out, homeless and friendless, unless the Surrogate sends her to a penal institution.

"I believe that would be a cruel thing to do," said Judge Noble.

Mrs. Murray also asserted that Mary has not been so bright since the operation upon her skull, in which a bone was removed from behind her left ear, and has had fits of depression.

"I think that as Mrs. Hickey had this child operated upon on her own initiative, she should be compelled to continue to support her," said Mrs. Murray.

Surrogate Noble reserved decision and told both sides to submit briefs. Mary returned home with Mrs. Murray pending the outcome of the proceeding. Mrs. Murray, who is suffering from the effects of an automobile accident, came into court on crutches.

CUT FOR 1,000 EMPLOYES.

N. Y. Central System Traffic Men to Get Monthly "Vacations."

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 17.—Cleveland railroad circles were stirred today by the news that "vacations" were to be given to Lake Shore traffic department employes for an average of four days a month, while those of the Nickel Plate were to be laid off three days a month. It is not known so far what action the Big Four will take, but employes of that road will no doubt get similar rest periods. About 1,000 men are affected.

The order for laying off the men came direct from President Alfred H. Smith, it being stated that business was falling off and that retrenchment was necessary. The order hits every traffic official on the roads. In brief, it means that the employes get a cut in wages ranging from 10 to 12 per cent.

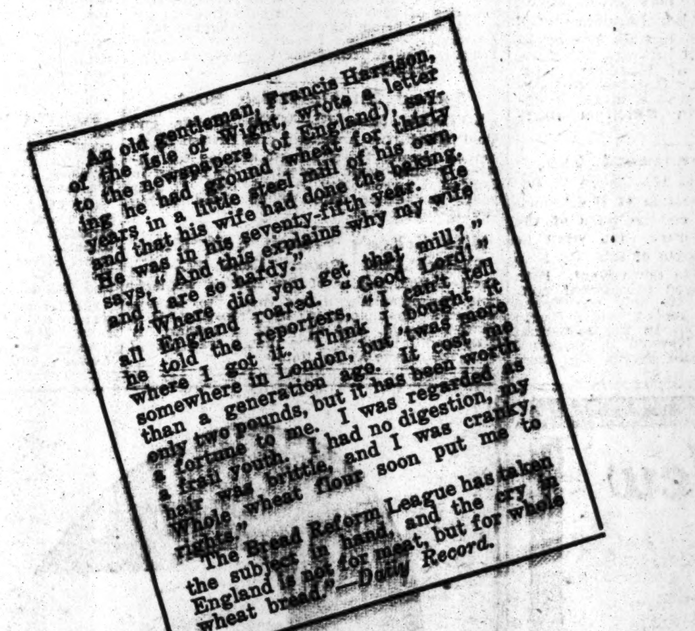
Grinds His Own Flour



An old gentleman, Francis Harrison, of the Isle of Wight, wrote a letter to the newspapers (of England), saying he had ground wheat for thirty years in a little steel mill of his own, and that his wife had done the baking. He was in his seventy-fifth year. He says, "And this explains why my wife and I are so hardy."

"Where did you get that mill?" all England roared. "Good Lord!" he told the reporters, "I can't tell where I got it. Think I bought it somewhere in London, but 'twas more than a generation ago. It cost me only two pounds, but it has been worth a fortune to me. I was regarded as a frail youth. I had no digestion, my hair was brittle, and I was cranky. Whole wheat flour soon put me to rights."

The Bread Reform League has taken the subject in hand, and the cry in England is not for meat, but for whole wheat bread."—Daily Record.

But you don't have to buy a mill and go to all the trouble of grinding your flour.

In Grape-Nuts

—ready to eat from the package, and delicious—you have a far more perfect food than bread.

In Grape-Nuts one has all the nutriment of whole wheat plus entire barley, including all the vital mineral phosphates of these grains, so essential for proper balance of body, brain and nerves.

Grape-Nuts, because of long skillful baking, digests easily and quickly—generally in about one hour; white bread requires about 3½ hours.

A ration of Grape-Nuts with regular meals goes a long way toward putting one "to rights."

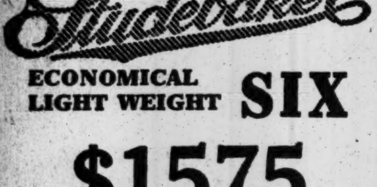
Studebaker

ECONOMICAL LIGHT WEIGHT SIX

$1575



The manufactured Studebaker SIX gives you quality and value that the assembled "Six" can never attain

The one incorporates perfection of alignment and balance, due to Studebaker-manufactured parts, necessarily foreign to the other.

That means elimination of vibration and perfect roadability, in the Studebaker SIX.

Great volume of Studebaker SIX production means manufacturing economies and resultant quality, that the assembler cannot meet by increased production or lowered prices.

Heat treated steels, manufactured parts in greater proportion than any other car, spell value in the Studebaker SIX greater than in any other car at any price—assembled or manufactured.

Send for the Studebaker Proof Book, describing Studebaker manufacturing methods.

YALE AND HARVARD CREWS FINISH TRAINING---TENNIS

HARVARD AND YALE CREWS ALL READY

Crimson Oarsmen Confident of "Sweeping River" in Regatta.

RED TOP, Conn., June 17.—Harvard tonight put the finishing touches on its training for the boat races against Yale. Coach Wray took the first and second eights for a long drill on racing starts. Both crews broke even on getting away under the gun and both hit a high stroke. Later the crews were sent on a paddle for a mile and a half.

The freshman eight and four also had a complete drilling in starts. The graduates' eights had a short practice preparatory to the informal races against Yale tomorrow. The line-up of the graduates' eight has not yet been fully determined.

With the training virtually over there is a feeling of intense confidence in quarters of again "sweeping the river." Harvard is also prepared to back its confidence with cash, but there is little Yale money in sight.

Harvard's baseball victory over Yale at Cambridge today caused much exultance here, and a huge bonfire was lighted. There was also a display of fireworks and a general jubilee.

W. A. Meikelham, the referee for the regatta, visited the Yale and Harvard quarters today and made preliminary arrangements. The rival Captains will meet tomorrow to toss for positions.

GALE'S FERRY, Conn., June 17.—The Yale crews tonight practically completed their training for the Harvard regatta Friday. The first and second 'Varsity eights were sent downstream for a two-mile row. The crews had a half-mile sprint against tide and wind, the 'Varsity winning by half a length in 2 minutes and 36 seconds. The freshman eight, the freshman four, and the "Pawtucket" four practiced racing starts under the gun.

The regatta will informally open tomorrow with a mile race between the Harvard and Yale freshman fours. The race will start at 4:30 o'clock, conditions permitting. There will also be two other informal races. The "Pawtucket four," composed of substitutes, will race a Crimson scrub four for a mile. The line-ups will probably be:

Harvard—Stroke, Bush; 3, Herrick; 2, Lovell; bow, Baker; coxswain, Cobb.

Pawtucket—Stroke, Sanderson; 3, Oakes; 2, Robb; bow, Morse; coxswain, Pratt.

Immediately after this race there will be a half-mile brush between a graduates eight. The Yale line-up will be:

Stroke, E. Livingstone; 7, H. Livingstone; 6, Low; 5, Allen; 4, Bugbee; 3, Stephenson; 2, Snowden; bow, Elwell; coxswain, Copp.

RICE WANTS A LAUNCH.

Columbia Coach Still Without Boat in Which to Follow Crews.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17.—A final shake-up was made in the Cornell freshman eight this afternoon by Coach Courtney. This is the last change that will be made in any of the crews from Ithaca, according to the coach. Reichert, who had been rowing at No. 7 in the shell, lost his seat, and Lund was moved down from bow to take his place. Morgan, who rowed at bow in the races against Yale and Harvard freshman eights, won back his seat at the same position that he had originally held.

The crews put in a hard day to make up for the enforced idleness of the past two days, when the wind made the boating of the frail boats dangerous and sometimes out of the question. The weather was cool and the water like a millpond, and three of the coaches seized the opportunity to send their crews over the course under the watch.

Columbia's crews are suffering the only drawback to the training of the navies. Jim Rice is still without the services of a launch in spite of the desperate efforts being made in New York to get a boat up to him, and he has had to make the best of it by running along the shore and following his eights with field glasses.

CLUB TOPSAIL ON RESOLUTE

Cup Defender Will Be Towed to New London Today.

BRISTOL, R. I., June 17.—A club topsail of new shape was tried out on the cup yacht Resolute today and the results were so satisfactory that she was pronounced ready for next week's racing. She will leave in tow tomorrow for New London. The new topsail is rather striking in design, having the upper part curved so that it resembles a hood. Five battens have been inserted in the leach of the sail. Its unusual appearance and the fact that it reaches higher than the sail formerly carried by the Resolute will make her easily conspicuous among the other cup fliers.

After an hour's trial of the new sail with a Herreshoff mainsail in Narragansett Bay, the yacht returned to the harbor and the crew immediately stripped off her canvas in preparation for the trip into Lond Island Sound. A mainsail by another maker was also tried, but was found to be too large.

English County Cricket Results.

At Northampton—Sussex beat Northampton by 241 runs.

At Tonbridge—Kent beat Hampshire by 83 runs.

At Lords—Middlesex beat Lancashire by 76 runs.

At Dewsbury—Warwickshire drew with Yorkshire.

SMITH'S GROSS SCORE BEST

Country Club of Glen Ridge Holds Invitation Golf Tournament.

Something unusual in the way of golf competition was provided yesterday at the Country Club of Glen Ridge. It was called an invitation tournament, but conditions provided for a thirty-six-hole handicap, in which eighty-four members of visiting clubs participated, the remainder of 147 entries being Glen Ridge golfers.

The best gross score was the 164 of Harry D. Smith of the home club, who first went round in 82, and duplicated the feat in the afternoon. G. D. White of the home club, with a card of 203, 60—143, won the thirty-six-hole net prize. A special award was offered for the visitor who had the best net for eighteen holes, the honor falling to Wharton Green of Baltusrol, with 82, 9—73. Among the home players, J. F. Capen was the winner with 98, 25—73.

The best single round was the 79 of Roy D. Webb of Englewood. Webb went out in 37, but faltered a trifle on the inward journey, due largely to extra tries for the cup, and required 42. The scores:

G. D. White, Glen Ridge, 203, 60—143; J. F. Capen, Glen Ridge, 196, 50—146; W. H. Le Messena, Glen Ridge, 179, 30—149; J. B. Hosford, Upper Montclair, 196, 46—150; Harry D. Smith, Glen Ridge, 164, 12—152; R. C. Stevens, Glen Ridge, 191, 38—153; Charles Ames, Glen Ridge, 182, 28—154; R. N. Scheffley, Glen Ridge, 182, 28—154; George B. Martin, Glen Ridge, 167, 12—155; A. G. Braine, Glen Ridge, 199, 44—155; Wharton Green, Baltusrol, 174, 18—156; F. W. Dyer, Montclair, 170, 14—156; J. E. Beggs, Glen Ridge, 186, 30—156; Clarence Place, Glen Ridge, 173, 16—157; L. N. Olds, Glen Ridge, 193, 36—157; Charles Schwinn, Glen Ridge, 196, 28—158; J. C. Dana, Forest Hill, 190, 32—158; Otto Hincke, Glen Ridge, 203, 44—159; T. E. Oliver, Montclair, 211, 52—159; E. W. Congdon, Glen Ridge, 179, 20—159; Roy D. Webb, Englewood, 168, 8—160; H. J. Frost, Glen Ridge, 211, 50—161; G. E. Lancaster, Glen Ridge, 194, 32—162; N. H. Paten, Glen Ridge, 206, 44—162; B. C. Donham, Glen Ridge, 229, 66—163.

H. B. McLean, Glen Ridge, 193—30—163; T. J. Carlin, Upper Montclair, 199—36—163; Hugh Adair, Upper Montclair, 183—20—163; H. M. Walker, Glen Ridge, 234—70—164; W. G. Thomas, Glen Ridge, 181—16—165; H. de Matty, Upper Montclair, 185—20—165; E. A. White, Glen Ridge, 209—44—165; Osborne Lawes, Upper Montclair, 180—14—166; C. N. Billings, Montclair, 206—40—166; Marvin D. Rae, Montclair, 190—24—166; T. L. Gallagher, Montclair, 191—24—167; J. W. Escher, Englewood, 185—18—167; J. B. Kremer, Montclair, 192—24—168; A. de Z. Paton, Ridgewood, 206—38—168; L. E. McCoy, Glen Ridge, 204—34—170; F. H. Crawford, Montclair, 202—32—170; R. A. Gussman, Forest Hill, 185—14—171; A. S. Chatfield, Flushing, 222—50—172; E. R. Chatfield, Flushing, 226—54—172; Wood McKee, Arcola, 206—34—172; E. A. Dana, Upper Montclair, 209—36—173; E. S. Lawes, Upper Montclair, 206—32—174; C. H. Miller, Upper Montclair, 226—52—174; A. H. Gussman, Forest Hill, 195—20—175; T. G. Smith, Flushing, 207—32—175; E. A. Townley, Dunwoodie, 214—36—178; George H. Mallieu, North Jersey, 203—20—183; E. M. Stout, Oak Hill, 220—36—184; Arthur Gray, Baltusrol, 227—38—189.

GOLFER TRAVERS RETURNS.

Champion Says Several British Golfers May Come for National Tourney.

Several British amateur golfers probably will come to America to compete in the national championship tournament next September at Ekwanok, Vt. Word to this effect was brought yesterday by Jerome D. Travers, the American title holder, who returned on the Olympic from abroad. He could not say who would be likely to compose the party, nor was he even sure that Great Britain would be represented.

In speaking of his early elimination from the British championship at Sandwich at the hands of C. A. Palmer, Travers declared it was merely because he played poorly.

Another important piece of news brought over by Travers was that in all likelihood the conditions governing the British championship will be changed in another year to somewhat resemble the American plan. When told that Harold Hilton had favored the adoption of the American plan, Travers declared he thoroughly agreed with it. "The thirty-six hole match is much fairer than the eighteen. The true golfer rarely loses over the double route. I understand, at any rate, that there will be a qualifying round of thirty-six holes as a means of reducing the field for match play. Of course, no definite action has been taken as yet. I'm merely repeating the talk I heard."

Travers said that if good wishes and a hearty reception could have aided him he would have brought home the title. "I have never been more delightfully treated," he said.

Owing to the death of his brother recently, it is not likely the champion will play any golf until just prior to the national championship.

MRS. FAITH GOLF VICTOR.

Metropolitan Women Hold One-Day Tournament at Scarsdale.

Leading a field of more than forty players, Mrs. W. J. Faith of Wykagyl was the star of the one-day golf tournament under the auspices of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association on the links of the Scarsdale Golf and Country Club yesterday. Her gross of 89 won that prize, and her handicap of 3 gave her a net of 86, but as she could not take two prizes, it left the net prize for Mrs. H. W. Ely of Scarsdale, with a card of 109, 20—89. Besides the regular handicap there was a mixed foursomes competition in which a four-cornered tie resulted.

Rotan Wins Lynnewood Cup.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—George V. Rotan of Texas won possession of the Lynnewood Golf Cup today on the links of the Huntingdon Valley Country Club when he defeated Howard W. Perrin of this city 1 up in the final round of the tournament. Both of the contestants played exceptional golf, Rotan's card showing 76, only one stroke more than the course record, while Perrin did the 18 holes in 77. In the semi-final round Rotan defeated Howard B. McCall 5 up and 3 to play, while Perrin won from George A. Crump 1 up.

NO CHANGE IN LIST FOR BERLIN GAMES

Tug-of-War, Steeplechase, and Walking Retained in Olympic Programme.

PARIS, June 17.—The programme of athletics for the Olympic games to be held in Berlin in 1916 was settled by the International Olympic Congress today when the events chosen by the Congress of the International Amateur Athletic Federation in Berlin in August, 1913, were adopted.

Germany at the last moment decided not to bring forward its original proposal to eliminate the tug-of-war, the steeplechase, and the walking.

The only new suggestion made at the meeting was to include weight lifting in the athletics, but the proposition was rejected.

The distance of the Marathon race in Berlin was fixed at 42 kilometers, or 26 miles and about 150 yards. At Stockholm the distance run was 25 miles, while the original Marathon was 26 miles 385 yards.

A lively discussion was foreshadowed as to the number of competitors allowed to each nation in track and field events. The United States demands that twelve should be permitted to enter and six to start, but the smaller athletic nations and some distant countries, notably Australia, have declared their intention of endeavoring to limit the number of competitors to three.

The track and field events are to be run under the rules of the International Amateur Athletic Federation adopted by the recent congress at Lyons.

A considerable difference of opinion was found to exist on the question of gymnastics, and a committee was formed to discuss and present to the congress a scheme for gymnastic competitions.

The congress adjourned in order that the delegates might attend the reception given in their honor by President Poincaré in the afternoon.

BAGGS BEATS HARTMANN.

Reversal of Form in Amacassin Club Men's Tennis Tournament.

Ingo Hartmann showed a complete reversal of form in his match with Ralph L. Baggs in the third round of the men's singles tennis tournament of the Amacassin Club at Yonkers, and as a result was eliminated from competition. When darkness stopped the match on Tuesday night Hartmann had captured the first set 12—10, while the second was 6—6. On the resumption of play Hartmann played wretchedly. He double-faulted repeatedly, played outside of the court and missed many openings, while Baggs steadied considerably. Hartmann carried the second set to 10—8, but in the third went to pieces and Baggs won with ease. The summary:

Women's Singles.—First Round—Miss E. Robinson, defeated Miss Gothell by default.

Second Round—Mrs. E. M. Barnes defeated Miss Eliza Hamilton by default; Miss Clare Cassel defeated Miss H. R. Punnett by default; Miss Katherine Browning defeated Miss E. Robinson, 8—6, 6—2; Miss Marjorie Browning defeated Miss Natalie Browning, 6—1, 4—6, 8—6; Miss Rawson Wood defeated Miss Miller by default.

Second Round—W. S. Andrews defeated S. P. Fuller, 6—3, 6—1; S. H. Rowe defeated G. Brinkerhoff by default; Allen H. Behr defeated Ely M. Behar by default.

Third Round—W. S. Andrews defeated S. H. Rowe, 6—3, 6—3; T. B. Hunter defeated Allen H. Behr, 6—2, 6—1; Ralph L. Baggs defeated Ingo Hartmann, 10—12, 10—8, 6—2.

Men's Doubles.—First Round—A. J. Ostendorf and Ralph L. Baggs defeated K. G. Herker, Jr., and E. Burghard, 6—2, 6—2; R. J. Crowley and F. H. Rowe defeated George Brinkerhoff and partner, by default.

Women's Doubles.—First Round—Miss Bessie C. Holden and Mrs. Humphrey defeated Mrs. L. G. Morris and Miss Katherine Force, 2—6, 6—3, 6—3; Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Clare Cassel defeated Miss Marjorie Browning and Miss Katherine Browning, 8—6, 6—1; Miss Helen Bernhard and partner defeated Miss Ann Hamilton and Miss Aleta Hamilton, by default; Miss De Gersdorff and Mrs. Blanchard defeated Miss Dick and Mrs. Rawson Wood, 2—6, 6—2, 6—3; Mrs. Lyle Mahan and Miss Miller defeated Mrs. Shafer and Miss E. Robinson, by default.

Second Round—Miss Bessie C. Holden and Mrs. Humphreys defeated Miss Rossier and Miss Butler, 6—1, 6—0; Miss Marjorie Browning and Miss Lumis defeated Miss Hall and Miss Hall, 6—1, 4—6, 6—3

Mixed Doubles.—First Round—Miss Clare Cassel and Ralph L. Baggs defeated Mrs. Blanchard and Dr. Niles, 6—1, 6—2.

Reich and Fritts in Ring Tonight.

Al Reich and "Sailor" Fred Fritts will box tonight in the ten-round main event at the Stadium A. C., and a knockout before the limit is reached is being freely predicted by those who are familiar with the fighting qualities of both men. The semi-final of ten rounds will bring together two slugging middleweights, Eddie Nearing and Tommy Teague, who retired from the navy, middleweight champion.

Second Ritchie-Welsh Bout.

LONDON, June 17.—Willie Ritchie and Fred Welsh, the American and British lightweight boxers, today signed articles for another twenty-round contest to be fought in London between Nov. 4 and Nov. 11 this year, the exact date to be fixed within twenty-four hours.

Miss Leitch's French Golf Title.

VERSAILLES, France, June 17.—Miss Cecil Leitch, holder of the British women's golf championship, today won the French women's championship by defeating Miss Gladys Bastin, also an English woman, by 2 up and 1 to play. The match was played over the course at La Boulie.

TENNIS CHAMPION LOSES.

Murray Defeats Washburn in the Metropolitan Title Tournament.

Watson M. Washburn, the former Harvard Captain and playing through champion, was defeated by R. Lindley Murray of the Leland Stanford University in the fourth round of the Metropolitan championship in men's singles yesterday on the courts of the West Side Lawn Tennis Club, at Forest Hills, L. I. The champion's defeat was unexpected, as his previous victories over Dean Mathey and G. A. L. Dionne showed him in excellent form, while the Californian's court work since his Eastern début has not been of a calibre to warrant the downfall of Washburn.

Harold H. Hackett, Captain of the 1913 American Davis Cup team, with his old partner, F. B. Alexander, defeated S. Howard Voshell and Frederick C. Baggs, the Bronx champions. The match went to three sets, Hackett and Alexander taking the third and deciding set after vantage had been called. The winners are the first to qualify for the semi-finals. The summary:

Metropolitan Championship Men's Singles.—Third Round—Frederick B. Alexander defeated R. L. Baggs, 6—3, 6—2; Robert Le Roy defeated R. B. Gatcomb, 6—3, 6—2.

Fourth Round—Frederick B. Alexander defeated Dr. William Rosenbaum, 6—2, 6—2; Robert Le Roy defeated George C. Shafer, 6—4, 0—6, 6—2; George M. Church defeated Charles M. Bull, Jr., 6—1, 6—4.

Fifth Round—Frederick B. Alexander defeated Benjamin M. Phillips, 6—1, 6—3; Robert Le Roy defeated Alfred M. Hammett, 6—2, 1—6, 6—1; George M. Church defeated Louis Graves, 6—2, 6—2; R. Lindley Murray defeated Watson M. Washburn, 4—6, 6—1, 6—3.

Metropolitan Championship, Men's Doubles.—First Round—Count Otto Salm and George Aranyi defeated J. T. Harrison and W. Hobart, 6—2, 6—3; Theodore R. Pell and Karl H. Behr defeated George S. Groesbeck and Harry S. Parker, 6—2, 6—3; W. D. Cunningham and G. A. L. Dionne defeated E. L. Robinson and Leslie V. Robinson, 6—2, 6—4; G. G. Moore and J. H. A. Williams defeated Lewis G. Morris and Mr. Irving by default; Arthur S. Cragin and W. A. Campbell defeated Dr. Ewing Taylor and F. T. Frelinghuysen, 1—6, 6—4, 6—2; Dr. William Rosenbaum and Benjamin M. Phillips defeated Count Alex Salm and partner, by default.

Second Round.—George M. Church and Dean Mathey defeated Alan Tobey and partner by default; Theodore R. Pell and Karl H. Behr defeated Count Otto Salm and George Aranyi, 6—3, 6—1; W. D. Cunningham and G. A. L. Dionne defeated G. Y. Moore and J. H. A. Williams, 6—2, 3—6, 7—5; Watson M. Washburn and Charles M. Bull, Jr., defeated Arthur S. Cragin and W. A. Campbell, 6—4, 0—6, 6—1; George C. Shafer and King Smith defeated Dr. William Rosenbaum and Benjamin M. Phillips, 6—3, 6—2; S. Howard Voshell and Frederick C. Baggs defeated Hugh Tallant and F. Runyon, 6—1, 6—1.

Third Round.—Harold H. Hackett and Frederick B. Alexander defeated S. Howard Voshell and Frederick C. Baggs, 6—4, 2—6, 7—5.

Hobey Baker to Write on Athletics.

Hobart A. H. Baker, hockey and football star of Princeton University, and a classmate, Rolf W. Bauhahn, will sail tomorrow from New York for an extended tour of Europe. On the trip the two Princetonians will attend all the important athletic events in England and on the Continent. They are due to arrive at Southampton, June 27, and will tour England and the Continent by motor cycle, during which time they will write interesting articles on athletic conditions for THE TIMES.

Metropolitan's Annual Regatta.

The thirty-fourth annual regatta of the Metropolitan Rowing Club will be held Saturday afternoon off the float of the clubhouse, Harlem River and McComb's Dam Park. Twelve events have been scheduled, including an eight-oared barge race with women passengers. The finish of all the races will be directly off the clubhouse, so as to afford all the members and their friends a good view. The feature will be the appearance of H. Heller, the young sculler who made such a good impression in the Memorial Day races, who will try to prove his title as the champion sculler of the club in the event for the President's medal.

Lie-a-Bed Was Up and Running.

LONDON, June 17.—J. East's three-year-old Lie-a-Bed today won the Royal Hunt Cup, one of the most coveted prizes at the Ascot race meeting. Braxted was second and Honeywood third. A field of twenty-five runners turned out for the race, which was over a distance of 7 furlongs 166 yards. The cup is valued at $1,250, to which is added $7,750 and a sweepstake of $100 each.

Notes of the Turf.

James Butler's handhome filly, Marion H., which ran second to her stable companion, Catalina, in the race for the Fashion Stakes at Belmont Park on Tuesday, pulled up lame in the paddock and may have to go into temporary retirement. Horsemen believed her to be one of the top-notchers among the youngsters.

It cost F. D. Weir $500 to retain Edith W. in his stable after she had won the second race yesterday. J. W. Marquette, Jr., owner of Muskmelon, which ran in the same race, bid her up to $1,200, when she was offered for sale at the end of the run, and Mr. Weir only saved her for his string by another bid of $5.

Jockey McCabe has been set down for the rest of the meeting for misbehavior at the post and disobedience of the orders of Starter Cassidy. The offense was committed while he was riding Louise Travers.

To Race at Belmont Park Today.

FIRST RACE.—For two-year-old maidens; five furlongs, straight. George Roesch, King Simon, Vanitie, Double Eagle, and Celery Jack, 110 pounds each; Andromeda, 107.

WEIR HORSES FIRST IN THREE RACES

And Jockey Butwell Rides Three Thoroughbreds to Victory at Belmont Park.

Possibly the reason why F. D. Weir won only three races at Belmont Park yesterday was because he had no entries in the other three. He started off the day by winning with Miss Fielder, Edith W., and Type, and then his entries for the day were cleaned up and he had to stop his winning career. Jockey Butwell put three winners across the line in Type, Flittergold, and Guy Fisher, and the little apprentice boy, Marco, added two more races to the three he had previously won at the meeting, a performance that is making people take notice of this stable lad, who seems to have the making of a good jockey in him. Kederis, the young Western jockey, is still in the lead, with twelve winning mounts, but Butwell now presses him closely with ten. Kederis had four mounts yesterday, but got into the money but once, when he landed Dervish in third place, finishing absolutely last with his other three horses. The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For two-year-olds; selling allowances; $400 added. Five furlongs, straight. Time—1.00 3-5.

SOME men simply order "silk socks." It's all a matter of judgment.

But mark this:

Interwovens are the only silk socks which are shaped with a tapering-in ankle—and no seams. They are also the only silk socks which are wear-proofed at the toe, heel, sole and ankle by the exclusive Interwoven process, which triples their durability.

The man who demands Interwovens gets the silk socks that wear and fit; his friend who simply orders "silk socks" gets a sock that has no protection against wear save the gentleness of his footsteps.

All fashionable shades. Pure thread silk, 50c. Lisle, 25c, 35c, 50c.

Be sure they are marked Interwoven. The best wearing sock ever made.

THE

INSIDE, BACK-STAIRS STORY FROM THE FALL OF DIAZ TO THE PRESENT TIME

A newspaper editor of Mexico City, who was in the secrets on different sides, has just made public the inside history of the whole series of events from the fall of Diaz to the present time: the part played by great financial interests, the reasons for the failure of Madero, the motives and conspiracies which brought about the revolution, the murder of Madero, and Huerta's part in that tragedy; the first clearly stated intimate report of the whole Mexican muddle. Reviewed next Sunday in The New York Times. Readers who wish to keep informed can hardly afford to miss this feature.

"Pogrom" means pillage or riot, and has been applied to the authorization of riot conducted with the connivance or veiled approval of the authorities. The Russian Government excused the pogroms by saying that the Russian insurrections were of Jewish rather than of Russian origin. This is the subject of Kurt Aram's article which will be published in The New York Times next Sunday. It is an instructive paper written without bias or prejudice by a distinguished German investigator, and gives an intelligent idea of Russian Government conditions as applied to her Jewish population.

10,000 Miles and Still Going

"This tyre (pointing to an Englebert on the front right wheel of a Mercedes 45) ran 5,000 miles on the rear wheel in Europe. Altogether it has done better than 10,000 miles. You see that it is a good tyre even now."

So reports a party interviewed recently who did not know that Engleberts were on sale in America.

MATHEWSON PITCHES SHUT-OUT GAME--POLO CHALLENGE PROBABLE

PIRATES GET FIVE HITS AND NO RUNS

Outfielder Dave Robertson, the youngster recently placed in right field for the Giants, continues to be the sensation at the Polo Grounds. Notwithstanding Mathewson had recovered his control and cunning since the last game he pitched and lost, Robertson held the keen eyes of the spectators on his big, fine, athletic form through his general excellence both in the field and at the bat.

The Giants had little trouble in defeating the Pirates 5 to 0, allowing them only five hits, but Robertson's whizzing hit over McCarthy's head in the sixth inning with the bases filled with Giants was the most pleasing bit of work accomplished by the young giant. His drive brought in two runs and clinched the victory. Earlier in the game Robertson got a single, and his general style of fast play and confidence stamps him as a mighty good product of the minor leagues who will never go back there again if he keeps it up like he has this week.

Bob Bescher, who distinguished himself by stealing home; Milton Stock, George Burns, Larry Doyle, and the Peerless Matty all did their share to dazzle the backsliding Buccaneers. The Giants looked more like champions than they have since their return home from the Western trip, and simply outclassed Fred Clarke's crew. Matty pitched a typical Mathewson game, and not once was there danger of Pittsburgh scoring.

In only two innings—the third and fourth—did more than three batters face the Old Master in one inning. Runners who got to base in the other innings were doubled or killed off on the bases before the fourth man up had finished at the plate.

The Giants got their first run in the first inning. Bob Bescher doubled to left field and then stole third. He scored on Burns's drive over Wagner's head.

Robertson started off the second inning well by hitting the first ball pitched for a single and went to second on Stock's sacrifice, but was left stranded there when Meyers and Mathewson flied out.

Bescher started the sixth by getting a base on balls. Burns sacrificed him along to second. Fletcher got a single, which advanced Bescher to third. Merkle got a base on balls, filling the bases. There were two out when Robertson came up. McQuillen and Gibson, the Pirate battery, had a conference on the Ulster situation at this point, which lasted for several minutes, until Umpire Bill Klem ordered them to proceed with the game. McQuillen seemed to be much more anxious to talk than to pitch to Robertson. He was not kept in suspense very long, however, for Robertson caught the second ball thrown to him and drove it over McCarthy's head, scoring Bescher and Fletcher.

Bescher gave the Pirates the unkindest cut of all when he stole home in the seventh inning, with the third run he had scored in the game. He got on by a base on balls, stole second, and went to third on Gibson's bad throw to second. Burns, who followed him, also got a base on balls and stole second. While McQuillen was winding up to throw one to Fletcher, Bescher started home, and slid into the plate safely. The pitched ball had carried Gibson to the outside of the plate, and when he recovered from his astonishment at seeing the runner coming in and threw himself across, the New York man had arrived safely in a cloud of dust. Burns stole third at the same time, and came in with New York's last run when Fletcher singled. The score:

Baseball Pool Is Illegal.

BOSTON, June 17.—The so-called baseball pool was declared illegal by the Supreme Court today in a decision affirming the conviction in the Superior Court of two Watertown men for violating the statutes prohibiting the keeping of a room for registering bets and buying and selling pools. The defendants contended that their system of offering weekly prizes to the persons naming the major league teams making the greatest total of runs was not in violation of the law.

Daubert and Cutshaw Fined.

Capt. Jake Daubert and Second Baseman Cutshaw of the Brooklyn Baseball Club were yesterday fined $25 each for disputing the umpire's decisions in Tuesday's game.

Pitcher E. J. Pfeffer of Brooklyn signed a contract yesterday covering 1915 and 1916. Pitcher Bill Wagner of the same club was released to Toronto of the International League and Outfielder George Walsh was sent to the Toronto Canadian League Club.

DODGERS WIN IN TENTH.

Fischer Gets Winning Run on Pass, Steal, Scratch Hit, and an Error.

Brooklyn took a ten-inning game from Cincinnati, 2 to 1, yesterday at Ebbets Field after a pitchers' battle that was marked by much wrangling. Both Pfeffer and Douglass were effective, the former allowing only three hits and the latter getting eleven strikeouts.

After Dalton walked in the seventh, Wheat hit to Groh and a double play was apparently easy, but Umpire Eason called both runners safe. Herzog, Clarke, and Coacher Mullaney were ordered off the field, and Umpire Quigley was forced to pull out his watch before the visitors would resume play. Dalton scored on a passed ball by Gonzales, who had displaced Clarke. Cincinnati tied the game in the eighth on a pass, a hit batter, and O'Mara's error.

Brooklyn won in the tenth, when Fischer walked, stole second, took third on Pfeffer's scratch hit, and scored on Berghammer's error. A one-handed catch by Dalton featured the game. The score:

DETROIT PITCHERS EASY FOR YANKEES

Two Tiger Boxmen Last Three Innings and New York Wins, 4 to 3.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., June 17.—The Yankees batted Pitchers Cavet and Hall so hard in the first three rounds of today's game that they took a lead the Tigers could not quite overcome, winning 4 to 3. Apparently Manager Jennings believed that any pitcher was good enough to beat New York, forgetting that in the three games Detroit had won here they had made a total of only ten runs. So he displayed Cavet. The Yanks welcomed him with glee, "frisking" him for three hits and two runs and sending him to the bench in one inning. Hall got by in the second, chiefly because he had the bottom of the batting order to face. In the third he suffered exactly what Cavet did, three hits, two runs, and retirement. When Main went in the box the New Yorks rested from their scoring activities and Detroit began a handicap race. It was New York's first victory over Detroit this season.

They had taken a tally in the second inning on Veach's personal contact with the ball and Kavanaugh's three-bagger. In the third a pass and a single put Cobb on third and a foozled double steal put him out.

Only nine Tigers batted in the succeeding three rounds. In the seventh a very bad muff by Williams gave Burns a life with one out. Stanage sent him to third with a line drive to right field, and Jennings sent High to bat for Main. High sent a blazing liner to Truesdale, who quietly doubled Stanage off first.

After Nunamaker had thrown out Bush in the eighth, Moriarty doubled and finished on Cobb's single. Cobb took second on the throw to the plate. Crawford, who is of no value in a pinch lately, struck out, and Veach grounded out.

Detroit came very close to tying it up in the ninth. Kavanaugh and Burns singled in succession and Stanage sacrificed, putting runners on second and third. Caldwell was called in to save the game. He struck out Dubuc, Bush sent a single to left, but singles are not always good for a score from second base. Daley made a lightning throw to the plate, as perfect as it was swift, and Nunamaker got Burns by ten feet. Kavanaugh had scored, but that did not matter. Truesdale and Peckinpaugh were the Yanks who made the circuit in the opening inning. Truesdale got on by forcing Boone, who had singled. Peckinpaugh's single put Truesdale on third, and Hartzell's pass filled the bases. Holden sent in the two runs with a hit to left. Daley spoiled the fusillade by hitting to Moriarty with fatal result to Hartzell, who tried to come in. That finished Cavet, however.

Hall was the next victim. He escaped the second inning with but one hit registered. After Peckinpaugh had lined in the third, Hartzell walked, Holden singled, and Daley beat a bunt, filling all stations. Nunamaker here dropped a ball out near the fence and took two bases on it, Hartzell and Holden scoring. When Williams hit to Moriarty Daley tried to run the blockade from third, but was captured, ending New York's run getting. The score:

Magee's Long Hit Beats Cardinals.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17. — Home runs and doubles were numerous in today's game, which was won by Philadelphia in the tenth inning by 5 to 4, when Becker singled, Lobert sacrificed, and Sherwood Magee drove the ball into the bleachers for a two-bagger. It was Magee's fourth double in five times at bat. Of St. Louis's nine hits five were doubles, and one a home run by Wilson. Philadelphia's ten safeties included a home run by Becker and four two-baggers. The score:

Senators Lose to Naps Again.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 17.—The locals beat Washington today, 7 to 2, and made a clean sweep of the four-game series. Al Collamore pitched well, although he was in trouble several times. Shaw was ineffective after the fourth inning. Manager Birmingham of the Naps was ejected from the field by Umpire Dineen when he objected to a decision. Fans in the bleachers threw pop bottles at Dineen as he followed Birmingham to the subway. Score:

Champions Get One Hit Off Faber.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Urban Faber held the world's champions to one hit today and blanked the league leaders by 5 to 0. Catcher Lapp was the only member of the world's champions to hit safely. An error of judgment by Blackburn was what cost Faber the honor of a no-hit game. Lapp grounded toward second base in the ninth inning, and Blackburn, instead of coming in on the ball, ran back a few steps, and Lapp beat the throw by a narrow margin. Blackburn fumbled Walsh's grounder, and Kopf, who ran for Lapp, reached third, the only visitor to pass second base. Chicago won the game by bunching hits off Brown and Bressler, taking advantage of the visitors' erratic fielding and a couple of bases on balls off Brown. Eddie Collins, although charged with two errors, played a sensational game in the field. Blackburn, Faber, and Demmitt contributed fielding sensations for the locals. Score:

AMERICA TO SEND POLO CHALLENGE

It Is Expected a New Team Will Be Developed for Match in England.

Through the gloom of America's defeat at polo followers of the game are looking forward to next year with the hope of sending a team to Hurlingham to try to recapture the Westchester Cup which Lord Wimborne's plucky military team is taking back to England. There is no doubt that the Polo Association will challenge, probably some time in January. After the decisive defeat of the men who have for so many years upheld America's reputation at polo it will be necessary to develop an entirely new team.

The most promising players outside of the Meadow Brook four is the Cooperstown team, which won the senior championship last season. Phipps, Webb, Beadleston, and Stevenson, it is believed, will take the title again this season, and as their game has improved wonderfully during the past few seasons polo followers believe that this combination will eventually develop into a team which will compare with the "Big Four."

Next season it is believed that Louis Stoddard will be back in the game. His work in the international match last year stamped him as a player of much ability, and with him and Milburn as a nucleus for a team America's outlook for next year is not so discouraging as many people try to make out.

The downfall of the American team was the one topic of conversation among the Long Island clubs yesterday. The English players had a quiet day at the Phipps place at Westbury. They went over to Meadow Brook in the afternoon and witnessed the games in the Meadow Brook tournament. The English ponies will be taken to Piping Rock today and be shipped back to England on Saturday.

About fifteen of the English mounts are for sale, and most of them will probably be sold. Yesterday two sales were made. Peppercorn, Capt. Cheape's Irish-bred pony, was bought by Fred H. Prince of Boston, and Louis Stoddard bought Niblick, an English mount, which was ridden by Capt. Cheape in the international matches.

None of the players suffered from Tuesday's gruelling match with the exception of Capt. Cheape, who has a wrenched leg which bothers him somewhat. Monte Waterbury has a smashed hand from a blow from an English mallet. Milburn, who played like a lion for the Americans, came through without a scratch.

There is much gossip among horsemen about the showing of the American ponies. They did not come up to expectations and were not in as fine condition as they were in the former international matches. This is explained by many by the fact that the training campaign of the ponies was too much of a strain on them.

DINNER FOR POLO PLAYERS.

English and American Teams Banquetted at Meadow Brook Club.

The victorious English polo team and the Meadow Brook four sat side by side at a dinner given by the Meadow Brook Club at the clubhouse in Westbury last night. The clubhouse was decorated with American and English flags and both victors and vanquished fraternized and talked over the great game of Tuesday.

Lord Wimborne had much to say about the fine sportsmanship of the Americans in postponing the match after Capt. Cheape had been injured. He praised the playing of the Americans and stated that he hoped to see the Americans invade England next year.

The Westchester Cup, the polo trophy, had a conspicuous place in the centre of the table and after each of the players had drunk each other's health from the big silver bowl, the guests stood up and sang "America" and "Rule Britannia."

The guests invited included Lord Wimborne, the Duke of Penaranda, Capt. Leslie St. C. Cheape, Capt. Vivian Lockett, Major Barrett, Capt. Tomkinson, and John Traill of the English party, Rene La Montagne, Devereux Milburn, Lawrence Waterbury, and Monte Waterbury, Malcolm Stevenson, Louis E. Stoddard, C. C. Rumsey, Joshua Crane, K. B. Marsham, Harry Payne Whitney, H. C. Phipps, John Phipps, and William A. Hazard.

DROP POLO SEAT SCANDAL.

No Call for Action Issued by Persons Aggrieved.

The scandal attending the sale of tickets for the recent polo games by speculators will not be thrashed out openly by the Polo Association. It is admitted that many seats reached the speculators, but officials of the organization say they got them from hotel and other agencies at the stipulated advance of 50 cents a seat.

If ticket purchasers intend to take any action against the Polo Association they have not got together. So far no meeting has been called.

J. N. Emley, attorney for William H. Hall, who failed to get the tickets he bought and who found others in the seats last Saturday, said yesterday that he knew of no plan to get the people with complaints together.

The Polo Association has employed detectives to discover how Mr. Hall's seats fell into other hands. They have the names of the persons who occupied the seats.

Polo for Hempstead Cups.

Two games were played yesterday in the polo tournament for the Hempstead Cup at Meadow Brook, and among the spectators were Capt. Cheape and Capt. Lockett of the Hurlingham team. In the first match the Philadelphia Freebooters, handicaped at 5, defeated the Piping Rock Club by a score of 9¾ to 8¼. W. F. Dillingham of Honolulu played with the Piping Rock team. He is the owner of the pony, Carry the News, which was used by the American team against England. Mr. Dillingham played a rough game, and three fouls were called on him by Referee J. C. Cooley.

In the second game the Great Neck Grasshoppers were defeated by the Meadow Brook Speeders by a score of 8 to 7½. The Meadow Brook team conceded 9 points' handicap.

HARVARD DEFEATS YALE.

Series Tied and Deciding Game Will Be Played in Boston Saturday.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 17. — Harvard today revenged her defeat by Yale at New Haven yesterday, winning before a gay commencement crowd, 7 to 3. The series, now tied, will be decided in a third game, to be played at Fenwick Park in Boston on Saturday.

The game was close during the early innings. Advantage rested first with Harvard on a run scored on Cornish's error, Gile's wild pitch, and a double steal, on which Capt. Wingate crossed the plate. Then the lead went to Yale through two tallies resulting from a pass, Hanes's hit, a fielder's choice, and two wild pitches by Mahan. The advantage was with Harvard again, when two runs were scored, largely because of errors by Falsey and Cornish.

Harvard had made their scores without getting a hit off Gile, but in the fifth the Crimson bats cracked out four hits, one a triple by Nash, and three runs were added to the score. Another run came in the seventh inning, when Gile was taken out after two hits had been made and Ayres sent up a sacrifice fly off Brown, who succeeded Gile.

Yale added a third run to its score in the eighth on Clark's error, Middlebrook's steal, an infielder, and Cornish's sacrifice fly. In the ninth the Blue filled the bases, with two out, only to have Hanes strike out before Mahan's fast breaking shoots.

Harvard lost the services of its first strong catcher, Walter Mann, when he broke a finger on a foul tip in the second inning. Clark's throwing hand was injured when he was struck by a pitched ball in the fifth. The score:

Dartmouth, 12; Rennselaer, 4.

Special to The New York Times.

TROY, N. Y., June 17.—In a fast game featured by heavy hitting at times by both teams and some sensational fielding Dartmouth defeated Rennselaer Poly today by a score of 12 to 4. Parrott started the pitching for Dartmouth, but was pounded for four hits in the sixth inning, one of which was a three-bagger, and he was displaced by Taven, who kept the hits well scattered until the end of the final round. Merrick for Rennselaer, although hit rather heavily at times, pitched excellent ball. The score by innings:

New First Baseman for White Sox.

CHICAGO, June 17.—"Cy" Farrell, first baseman of the University of Notre Dame team, was signed by the Chicago Americans today. It is expected he will prove a worthy candidate for the job soon to be vacated by Hal Chase, but has rivals in Tom Daly and Jacques Fournier.

Kramer and Cavanagh Win.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., June 17.—The team composed of Frank L. Kramer, American champion, and Frank Cavanagh, the Newark cyclist, proved the best in the one-mile professional team match at the Newark Velodrome tonight, the pair winning the race in straight heats. The American riders were opposed by the Australians, Alfred Grenda and Alfred Goullet, on one team and Walter Rutt and A. Jackie Clark, another Australian, on the other. Harry Kaiser, the Bronx boy, toyed with his opponents in the two-thirds mile scratch race, winning the final heat in 1:37. Donald McDougall, the amateur champion, failed to qualify in his heat. Robert Spears and Peter Drobach, starting from the 25-yard line, won the one-mile professional tandem handicap. Martin Ryan and Jake Magin, with 75 yards, were second, and Willie Coburn and Norman Hansen, with 40 yards, were third.

Big Field for Bicycle Race.

Alfred Goullet, the Australian racer, who won the last six-day race in Madison Square Garden, has entered for the two-mile national championship bicycle race, which will be run along with the motor cycle races at Brighton Beach Saturday night. Walter Rutt of Germany, champion of the world, and Frank L. Kramer, for thirteen years the American title holder, already have entered with about forty others.

TO FIGHT "OUTLAWS."

American League Will Try to Prevent Raid on White Sox.

CHICAGO, June 17.—President Johnson declared the American League today was ready to fight the new raid on its players predicted by President Gilmore of the Federal League. Not only will the American League try to prevent Chase's playing with the Buffalo Federals, but it has already moved to prevent other White Sox from jumping, and, according to Johnson, not one of them will jump.

Ban Johnson, President of the American Baseball League, tonight said:

"I will see to it that no player who jumps, no matter how big a star he is, will ever play in organized baseball again.

"The Federal League will not get a single player from Comiskey's club. If Hal Chase jumps his contract, he will never play with the third league. All of Comiskey's players are bound by contracts that have no ten-day clause. Chase was the single exception, but if he jumps he will never be permitted to play with the Federals. We will stop him, the same way Chief Johnson was prevented from playing with the Kansas City Club."

It is understood that the ten-day clause, which has caused the recent desertion of players from organized ball, has been eliminated from the contracts of most of the White Sox, and the courts will be appealed to to prevent their breaking them, according to the American League head.

Despite denials, Chase is believed to have signed with the Buffalo Federals, and reliable information reached local newspapers this afternoon that Ray Demmitt, a White Sox outfielder, also had signed with that team, though he is not to join it until next year.

"Reb" Russell, the White Sox left-handed pitcher, is said to be negotiating with the Indianapolis Federals, having personal reasons for wanting to live in the Hoosier capital.

James Archer, the Chicago National catcher, admitted today, according to a local newspaper, that he was considering a Federal League offer.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 17.—When informed today that five members of the Chicago American League baseball team were contemplating joining the Federal League, Harry Lord, former Captain of the team, said that if they took such action he would go with them.

Lawson Wins Match Race.

Iver Lawson of Salt Lake City showed championship form in winning the five-cornered match race for professional riders at the Brighton Beach Motordrome last night. Lawson won two straight heats at one mile each in battle with Joe Fogler, who made his first appearance at the track and was cheered on by hundreds of bike fans from his home town. Fogler gamely tried to pass Lawson in each heat, but the speed and generalship of the Salt Lake rider were too much for him. Under the point system Lawson scored 10 points, Fogler 6 points, and Hill 4 points. The time was 2:11 3-5 and 2:22.

Clarence Carman of Jamaica took the motor paced match race in clever style from Menus Bedell and Percy Lawrence. Carman won the first two heats at 5 and 10 miles, his time for the first being 7 minutes, and the second 13:07 3-5.

The three-mile amateur bicycle handicap was taken by Thomas Bello of the Empire City Wheelmen, with a handicap of 275 yards. E. Baldwin, 270 yards, was second, and A. D. Dawson, 275 yards, third. Time—6:21.

Joseph Krajoki of Brooklyn took the gold medal prize in the two-thirds mile novice race, in 1:28 4-5; A. Sorentino was second.

Gus Wahlrab breezed home a winner in the one-mile open race for amateur bike riders in the good time of 2:37 2-5; Adam Byerman was second, and Alfred Lake, third.

George Sperl shot home in front of George Mercier, and John Cox in the three-mile motor-paced race by ten yards. Time was 2:26 2-5.

Mike Costello took the best two heats from Paul Ohne in their motor cycle match race at two miles, winning with some to spare in each heat. The winner's time was 1:35 2-5 and 1:43 2-5.

COLLINS HAS NOT SIGNED.

Second Baseman Merely Had Talk with Ward of Brooklyn Federals.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., June 17.—Neither Eddie Collins nor any other member of Connie Mack's Athletics has signed with the Federal League. This was established today. However, there was little or no assurance given that they would not cast their fortunes with the so-called "outlaw" organization at some future date. Those said to be concerned in jumping to the Federal ranks are Eddie Collins, second baseman; "Home Run" Baker, third baseman, and John (Stuffy) McInnis, first baseman, and a veteran pitcher, whose name has not been made public.

In a telegram received here tonight from Chicago, Eddie Collins admitted that Federal League agents have approached him and asked him for his terms. It is believed Collins named $25,000 a year for three years. Of course, with the money positively guaranteed. While Collins does not mention this in his message, it has come from an authoritative source.

Collins brands any rumor to the effect that he has signed a contract as being false. As he expressed it: "I merely had a talk with Mr. Ward of the Brooklyn Federal League club, but nothing definite was said or done."

This is the second time Collins has been approached by Federal League agents. Last Winter he turned down an offer of $50,000 for three years to jump to the Federals.

Other Athletic players who now admit they have been approached, have taken the same stand as Collins.

3 Schoolboys Pitch No-Hit Games.

BOSTON, June 17.—Three high school pitchers today achieved the aim of all twirlers, pitching a no-hit-no-run game. Al. Pierotti of Everett made this record in the annual game with Malden; Rollo F. Egan of Waltham turned back the Chelsea batsmen, and William Fitzgerald of Somersville retired Melrose with no run or hit.

Red Team Wins Squadron A Polo.

In a fast seven-period game at Van Cortlandt Park yesterday the Red team of Squadron A triumphed over the Whites by a score of 12 goals to 8.

In view of scorchers to come, there's much talk abroad about quarter-lined and skeleton-lined suits, such as we've featured for years.

We welcome their increasing popularity, for without heavy linings or stiffening to hold coats in shape, our standards of fabrics and tailoring stand out stronger than ever.

Without the best of fabrics, the most skillful cutting and sewing, a skeleton lined suit, after a short term of wear, is apt to become "a skeleton in the closet."

Summer suits, anywhere from full to quarter lined, $18 to $45.

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1914.

CITY TAX VALUATIONS.

Yesterday it was reported that owners of property valued at $8,500,000 applied for reductions of their assessments. Almost one-half is accounted for by a single building, but there were numbers of modest properties in the list, which is all too long as a sign of sentiment among taxpayers. No doubt part of the response is due to the encouragement of the assessing authorities. They issued a formal invitation, and made its acceptance easy by the preparation of blanks to be used for the purpose. Their object is not to reduce individual cases of overassessment—although willing to do so in fair cases—but to obtain material for correction of underassessments. Each complaint of overassessment is a suggestion of underassessment of all others whose burden is relatively lighter. The alternative is to level up or to level down. General reductions are impossible without raising the rate of taxation, and the relation of the assessments would be left uncorrected. Leveling up, however, tends to reduce the rate, and the raising only of rates which are unduly low would correct the inequality which is the grievance, quite as much as the amount paid. This does not seem to be appreciated, for all the applications for correction are requests for reductions, by amounts from ten to thirty per cent. No cases are reported in which the complainants have compared their valuations with those of their neighbors, and have asked to have inequalities corrected by increases. It seems to be thought an unneighborly act to complain that a neighbor is underassessed. But it is equally unneighborly, and bad citizenship to boot, to pay on an assessment which is unduly low. Equality in relation of assessments is fair play both to the city and to neighbors, including as neighbors taxpayers in the remotest outer borough.

The tax officials have done their share to make these comparisons easy. They have introduced system and efficiency in their methods in later years, and they have shown themselves the taxpayers' friends both in disposition and in results. Clearly they cannot reduce taxes without reason, nor reduce one man's taxes without affecting all men's taxes. But taxpayers who are reasonable and have a true grievance can benefit the city as well as themselves if they will see that their neighbors pay what they should, as well as see that they themselves pay no more than they ought. There is nothing private about taxes. They are public records and every citizen's business, including many who are taxpayers, although they do not appreciate it.

The application of these remarks is State wide, although made with the city valuations as a text. The city pays too large a proportion of the State taxes because the methods of taxation outside the city are inferior to those practiced in the city. No doubt the methods of New York State are as good as those of other States, but that leaves much to be desired. More cities of the State do not have tax maps than use them. The result is that there is no certainty that all realty is on the roll at all. Still less can it be known that relative assessments are fair as between taxpayers, or as between city and State. The city has as fair a claim to complain of overassessment, or of underassessment of neighbors, as any individual. Only about half the cities of the State use system in their valuations, the assessments being guesswork. Not one city in eight keeps a record of so much as the size of buildings, obviously an important factor in valuing improvements. Here is a field for reform more promising than the fancy fads which some innovationists are pressing. To remedy these defects would be the best obstruction to changes which threaten to produce a "psychological" depression among owners of real estate. Incidentally, the tension between individual taxpayers, and between this city and "up-State" taxpayers, would be reduced. Burdens which are evenly loaded are easily carried, but a badly loaded beast of burden can easily be taught many tricks which he ought not to practice.

GOV. GLYNN'S VETOES.

There are but two ways to satisfy wants—either to increase their numerator or diminish the denominator. Gov. GLYNN has attacked the denominator, and successfully.

The requests for the State's appropriations this year footed up to $63,000,000, and the estimated revenue was only $41,000,000. Last year nearly $58,000,000 was appropriated, and the per capita expenditures increased to $5.10. A direct tax seemed inevitable. Utilizing his experience in the Controller's office, the Governor has pruned this year's appropriations to a point below anticipated receipts, cutting $7,272,000 out of the budget.

Scores of items have been vetoed, the refusal in each case giving reasons that showed the results of painstaking inquiry. The Governor asserts that the great reduction has been accomplished without impairing the usefulness of any department or institution. That may very well be. The liabilities at the end of the year will show conclusively whether his judgment is correct.

FROM THE ASHES OF DEFEAT.

In proportion as Britain exults over its surprising triumph in the polo matches, the hope grows that that triumph will not be lasting. It was torn from a defeat. It need live but a year. Yet in his hour of bitterness Capt. WATERBURY asked the correspondent of The London Times to tell his paper that he is "through with international polo for good and all." His stalwart brother, breathed by the uphill fight in which the American players had got the advantage two minutes before the final bell, and lost it, declared: "That is a good enough finish for me."

No finish at all. As "Larry" WATERBURY himself remarked, the Englishmen's second goal was "terribly lucky." What is said now by the gallant combatants of a combination of luck and skill may be unsaid—should be unsaid—on another day and another field.

POLITICS AND CRIME IN QUEENS.

Has the District Attorney of Queens resigned his functions into the hands of Mrs. ALFRED ENO, and will it be necessary in future for persons desiring justice to seek it entirely through her? In December last a particularly vile and cruel outrage was committed. A young man had been arrested on a charge subsequently dropped; his sixteen-year-old wife went to the Court House to see what could be done for him, and there was accosted by two Democratic politicians who promised to get her a lawyer. They took her over to the headquarters of Boss CASSIDY's Democratic Club, where they assaulted her. The girl told her story to District Attorney SMITH and to County Judge HUMPHREY, who said he was shocked. This shocking of the Judge was all she accomplished by it, however. Thereafter she haunted the Court House, trying to get justice, but in some mysterious fashion it seemed to get further and further away. The men were indicted, but, despite the girl's efforts, the matter ended there. Strange obstacles appeared in her path; she could get no help from officials sworn to execute the laws, and finally the District Attorney moved to dismiss the indictments.

In her despair the girl went to Mrs. ENO, the head of the Woman Suffrage Party of Queens, and that organization took up her case. As a result of her activities the Supreme Court ordered the arrest of the two men and refused the District Attorney's plea to dismiss the indictments. Next Mrs. ENO and her organization succeeded in getting Gov. GLYNN to appoint a Special Attorney General to prosecute the men, taking the case out of the hands of the District Attorney. Yesterday's newspapers announced that after a trial in the Supreme Court the first of the two indicted men had been convicted and that the trial of the other had instantly been begun.

In such a detestable alliance between crime and government we see what the old system of city government by partisan officials is really capable of. New York County has rid itself of that system, and Queens has begun to do so, has in fact done so as far as borough government is concerned; but her county government is still able to give an example of what the old system really does to those its special care of whom it loves to boast—the poor and friendless. In her despicable plight Queens is fortunate that it has a citizen like Mrs. ENO. But what have the county officials to say for themselves in face of the verdict? The jury convicted the wretched scoundrel before it of the crime charged. Did it not also convict the county officials of something?

LORD MERSEY'S PART.

The arrival of Lord MERSEY, representing the British Board of Trade, to act as President of the Royal Commission that is investigating the collision of the Storstad with the Empress of Ireland, may raise in advance of the commission's findings doubts of its fairness. As presiding Judge in the inquiry into the loss of the Titanic, Lord MERSEY fully exonerated J. BRUCE ISMAY as Managing Director aboard the chief ship of his line, that plowed at full speed through an ice field of which he had been duly warned. Lord MERSEY was "unable to blame Capt. SMITH," who had complete authority, although other Captains similarly warned made a detour to avoid the danger zone. His report mildly reproved the British Board of Trade for its lax regulations and hasty inspection of the ill-equipped Titanic.

The comment upon Lord MERSEY's judgment by the company that Mr. ISMAY directed was its request—which he obeyed—that he withdraw from its management. The company fully believed that, representing the business discretion of the owners, Mr. ISMAY had permitted the Titanic to increase its speed with extra boilers after he knew that ice lay ahead, and he left the sinking ship with the knowledge that many passengers remained aboard for whom no boats had been provided.

Now the British Board of Trade is concerned in the loss of the Empress of Ireland. Announcement was at first made that Mr. GEORGE VAUX would solely represent that body in the present inquiry; later Lord MERSEY was appointed to head the commission. His direction of it will be closely watched.

THE VERB "TO MARSANS."

"To hector" was one of the first verbs in sporting or fighting diction derived from a proper name. A ludicrous error in baseball several years ago yielded the verb "to merkle," and yesterday "to marsans" sprang into being as a result of the example set by MARSANS of the Cincinnati Nationals to ignore his contract and go over to the St. Louis Federals. President GILMORE of the exultant Federals has received applications from forty or more members of the National and American League teams who have taken their lawyers' advice that they can marsans legally by giving their respective clubs ten days' notice.

Other names of distinguished or notorious persons have been immortalized in the common speech, especially those of Capt. BOYCOTT and Dr. GUILLOTIN. When Count WITTE journeyed by train to the Portsmouth Peace Conference he was said to out-roosevelt ROOSEVELT in his democratic effusiveness. Mr. ROOSEVELT was accused the other day of a propensity to diazify the United States, and the verb "to pinchot" has come to mean to act like a lunatic in politics. If in this hasty review we have omitted any verbs derived in a similar way, our readers will be quick to prompt us.

"ALL-THE-YEAR" SCHOOLS.

Parents of children who are attending schools know that they are safe from the dangers of the street and vehicular traffic. The great majority of school children in this city have no chance to go to the country.

The valuable school plants have hitherto been idle during the Summer months, a burden to the taxpayers, yet affording unused opportunities. This year thirty-four of them will open July 1, the day following the close of the regular school year, for the registration of pupils in the vacation schools. These are mostly in the congested districts. Instead of running wild the children will have teaching in basketry, chair caning, bench work, and the household arts allied with sewing and cooking. Pupils who have not been promoted and those who are over age, besides foreigners who find difficulties with the language and children who wish to complete the allotted time of attendance required for working papers, will take the regular opportunities for schooling that are afforded. Also, there will be classes in the kindergartens.

There is no mental strain in this work. It merely regulates the normal activities of children. Periods of rest and recess are abundant. Proper arrangements can be made for the welfare of the teachers in overlapping periods of the year, or they may receive higher salaries, as they elect. It is improvident to permit the huge educational plant of the city to be idle during the Summer months when it can be utilized to the great benefit of the city's families.

PHILADELPHIA'S PERIL.

The sane Fourth has not come to Philadelphia. While this city has reduced its record from 22 killed and 422 injured, in 1907, to none killed and 65 injured, in 1913, Philadelphia had 343 killed and wounded in 1913, as compared with 255 in 1907. Chicago, with 600,000 more people, numbered last year only one killed and thirteen wounded.

Other cities are in a bad category with Philadelphia. The Journal of the American Medical Association, which started the reform of Independence Day, names Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Providence, R. I.; Worcester, Mass.; Syracuse, N. Y.; Omaha, Neb.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Hartford, Conn.; Reading, Penn.; Wilmington, Del., and Des Moines, Iowa, as places in which parents would do well to demand that ordinances be passed to prohibit the sale of fireworks. Pageants, illuminations, and really beautiful observances may replace the explosions. What this and other cities have done Philadelphia and her reckless sisterhood can do.

SPONDEES AND SUCCESS.

President WILSON is reported by a former fellow professor as establishing the relation between the number of syllables in one's name and his future success. "For those who wish to achieve any success in public life," the President—once THOMAS WOODROW WILSON—is said to have confided, the best kind of name is one "that consists of a dactyl and a spondee—for instance, SAMUEL ADAMS." The next best kind of name is one "consisting of two spondees—WOODROW WILSON, for instance." Without wasting any regrets that the parents of NAPOLEON BONAPARTE or GEORGE WASHINGTON or ABRAHAM LINCOLN were unaware of this, and without arguing about whether the popular tongue makes three syllables or but two out of "Samuel," we can go on to the business of metrics, which is where the trouble lies.

Perhaps the President, or the professor who reports him, or the reporter who reports the professor, puts the same accent on the second syllable of Adams as he does on the first. He, or even they, are surely in the minority. "Adams," "Woodrow" and "Wilson" are not spondaic; they are trochaic, built up not of two equally accented syllables, but of a long syllable followed by a short one. And if there be any who doubts the assertion, let him fall to and write a set of dactylic hexameters, winding up each line with "Adams" or "Wilson" for a final spondaic foot. It would be easier, however, to take our word for it.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Fault-Finding Seemingly Unjustified.

As President of the New York Board of Education, THOMAS W. CHURCHILL is himself the head, and therefore by fair and almost necessary implication he approves, of a strictly non-sectarian system or aggregation of schools that is, so far at least as number of pupils goes, one of the greatest in the world. Some wonder is therefore excited by the fervor with which, in his address at the commencement exercises of Manhattan College, he attacked the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Mr. CARNEGIE has repeatedly explained that he withholds his largess from denominational colleges, not from any antagonism to them, but because each of these institutions has behind it a large body of friends who ought also to be its supporters, and he prefers to extend his aid to those that are not the objects of a special interest. That the effect of this discrimination has been to cause the removal of several colleges and universities from the sectarian to the non-sectarian category may or may not be a reason for criticising the officials who made the change, but it hardly warrants attack on the Carnegie Foundation as a foe of religion. The liberties of those who believe in denominational education have not been infringed in the slightest degree, and it is difficult to see that they have any grievance against Mr. CARNEGIE unless it lie in a fear on their part that they may not be able long to resist the temptation to revise their belief, which is a purely incidental effect of his selective generosity. This they are unlikely to admit.

Mr. CHURCHILL's charge that, by withholding his aid from colleges which he considers unnecessary or inadequately equipped for educational work, Mr. CARNEGIE is attempting to fix an educational standard of his own, is, of course, true, but to do that is not a crime, since everybody is free to accept or reject the standard as he pleases. Mr. CARNEGIE is under no obligations to give any money to any colleges—under none, that is, except the obligations created by his own conscience. It therefore seems ungracious to denounce the limitations and restrictions which he deems it judicious to place upon his enormous gifts.

Preventive, but Not Curative.

Careful investigations made by the Health Department of the illnesses and deaths among the members of the Mercer family in Brooklyn have apparently left it beyond reasonable question that in each of these cases typhoid had developed before any injections of protective serum had been given. That the serum caused the disease, as has been asserted by a few, and perhaps suspected by many, therefore is not, and cannot be, true, and any apprehensions to that effect that may have existed or may have been created by the experience of the MERCERS can be dismissed as groundless.

Such fears, however, have never been entertained by anybody who knew the nature of the anti-typhoid serum. The only enlightened criticism of it has not made that accusation or denied the efficacy of the serum in conferring for a time immunity from typhoid infection. But some observers believe that caution in the use of this serum is needed, because in giving this immunity it causes an increased susceptibility to certain other infections, and that consequently its employment should be of an emergency rather than of a routine character.

Whether that is true or not is a question still unsettled, with the present weight of authority, both military and civilian, heavily against it. In our own army confidence in the serum is firm, and its use has certainly cut down the typhoid rate to next to nothing. It is persistently rumored, however, that in the pigeonholes of the War Department are reports that not all of the effects of the serum in all cases are good. That would not be surprising, for there is hardly a drug or treatment against the use of which there are not "contra-indications." They do not mean worthlessness by any means.

Londoners Notice the Colonel.

Even those of us through whose minds has occasionally flitted the shadow of a suspicion that Col. ROOSEVELT does not constantly exemplify all the kinds of perfection there are—even we will not deny having thrilled with a certain satisfaction as we read the dispatches which told about the sort and quantity of attention which he has received in London.

That city has had so many distinguished visitors in the long years of its history that it is by no means as easily aroused as some to enthusiasm and excitement by the appearance of a foreign notability. Its demonstrations, therefore, of either esteem or curiosity, come near to being a guarantee of real eminence in one way or another for anybody who elicits them, and—well, the Colonel has not passed unnoticed, to state the case in most moderate terms. Londoners themselves variously eminent have crowded to see and hear him, and the London papers, some of which are not celebrated for love of Americans as such, have united in treating his arrival and presence certainly as more interesting, and apparently as more important, than those of any except the very greatest.

And there is no doubt that the Colonel comes closer to being continuously interesting than any other man of his time. Whether liked or not, he cannot be ignored, for he is dynamic and he does things. Nobody ever knows what he is going to do next, but he has a real genius for making everybody want to know promptly what he has done.

Problems Hard to Solve.

Conflict of testimony between men whose honesty of intention must be taken for granted always creates a difficult problem, and it is such a problem that is presented in one case by the Captains of the Empress of Ireland, and the Storstad, and in another by the Captains of the New York and the Pretoria.

Each of the four is presumably telling the truth as he sees and knows it, and yet their stories of happenings, of which they were themselves essential parts, are strangely at variance. Not only do they differ as to some of the details, but they flatly contradict each other, and this they are already beginning to do with heat, naturally enough, for each is eager to escape a heavy responsibility, and this can only be done by putting it on other shoulders than his own.

A third collision in fog occurred yesterday. This will add to public disquietude and strengthen the demand for the prompt adoption on all ocean steamers of the new and seemingly efficient devices offered by science to increase the customary and too evidently inadequate safeguards against what is now, for big ships, almost the only danger of the sea that is at all frequently encountered.

MORNINGSIDE PARK.

Overhanging Rock Is a Menace to Playing Children.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The northern end of Morningside Park is today "rattier" than ever, but this shameful condition of one section of perhaps New York's most beautiful small park has long ago sunk into mental obscurity, compared with a real menace to human life, which has developed since the neighbors have begun to point out the neglect of the Department of Parks.

Two years ago this Fall a portion of the big rock which overhangs the 123d Street sidewalk, near Amsterdam Avenue, shattered at its foundation by the blasting in the new aqueduct a block away, became loose and fell into the street. This happened on a cold November evening about 6 o'clock, when, luckily, the little children were in their homes and pedestrians were few and far between, so no one was injured. An hour later a policeman came around from the 125th Street Station and "shooed" passersby to the other side of the street. He was on duty there a couple of days. Then the officer came no more, but another man came and set several "saw-horses" along the curb and laid some gas pipes on them. At night he returned and hung up red lights at both ends of the danger zone. A couple of weeks later several wagons drove up loaded with large rocks, which were pitched over on the sidewalk to keep company with the huge boulders that had fallen into the street a fortnight before.

All of this happened a year ago last November; the conditions in the Fort Horn region are the same today as they were then. The boulders that dropped from the cliffs above lie where they fell, and there are many others overhanging the sidewalk which, loosened by the heavy blasting, are expected to follow suit most any moment. Under these the children play all day, imitating Indians with pieces of the gas pipe as tommyhawks, in fighting their cowboy companions, who use the "saw-horses" as ponies. More than one passerby has stopped and viewed this situation with a shudder. To observe closely the wide crevices running through those sharp, jagged rocks, protruding into the street, which look as though they are ready to come down most any time, and then to see the dozens of little children running about under them, is enough to send the cold chills up the back of a man of iron nerve.

FREE CONSULAR REPORTS.

Government Urged to Send Them Without Charge to Exporters.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I believe it due the general public to be informed of the fact that The Daily Consular and Trade Reports, issued gratis by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of Washington, will hereafter be discontinued as free literature, and those parties desiring to continue receiving these papers will be obliged to pay the yearly subscription of $2.50.

The Daily Consular and Trade Reports referred to are of great interest and usefulness to manufacturers and all those engaged in export trade, and it is hardly policy to handicap, even in the slightest degree, any means which may lead to an increase or in any way foster our foreign relations and commerce. This bulletin gives news gathered by our Consular Service throughout the world relating to the extension of our commerce, and all news which in any manner will help American exporters in their race for the trade of the world. Other large exporting countries give out an abundance of free literature appertaining to export matters, and I am sure that we will all grant that such countries stand at the head in endeavoring to increase their foreign business.

If the distribution of The Daily Consular and Trade Reports free, as heretofore, causes too great an expense to the department, I should think the matter is of sufficient importance to warrant a special appropriation for the continuance of these pamphlets on the present basis or on a more elaborate scale.

Actors with Honorary Degrees.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I correct the statement in regard to Wilton Lackaye that it is the first time an honorary degree has been conferred upon an American actor? Over fourteen years ago my Alma Mater—Tufts College—paid tribute to the artistic integrity and distinction of Otis Skinner in like manner and conferred a degree upon him with fitting dignity and all due ceremony. In view of Mr. Skinner's present eminence this is a particularly grateful memory to the Tufts College alumni.

ARTHUR LOW.

New York, June 15, 1914.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your account of the recognition of Wilton Lackaye by his Alma Mater, Georgetown University, which two days ago conferred upon the actor-graduate the honorary degree of Bachelor of Arts, you err in stating that it is "said to be the first time in this country that an honorary degree has been conferred upon an actor." The only other instance besides that of Mr. Lackaye I am able to name is that of the comedian, Joseph Jefferson, to whom both Yale and Harvard in 1892 and 1895, respectively, gave the degree of Master of Arts.

Summer Evening Schools.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A friend of mine, a foreigner, who has often come to me these last few weeks with tales of his work in the Summer evening schools, laments the fact that the evening schools must close on July 3, after having been in session only fifteen nights. The Board of Education, it seems, has not enough money to continue the session beyond that date, although the Summer session offers to many foreigners their only opportunity to learn English in our schools. It seems deplorable that the city cannot get together by some means the small sum of money sufficient to continue, during the entire Summer, the good work done in our evening schools.

FREE "MOVIES" IN CHURCH.

Buildings Otherwise Empty Will Be Used for This Purpose.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I ask your interest and that of your readers in a constructive plan in behalf of thousands of poor children swarming on the streets of New York City who have nothing to occupy them on these hot Summer evenings? It is easy to complain of the disturbance that these children make, but what are they to do? The Church Entertainment Society, recently organized in a small way, under the patronage of Mrs. John H. Flagler, Mrs. Nelson H. Henry, Mrs. R. U. Johnson, Mrs. J. Heron Crosman, Mrs. Simon Baruch, Mrs. Charles Merritt Field, Miss Juliet Thompson, Miss Sophie Irene Loeb, Dr. Percy S. Grant, Dr. Howard Duffield, Mr. Edward R. Johnstone, Mr. Paul Poindexter, and Mrs. Mai S. Thomas, suggests that moving-picture entertainments, instructive and entertaining, be arranged for poor children in some of our churches that would otherwise be silent and empty. These moving pictures will be accompanied by appropriate organ music, which will be a joy and an inspiration in these pitiful lives. Scores of churches in New York City might be put to this use in the interest of future citizens.

No one can deny that under its towers and steeples New York City has gathering places enough to accommodate 1,000,000 poor people, gathering places admirably suited to pressing needs of the masses, gathering places, as things are, that stand more than half the time empty and silent. It should be noted that these churches from which the people are thus excluded belong absolutely to the people, were built and paid for by the people, are maintained by popular contributions, and are exempt from taxation by the people's favor. Why, then, should these buildings with their fine organs not be used in the interest of the people at such times as they would otherwise be unused?

The Church Entertainment Society, non-denominational, asks the assistance of those who believe that a church is not less sacred but rather more sacred if its efficiency among poor people, especially poor children, is increased. On April 30, 1914, a moving-picture entertainment was given at the Church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street, where beautiful and instructive and amusing films, furnished through the kindness of the Vitagraph Company, were shown with the accompaniment of organ and voices, to about 1,000 poor people. On Thursday evening of this week, June 18, at 8 o'clock, a similar entertainment will be given at the Old First Presbyterian Church, Fifth Avenue and Twelfth Street, to which some 2,000 of the dwellers in the poor districts near Washington Square have been invited. They may be asked to pay one cent each.

It is hoped that men and women in sympathy with this effort will come to this entertainment at the Old First Church and see for themselves the pleasure and benefit that result. A certain small expense is involved for which contributions are requested, but what is chiefly needed is the co-operation of men and women who realize that a large part of the misery, the vice, and the crime in this city and in all cities is due to the fact that poor children are left to kick about the streets and grow up under street conditions. Here is a practical thing that our churches can do, and that many of them are willing to do, if a few energetic men and women will come forward and join in the work of organization.

NORTHERN ILLITERACY

Much Smaller Than the South's, Despite Large Immigration.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

According to Shakespeare, there are the retort gentle, the retort courteous, &c. Under which of these classifications should we put the answer of the Minnesota Senator to the Southern Senator who leads the fight for a literacy test for immigrants? Says his Honor from Minnesota to his Honor from Alabama: "In your own Southern States the rate of illiteracy among white adults ranges from 11.36 per cent. to 21.41 per cent. In the North, where most of the immigrants stay, the rate nowhere exceeds 5 per cent. Why, then, cry out so loudly against immigrant illiteracy under these circumstances? What about glass houses, or the beam and the mote?"

The whole question of illiteracy is a curious one, and worthy of closest study. Only illiterates or those nearly so will work at the kinds of labor that must occupy many millions of very good, useful, and desirable citizens—men with hoes, so to speak. Without the hoe, the pick, the shovel, they are as useless as they are unhappy and dangerous. Yet one of our leading industries in this country, and especially in this city, is the attempted and pretended manufacture into silk purses of material not only better adapted to other purposes, but actually unfit for any but those other purposes.

Only two years ago the official reports of education in this city showed dozens of schools with promotions over 95 per cent., and several bold jesters of Principals actually reported 104 per cent., and even 110 per cent., of their schools promoted! See the Thirteenth School Report, Pages 410 to 470. Humbug and dishonesty are even worse than illiteracy. Publicity of the shameless fraud brought the rate down—96 per cent. is now the highest, and far too high.

Deserted Cats.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

When Summer comes we who remain in town are constantly distressed by the sight of deserted cats, whose very number makes it impossible to care for them all. If the people who leave their pets to the mercy of chance could see how they fare I believe that even their thoughtless hearts would be softened, and they would realize how much kinder it is to destroy them quickly than to leave them to the hunger and loneliness that is their fate unless they "turn wild" and prey upon the birds in the Park.

Such people deserve social ostracism, but few of us are hardy enough to pose as mentors. We can, however, use gentle suasion and such influence as we have to put a stop to this cruel practice. We can also send suffering animals to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and rest assured that they will be disposed of speedily and without pain.

A PLEA.

Have pity, O World, on the little ones!
O World, with your cruel, uncaring heart!
So few are their joys 'neath youth's passing suns,
So swiftly the stream of youth's pleasure runs,
So soon come life's shadows, life's arid part!

Have pity, O World, on the old and worn!
O World, with your busy, untiring brain!
For a long, long day they your ills have borne;
Alas, for dead love and dead hope they mourn!
Have pity and spare them a further pain!

O World, a usurious, unjust toll
From manhood and womanhood you have wrung!
Have mercy now while youth's short hours roll!
Show some regard for the work-worn soul!
Be good to the aged, be good to the young!

MEADOW BROOK POLO.

Gouverneur Morris Gives His Meed to the Vanquished.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your editorial article "Hail to the Victors!" you reflect upon the training and preparation of the Meadow Brook team for the international polo tests. Is this your own opinion founded upon knowledge, or are you reflecting the pique of a certain Sour-Belly as set forth in a recent issue of a yellow journal? In my judgment you are so wrong that you deserve to be set right.

Do you think, Sir, that four ill-conditioned men could give that English team a lead of three goals, catch them, and within a few minutes of time pass them? Do you think that England's second goal, and it was enough to win the game for them, (not a straight shot between posts, but a wild shot, that carromed off a pony and scored) was owing to superior methods of training or to bull luck?

Do you realize what even one period of such galloping as yesterday's would do to a man who was not in the pink of condition? It is obvious that you do not. Yet Meadow Brook finished the game stronger than she began. Why don't you say simply and truthfully that yesterday four Americans in the face of great polo and of heart-breaking misfortune gave as glorious an exhibition of courage and fitness as ever the world saw? or let me say it. Or, if you prefer, say that four poor broken down "shells of men" scored five goals to the five that were scored against them by England's best, trained to the moment, and beloved of fate?

For my part I am not too sorry that the cup is gone, for in this country neither polo is understood nor great-hearted gentlemen. The cup is gone and it will stay gone until four Americans learn to train as Whitney trains—as the Waterburys and Milburn.

GOUVERNEUR MORRIS.

FROM HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY.

American Team Worked Longer, Harder, and Were Fitter Than Ever Before.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The editorial in THE TIMES this morning on the polo match might possibly be expected from another sort of paper, but it is thoroughly out of keeping in a paper that stands as high as THE TIMES. You say:

> If excuse there be for the defeat of the American team, it lies in the fact that the American players did not take their training for the game seriously.

This will be read as authoritative by people all over the country and may be injurious to the reputation of the men who achieved in polo the impossible—that is, got the cup and kept it twice against a country with fifty times the material in players and ponies.

The men on the team worked longer, harder, and more conscientiously this year than in any of the three previous successful years, and in my judgment and their own were fitter.

In fairness to the team I ask you to publish this letter.

Too Much Regulation.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A recent thought-compelling address by Dr. Butler of Columbia on overregulation of mature men and women comes back to my mind on learning this from those most concerned. This performance is done in the name of uplift, protection of "the peepul," &c. A florist on Third Avenue employs one man to help him. The law requires a weekly day of rest. Lately several orders came in simultaneously for floral tributes, and the employe willingly stayed on a certain day which was his weekly day off—with the understanding that he could go off the next day instead.

He now stands an excellent chance of getting all his days off. A vigilant Inspector caught the criminal employer red-handed exploiting his wage slave who willingly "stood for" it. The next thing was a summons, and just how it will end I do not know. The capitalistic oppressor anticipates a fine of $25 at least.

A few such episodes will end one small shop—one oppressor and exploiter less. But the oppressed worker will be out, too. It is a comfort to know that the Inspector will keep a job, and maybe get promotion for his vigilance. Perhaps we are in for a government of the people, by Inspectors, and for Inspectors.

BAN ON FREE TELEPHONES.

Public Service Board Orders Companies to Cease Discriminations.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 17.—A sweeping order has been issued by the Public Service Commission, directing all telephone companies in the State to immediately terminate, where the terms of contracts are terminable, all free telephone service, and to cease all discriminations, and to report within thirty days all contracts for free service which the companies contend are not terminable.

"For some time past the commission has had under consideration alleged violations of the law by the telephone companies in furnishing free service and other discriminations," said Chairman Van Santvoord. "While there are hundreds of such apparent violations in cases where the jurisdiction of the commission to deal with the matter is clear, there are a large number of cases where the telephone corporations defend the free service furnished on the ground that it is rendered under contracts existing prior to June, 1910, when the telephone companies came under the jurisdiction of the commission. In many of these cases the corporations have installed free telephones in private residences of village and other officials under clauses in the franchises which bound the company to furnish a certain number of free telephones 'for municipal use.' There is doubt whether, in all cases at least, this franchise clause is an adequate defense under the statute."

Judge Hale, counsel for the commission, has been instructed to proceed immediately against those corporations which fail to comply with the commission's demand to at once cease all discriminations and violations of the statute.

RAMAPO WATER CO. LOSES.

Action Against the City Dismissed in Federal Court.

Judge Ward in the Federal District Court yesterday granted the motion of Corporation Counsel Frank L. Polk for the dismissal of the suit brought against the city by the Ramapo Water Company on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction. The company sought to establish the contract which it alleged it had made with the State and to be authorized to acquire lands and water, and to enter into agreements for the supply of water with municipalities. Moreover, it asked that the city be required to hand over to the company the dams, reservoirs, and aqueducts which interfered with its property.

The plaintiff applied for relief to the Federal courts on the ground that the city and the Board of Water Supply in sanctioning the Ashokan water supply scheme were impairing the Ramapo Water Company's contract with the State. This, it asserted, was in contravention of its contract rights as guaranteed by the Constitution.

Judge Ward held that even if the company had established its right to the lands, the State undoubtedly had the right to condemn them for public purposes, and so there was no such invasion of constitutional rights as would give the Federal courts jurisdiction.

REVISE EXEMPTION TO AID INCOME TAX

Co-operative Dairy and Similar Associations Must Pay, Despite Previous Immunity.

TO ENFORCE ALL PENALTIES

Secretary McAdoo Calls Attention to the Fact That the Law Allows Him No Discretion in the Matter.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—In an effort to make up the $23,000,000 shortage in the expected returns from the income tax this fiscal year the Internal Revenue Commissioner today rescinded a previous ruling exempting certain classes of co-operative associations from the operation of the tax. Today's ruling specifically includes within the scope of the tax co-operative dairies, whether with or without capital stock, and "organizations of this character."

The discovery that the revenue from the income tax falls $23,000,000 short of the amount estimated to be raised from it has spurred the Internal Revenue Bureau to redoubled activity in the effort to enforce the law. Notices are now being sent out from all the revenue collectors' offices to corporations, associations, and individuals, calling attention to the terms of the act and the penalties that will be imposed after the close of the present fiscal year in case of failure to pay the amount of tax due.

Secretary McAdoo said today that the law was mandatory, and that there would be no alternative but to enforce all penalties to the letter. A failure to pay the tax within the time fixed by law makes the delinquent liable to a penalty of 5 per cent. upon the amount of the tax unpaid and a collection of interest at the rate of 1 per cent. per month as long as the tax remains unpaid.

Mr. McAdoo said that on July 1 notices would be sent out to all delinquents and a demand made for the immediate payment of the tax. Ten days after this notice is served the penalty will be added and interest will begin to run. The law gives the Secretary of the Treasury no discretion in the matter, though a resolution has been introduced in the Senate waiving certain penalties this year. Failure to pay the tax after notice of delinquency renders the delinquent liable to prosecution and enforced collection of the original amount of the tax with the penalty and all interest to date of settlement.

Following is the Internal Revenue Commissioner's decision that co-operative dairies and similar associations, such as mutual or co-operative insurance companies, telephone companies, and farmers' insurance associations, must pay the required tax on net earnings:

(T. D. 1996.)
INCOME TAX.

Co-operative dairies and like organizations do not fall within the classes of organizations enumerated in Sub-section G, Section 2, act of Oct. 3, 1913, as exempt, and are required to make returns of annual net income.

Treasury Department, Office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C., June 15, 1914.

Collectors of Internal Revenue: Attention is called to Article 92 of Regulations 33, approved Jan. 5, 1914, in which it is provided that co-operative dairies not issuing stock and allowing patrons dividends based on the percentage of butter fat in milk furnished are not liable to the requirements of Section 2, act of Oct. 3, 1913. This article is amended to the effect that co-operative dairy associations, whether issuing capital stock or not, are required to make returns of annual net income pursuant to the requirements of this act.

The only corporations, joint stock companies or associations, or insurance companies exempt from the requirements of this act are those which fall within one or another of the classes specifically enumerated in the first proviso of Sub-section G of the act cited as exempt. Co-operative dairies, no matter how organized, do not appear to fall within any of these exempted classes, and will, therefore, be required to make returns.

In the preparation of their returns co-operative dairies may include in their deductions from gross income the amount actually paid to members and patrons for milk, but any amount retained at the end of the year over and above expenditures will be returned as net income upon which the tax will be computed and assessed.

In so far as Article 92, hereinbefore referred to, is in conflict with this ruling, it is hereby revoked, and collectors will require all organizations of this character to make returns of annual net income and in other respects comply with the requirements of the Federal income tax law as it applies to corporations, joint stock companies, or associations, and insurance companies.

In so far as applicable, this ruling also applies to mutual or co-operative telephone companies, farmers' insurance companies, and like organizations.

W. H. OSBORN,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.
Approved: W. G. McADOO, Secretary of the Treasury.

WILSON CORRECTS ERROR.

Did Not Intend to Exclude Jews from Field of Scholarship.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—By President Wilson's permission, Herman Bernstein of Hollis, N. Y., today made public a brief correspondence showing that the President in his recent address at the dedication of the American University had not intended to imply that the Jewish religion was unassociated with scholarship. Mr. Bernstein wrote to the President as follows:

Dear Mr. President: I have read with deep interest your address at the dedication of the American University. I take the liberty of inquiring whether you were correctly quoted in the following lines which were published in a New York newspaper:

"That is the reason why scholarship has usually been most fruitful when associated with religion, and scholarship has never, so far as I can this moment recall, been associated with any religion except the religion of Jesus Christ."

I feel quite certain that you know that true scholarship has ever been and is now the very essence and foundation of Judaism, the religion that gave birth to Christianity. It seems to me that it would, therefore, be unfair to exclude Judaism from the religion with which scholarship has been intimately associated.

You know of my profound admiration for you as a great President, a great thinker, and a great man. I feel that you would not make a statement that is unfair. With deep regard, I am faithfully yours,

HERMAN BERNSTEIN.

The President's reply was:

My Dear Bernstein: I am sorry that there should have been any unfair implication in what I said at the opening of the American University. You may be sure that there was nothing of the kind in my mind, or very certainly nothing in my thoughts that would discriminate in the important matter you speak of, against Judaism.

I find that one of the risks and penalties of extemporaneous speaking is that you do not stop to consider the whole field, but address yourself merely to the matter directly in hand. With sincere respects and appreciation, cordially yours,

WOODROW WILSON.

Manufacturers Write Him About "Psychological Depression."

WASHINGTON, June 17.—As one result of President Wilson's denunciation of what he characterized as a deliberate campaign to spread abroad the idea that business was in the doldrums, the White House has begun to receive letters from manufacturers and others throughout the country taking the President's view that "a psychological depression" has been created.

One letter circulated by a St. Louis hardware company declared:

"Our sales up to date this year are just three-fifths of 1 per cent. less than the same period last year, and, if June business continues to increase as it has done so far, we will gain this three-fifths and probably finish the first half of the year with a gain."

CHAS. E. HUGHES, JR., WEDS MISS STUART

Justice's Son's Bride the First of This Year's Seniors at Vassar to Marry.

CLASSMATES BRIDESMAIDS

Ceremony in Cathedral of St. John the Divine Attended by 100 Only—Musical Programme.

The wedding of Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., the son of Associate Justice Charles E. Hughes of the Supreme Court, and Mrs. Hughes, and Miss Marjory Bruce Stuart, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clarence Stuart, took place at 12:30 P. M. yesterday in the little Chapel of St. Saviour, in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Morningside Heights. The chapel decorations were white lilies, which were arranged in vases on the altar tied in clusters to the prie dieu and massed with low fan palms and smilax at the chancel sides.

The Rev. Dr. John P. Peters, rector of St. Michael's Church, performed the ceremony. There was no choir or other singing, but a musical programme, including selections from "Parsifal," was played on the huge organ.

The chimes rang merrily as Miss Stuart, the first of this year's senior class at Vassar to wed, walked up the side aisle of the cathedral, on the way to the chapel, with her father, preceded by the ushers and followed by her maid of honor and bridesmaids. She wore a gown of purest white satin, draped in folds at the side, the corsage draped with lace about the V-shaped opening, and having sleeves that fell in foldlike capes to the elbows, over undersleeves of tulle and lace. A flat white satin bow marked the waist line. A square court train fell from the shoulders and was veiled by the full tulle veil, which was caught to the train with orange blossoms. The veil was drawn in soft folds, in cap fashion, over her coiffure and held with a half wreath of orange blossoms that ended in full sprays back of the ears. She carried a large round bouquet of lilies of the valley, tied with wide white streamers.

Miss Helen Hughes of Washington, D. C., a sister of the bridegroom and the bride's roommate at Vassar, was the maid of honor. She wore a rose pink taffeta frock having a white lace tunic and also flat panniers of the lace at the sides and back, terminating in points from which depended sprays of tiny pink roses. The round neck corsage of lace over pink had short sleeves of the lace edged with sprays of tiny brilliant pink roses, and similar roses outlined the neck. Her wide, flat leghorn hat rested high on her head, showing the dark coiffure, and was wreathed with pink roses and their foliage. She carried an armful of deep pink roses.

The bridesmaids, all members of the graduating class of Vassar, were the Misses Sylvia Crowell of Montclair, N. J.; Miss Martha B. Strong of Boston, Mass.; Miss Audrey W. Thompson of Portland, Me., and Miss Marjory Woods of Sewickley, Penn. They were gowned alike in pale pink taffeta frocks with tunics faced with grayish blue, the combination being as near the college colors of rose and gray as wedding gowns appropriately could be.

They had sashes of the taffeta faced with the delicate silvery blue that ended in large flat bows, and the necks were cut round and had elbow sleeves of lace, lace also being arranged in semibertha effect on the corsages. Their rather small natural straw hats were on the mushroom order, but turned up directly at the back and filled in with pink roses and foliage, while dull blue velvet ribbon was arranged in soft folds and bows about the crowns. They carried round bouquets of pink and white June roses tied with ribbons. All of the attendants wore hollow oval gold brooches.

Mr. Hughes had Lawrence C. Bennett of New York as his best man, and the four ushers were Charles V. Graham, Newton G. Chase, Timothy N. Pfeiffer, all of New York, and George Henderson of Cumberland, Md. All of them were classmates of the bridegroom at Brown University or the Harvard Law School.

It was a very small wedding, there being a few more than 100 guests.

There was no reception, but a breakfast for the two families and the bridal party followed at the home of the bride's parents, 450 Riverside Drive.

Among those at the church were Justice Hughes and Mrs. Hughes, the latter in a costume of brocaded taupe charmeuse topped by a flat black hat with black quill aigrettes. Mrs. Stuart was in blue satin and white lace, Miss Catherine Hughes, the bride's young sister, in white lace and a pale pink and white frock; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Field Malone, the latter in an odd light green coat costume with a huge deep blue satin bow at the back of her short coat, and a small round mustard-colored sailor hat with a little bunch of flowers at a corner, and George W. Wickersham.

On their return from their honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will live in New York.

WEDDED IN ST. MICHAEL'S.

Miss Harriett Totten Married to Wilfred M. Thompson—Choir Sings.

The wedding of Miss Harriett Totten, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Bleecker Totten of 206 West 103d Street, and Wilfred Mostyn Thompson was celebrated last evening in St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church, Ninety-ninth Street and Amsterdam Avenue, the Rev. Dr. John P. Peters officiating.

The bride is the great-granddaughter of Anthony Bleecker, who owned the famous Bleecker farm, the only reminder of which to many is Bleecker Street. She had been singing in the choir of St. Michael's Church, and this choir, consisting of forty voices, sang at the wedding ceremony last night.

The church was decorated with June roses and daisy chains. The bride wore a gown of ivory satin trimmed with duchess lace and a tulle veil which fell from a cap effect caught up with orange blossoms. She carried lilies of the valley and roses. Milton Totten, her brother, gave her in marriage. Miss Margaret Phelan of Newark, N. J., was maid of honor, and Mrs. Lester R. Davis and Mrs. Wallace Gibson, sisters of the bride, were the matrons of honor. Ruth Davis, the young niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Russell W. Hudgins was best man and Major John W. Totten, Frank Hoffman, Wallace Gibson, and Eugene Foley were the ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother. The young couple will reside in Flushing, L. I., on returning from their honeymoon.

BROOKS—LEE.

Special to The New York Times.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 17.—The wedding of Miss Helen Cowles Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Lee, and Paul Brooks of New York took place at Uplands, the home of the bride's parents, at noon today. The ceremony was performed by Archdeacon R. Bowden Shepherd. The boys of the Flemington Children's Choir sang. Mrs. Stewart Hay of New York, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Phyllis Brooks of Andover, Mass., the bridegroom's sister, acted as maid of honor, and Thomas W. Ashwell of Plainfield was best man. About 200 guests were present.

ROSENBERG—BLOCK.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Block, daughter of J. Block of 105 West 120th Street, and Louis Rosenberg took place last evening at Vienna Hall, in East Fifty-eighth Street. The Rev. Bernard Drachman performed the ceremony. Miss Sadie Block was bridesmaid and Joseph Block was best man. There were three flower girls, Mildred Atkin, Dorothy Goldberg, and Nathalie Block. The ushers were Israel Rosenberg, Ralph Frank, Louis and S. Rosenberg.

MADELEINE EDISON A BRIDE.

Inventor's Daughter Married to J. E. Sloan by Mgr. Brann.

Miss Madeleine Edison, daughter of Thomas Alva Edison, the inventor, and Mrs. Edison, and John Eyre Sloan, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O'Conor Sloane of South Orange, N. J., and cousin of Mayor Mitchel of New York, were married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Glenmont, the Edison home at Llewellyn Park, Orange, N. J. The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Brann of New York performed the ceremony.

The house was decorated with rare ferns and hanging baskets of orchids and roses. A beautiful old tapestry curtain formed a background across one end of the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, the space being banked with acacia and flowering mimosa plants. On either side of the white satin prieu dieu stood a tall silver candelabra. The couple knelt on the cushion that was used by the bride's parents at their wedding.

The bride, who entered the room on the arm of her father, wore a robe of cream colored chiffon velvet, with a bodice of old rose point and duchess lace which was worn by her mother at her wedding. This family lace also formed part of the train. A tulle veil, edged with the same kind of lace, fell in graceful folds half way down the train, being surmounted with a narrow wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Miss Margaret Miller of Akron, Ohio, and Miss Rachel Miller of New York, cousins of the bride, were the maids of honor. The bridesmaids included the Misses Elmina Ambrose, Carol Douglas, and Florence Walton of Orange; Marie Cozzens of New York, Margaret Gregory of Montclair, and Elsa Denison of Denver, Col.

The two maids of honor wore gowns of palest mauve taffeta, the skirts being draped with turquoise blue tulle, and leghorn hats. They carried bouquets of yellow roses. The bridesmaids wore similar gowns, with hats of blue tulle, and each carried a shower bouquet of pansies.

Mrs. Edison, the bride's mother, appeared in a gown of salmon pink chiffon, with a girdle of tango color, trimmed with ostrich feather tips, tinted to match her gown. Her hat was brown.

Charles O'Conor Sloane was his brother's best man. The ushers were Charles Edison, John V. Miller of Orange, A. A. Van Tine, Harold P. Banks, Austin P. Montgomery of New York, Frank D. Fackenthal, and Clement Negus of Brooklyn, and Theodore M. Edison.

While the guests were arriving Nahan Franko's orchestra played Grieg's "Wedding Day," Bohm's "Calm as the Night," and other selections by Liszt, Ganne, Mozart, and Godard.

After the ceremony a small reception was held on the lawn at Glenmont. A buffet collation was served at small tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloane will reside in New York on their return from their honeymoon. Their engagement was announced in December, 1912.

EADIE-MACKENZIE WEDDING.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Mackenzie Married to A. R. Eadie.

Archibald R. M. Eadie, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eadie, and Miss Mildred Mackenzie, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ross Mackenzie of 760 St. Nicholas Avenue, were married at 8:30 last evening in the Madison Square Presbyterian Church. The Rev. George Z. Montgomery, assistant to Dr. Parkhurst, and the Rev. Frederick Lynch, editor of Christian Work, were the officiating clergymen. The church decorations were daisies, with other white flowers and palms.

The bride, who walked up the nave with her father, who gave her in marriage, wore a white faille gown, having a tulle tunic, the corsage draped with point lace. A Court train of faille silk, veiled by the long tulle veil, fell from the shoulders. The veil was arranged with a point lace bandeau and orange blossoms on her coiffure. Her bouquet was white orchids and valley lilies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Stratford Ashley Miller, a sister of the bride, and the maid of honor, Miss Marguerita A. Nash, were gowned alike in rose pink taffeta, with pink tulle bodices, and wore white tulle caps, held with tiny sprays of pink roses. They wore wide, long white tulle scarfs over their shoulders and arms and no gloves. They carried pink roses tied with pink tulle streamers.

The other attendants were the Misses Stella Beatrice Brown, Eleanor Church, Effie M. Eadie, and Mrs. Royall Victor, who also wore pink taffeta frocks with draped white tulle tunics. They also wore rose-bordered tulle caps and tulle scarfs and carried pink roses. All of the attendants carried gold fans suspended from their wrists with white ribbons. These were souvenir gifts from the bride. The flower girl was Miss Betty Miller.

Mr. Eadie's ushers were Louis Bassave, Stratford Ashley Miller, George S. Olds, and Dr. Harold W. Burnard of New York, and Robert Bouse of Philadelphia.

The reception was held in the large ballroom at Delmonico's, the third floor being taken for it. The decorations were roses and palms. Some 300 guests were asked to the reception and 600 to the church. Mr. and Mrs. Eadie will spend the Summer at Allenhurst.

REV. DR. A. C. WILSON WEDS.

Brooklyn Rector Married to Mary Sturges in Grace Church Chantry.

The marriage of the Rev. Dr. Andrew C. Wilson, rector of St. Paul's Anglican Catholic Church of Brooklyn, and Miss Mary Fuller Sturges, the daughter of Frederick Sturges of 36 Park Avenue, took place quietly at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in the chantry of Grace Church, Broadway and Tenth Street, which was decorated with white flowers and palms. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Charles Slattery, rector of the church, and the Rev. Frank M. Clendenin of Westchester.

The bride, who was unattended, walked with her father. She wore a gown of lavender chiffon over taffeta, and a tulle hat of the same shade. There were no ushers, but the Rev. Dr. Wilson had Dr. Paul M. Pilcher, a surgeon of St. John's Hospital, Brooklyn, as his best man. About one hundred relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom witnessed the ceremony, but there was no reception. The Rev. Dr. Wilson and his bride are sailing for Europe to spend the Summer abroad.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Sturges, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sturges, Jr., Arthur P. Sturges, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Fuller, Lady Courtenay Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Mr. and Mrs. Junius S. Morgan, and Miss Morgan.

FREUNDSCHAFT IS IN NEW $500,000 HOME

Building at 105 West 57th Street Opened with Dinner and Dance.

CLUBHOUSE IS COMPLETE

Society Which Was Formed in 1879 with 25 Members Now Prosperous, with 700 on the Roll.

The Freundschaft Society's new $500,000 clubhouse at 105 West Fifty-seventh Street was formally opened last night with a reception, dinner, and dance attended by more than 300 members and their families and guests. It was a thoroughly festive occasion. There was no speechmaking or other formal procedure, but just a house warming, at which every one chatted with his neighbor and inspected the clubhouse under the guidance of Max D. Brill, the President of the club, to whose interest and energy the new home of the society is in large measure due. By personal canvass Mr. Brill raised more than $300,000 for the new clubhouse.

The moving of the Freundschaft Society from its old home at Seventy-second Street and Park Avenue marks another epoch in the history of the club. The society was formed in 1879 by twenty-five young Germans, who, the next year, opened clubrooms at Fifty-seventh Street and Third Avenue, with modest dues of $10 a year. Of these founders there are only three survivors, one of whom is now in this country. He is Maurice Kaufmann, the present Superintendent of the club. Mr. Kaufmann was President of the society when the cornerstone of the old clubhouse at Seventy-second Street and Park Avenue was laid, and it was he who laid the cornerstone of the new building. Last night he was one of the unofficial masters of ceremonies.

The society moved into its Park Avenue home in 1886, and the anual dues were raised to $60. The site for the old building was purchased for $110,000 in 1886, and the same site was sold in 1912 for $500,000. In gradual stages the dues of the club were raised during these years to the present figure of $125 a year. From its twenty-five founders the club has grown until its membership roll at present includes about 700 names.

In its new home the Freundschaft Society has much in the way of luxuriance and convenience not afforded by the old clubhouse. The building is of buff brick in the modern Italian style of architecture. On the roof, 100 feet above the street, is a garden and Italian pergola, from which an excellent view of the city can be obtained.

On the fifth, or top, floor of the clubhouse is the main library and reading room, finished in green and tan tapestries and other wall hangings. The furniture is of light oak. The mantel, an elaborately carved oak piece, is a relic of the old home of the society. Red Numidian marble surrounds the fireplace. On the fourth floor is a large billiard room and a Directors' meeting room. The billiard tables are of Circassian walnut, with inlaid mother of pearl.

The third floor consists of the main cardroom, in which are twenty-eight tables, and the blue room, a place of general reception and lounging. The cardroom is so constructed that it may be converted into an auxiliary dining room if the main salon on the second floor is needed for dancing. The decorations and lighting arrangements in the cardroom are so arranged that a pleasant outdoor effect is created. They are in a light blue that harmonizes with the darker shade of the reception room.

Between the second and third floors is a mezzanine balcony, on which there is a ladies' dressing room and space for an orchestra. This space overlooks the main dining and dancing room, which occupies the greater part of the second floor and is finished in enameled cement, with mirrors on either side. Adjoining it is a reception room with mural decorations in old rose, Louis XVI. style. The pictures in the club are one of its most attractive features. Their value is said to be $30,000.

On the first, or ground, floor is the main lobby and grill room. The grill is finished in chestnut, with painted decorations. In the basement there are four bowling alleys, two large dressing rooms, and several shower baths. There are two kitchens, one in the basement and one on the roof. The building has been so erected that four more stories may be added at any time the club decides to open a dormitory for its members. At present the only sleeping quarters in the house are those occupied by the manager of the club and the servants. There are two elevators and three stairways connecting with every floor in the building, which is of fireproof construction. The architects were George and Edward Blum of 505 Fifth Avenue.

The officers of the club are: President, Max D. Brill; First Vice President, Ernest A. Grunsfeld; Second Vice President, Irving L. Ernst; Treasurer, Carl Bomeisler; Secretary, Eugene W. Kahn; Directors, Louis Auerbach, Martin Beck, H. Seymour Elsman, William S. Gordon, Benedict J. Greenhut, Max Kops, S. D. Leidesdorf, Samuel H. Levy, Julius Loeb, and Isaac D. Stern.

Besides these, among those present last night were: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gratz, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kapka, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Loewenbein, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levy, Abram I. Elkus, Louis Marshall, J. B. Greenhut, Samuel Untermyer, Walter Stern, Walter A. Hirsh, and the Misses Winone Jackson, Louise Bass, and M. Negbaur.

JUNIORS IN BALLOT FIGHT.

High School Girls Form District Suffrage Organizations.

If the Woman Suffrage Party cannot convert the residents of the Assembly districts, there is a Woman Suffrage Party, Jr., to look out for them.

The juniors formed a regular body yesterday with 107 members, and organized five Assembly districts with permanent leaders and three others with temporary leaders.

This new branch of the party is made up of Washington Irving High School girls who have been having suffrage debates in school. Miss Flora Gapin, business manager of The Woman Voter, called at the school. A big group of girls were asked how many opposed woman suffrage, and only a few hands went up. A small meeting to talk things over was held two weeks ago, but yesterday there was a real business meeting. Regents' examinations prevented many girls from attending, but those present brought their names for enrollment. The juniors will have headquarters in the building of the senior organization.

VICTORIA'S NEW MANAGER.

Arthur Hammerstein Succeeds His Late Brother, William.

Oscar Hammerstein announced last night that his son, Arthur Hammerstein, had been made the new head of the Victoria Theatre and Roof Garden, and that all rumors that the theatre would pass into other hands were without foundation. Arthur Hammerstein succeeds his brother, William, who died last week.

For several years Arthur Hammerstein, who is the oldest son of Oscar Hammerstein, has been actively engaged in producing light operas and musical comedies. He said last night that he would give up the producing field for a year at least and devote his time entirely to the Victoria.

He will, however, send out three companies in his musical comedy "High Jinks" and present in New York the Richard Harding Davis-Jules Eckert Goodman drama, "The Trap," which has been in rehearsal for some time. "The Firefly" will again be sent on the road with Edith Thayer as the star.

Loney Haskell, who was associated with William Hammerstein in the management and booking of the Victoria, will continue in the same capacity.

NEWSBOYS' CLUB BENEFIT.

Paul J. Rainey to Lecture at His 1914 African Hunt Pictures.

The Newspaper Publishers' Association of New York has indorsed the benefit performances for the Newsboys' Club at the Casino and Lyric Theatres next week. Paul J. Rainey, the hunter of lions and other wild animals in the jungles of Africa, who was to have sailed for Europe on the Mauretania on Tuesday, postponed his trip in order to lecture and superintend the presentation of his new 1914 African hunt pictures at the Casino next Monday at the benefit.

The lion killer has two new and bigger hunting expeditions planned, and it is in connection with these that he was to sail for Europe to make preliminary arrangements. Besides hunting in Africa this time, Mr. Rainey intends also to hunt elephants and tigers in India. He will start on his trip immediately after the presentation of his latest pictures at the Casino. At the Lyric Theatre "Little Lord Fauntleroy," a motion-picture tableau by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, will be shown for the newsboys' benefit fund.

WED IN HOME OF MOURNING.

Miss D. A. Kent Bride in House Where Grandmother Is Dead.

Notwithstanding the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Anna Kent, whose body was still in the house, Miss Dorothy Annie Kent was married in East Orange, N. J., yesterday afternoon to Dr. John Andrew Freese. The young women who were to have been her bridesmaids and the ushers who were to have officiated, were guests at the wedding, and instead of the wedding being an elaborate affair, as planned, it was celebrated quietly. Tomorrow night funeral services for Mrs. Kent will be held at the house.

Miss Kent is the daughter of Edward L. Kent of 114 Chestnut Street, East Orange. Dr. Freese also lives in East Orange. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Frederick Clare Baldwin of the Calvary Methodist Church. The original plans called for a big wedding at the church.

Mrs. Maus Roosa Van Benschoten of Essex Fells was matron of honor and Marion Elizabeth Kent, her sister, was maid of honor. The young women who were to have acted as bridesmaids are the Misses Hester Davey and Bessie Cook of this place, Emily Booth of Montana, Margaret Hans of Montclair, Abbe Burdett of Boston, and Alice Phillips of Columbus, Ohio. The last three were classmates of Miss Kent at Wellesley College. The best man was the Rev. Karl K. Quimby.

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis Morris of New York and Tuxedo will spend the Summer at The Balsams, Dixville Notch, in the White Mountains.

MORRIS K. JESUP'S WIDOW DEAD AT 80

Carried Out His Philanthropies from Fortune of $9,000,000 She Inherited.

GAVE $150,000 TO YALE

Contributed to Expeditions of American Museum of Natural History —Patron of Art Museum.

Mrs. Maria Van Antwerp De Witt Jesup, widow of Morris K. Jesup, banker and philanthropist, died yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at her home, 197 Madison Avenue. Her husband died in 1908. Mrs. Jesup had completed preparations to go to her Summer home, Belvoir, Lenox, Mass., when she was attacked with her final illness a week ago. Death was hastened by her advanced age. At her bedside were her nearest relatives, T. De Witt Cuyler, a lawyer of Philadelphia, her nephew; Mrs. Cuyler, and Miss E. De Graff Cuyler, her niece, of Bar Harbor, Me.

Mrs. Jesup was born in this city in 1834, the daughter of the Rev. Thomas De Witt, pastor of the Dutch Collegiate Church. She was one of four children, the others being Mrs. Theodore Cuyler, mother of T. De Witt Cuyler; Miss Julia De Witt, and Theodore De Witt, both of whom died in their early years. Her father was a member or one of the pioneer families of Kingston, N. Y., which came over to this country from Holland. She was married to Mr. Jesup in 1854 in this city, soon after finishing her education in the public schools.

By the will of her husband, Mrs. Jesup inherited a fortune of more than $9,000,000, with which she carried out many of his philanthropies. Mrs. Jesup was deeply interested in the Presbyterian Hospital, the Cancer Hospital, the Five Points House of Industry, Bellevue Hospital, and other institutions of the kind, which she helped liberally to support.

Following the death of her husband, who at one time was President of the American Museum of Natural History, she took a great interest in that institution, and made large contributions to funds for backing some of the museum's expeditions. Mrs. Jesup's interest in art was shown by the fact that she was one of the patronesses of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. She had in her home a valuable collection of paintings gathered by her husband. She likewise was fond of opera, and until her death was a season subscriber of the Metropolitan Opera House.

As a memorial to her husband, Mrs. Jesup made a gift of $100,000 to Yale for the establishment of a professorship named for him. She also gave $50,000 to create a chair of silviculture at Yale.

Arrangements for the funeral will be made today. Mrs. Jesup will be buried in New York beside her husband.

MR. BURCH TO BE BURIED.

Widow Denies Invoking Christian Science to Restore Life.

The funeral of Mark H. Burch, President of the cotton goods corporation of Burch, Bailey & Co., 8 Thomas Street, who died suddenly of apoplexy on Tuesday afternoon in New Haven, Conn., and whose body was brought to this city by his wife in an automobile ambulance for further examination by a woman Christian Science practitioner after two physicians had pronounced life extinct, will be held today. Arrangements for the funeral were made yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Burch, Euclid Hall, Broadway and Eighty-sixth Street, after a short delay caused by the family's desire to have a Christian Science examination.

Reports that Mrs. Burch and Mrs. A. B. Huber, a Christian Science practitioner, of 41 West Ninetieth Street, believing in the efficacy of the Christian Science treatment, had sat up all night trying to restore life, were denied by Mrs. Huber. The denial did not reach the Board of Health, however, before one of the physicians of that department had been sent to the apartment of Mrs. Burch to ascertain whether the body was being properly cared for. It was found that the body had been embalmed in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Burch, accompanied by Miss Anna Paterson, a sister of Mr. Burch, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Anness, and Mrs. Huber, motored to New Haven to the Yale-Harvard baseball game. When Mr. Burch died suddenly a permit was obtained for the removal of his body. Mrs. Burch was reluctant to believe he was dead. Mrs. Huber was called in and when the Christian Science practitioner decided that Mr. Burch had "passed into the transition state" and that nothing could be done for him, arrangements were made for the funeral.

BENNET BURLEIGH DEAD.

Veteran War Correspondent Served in Confederate Army in Civil War.

LONDON, June 17.—Bennet Burleigh, one of the oldest and mostly widely known war correspondents, died today. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland, nearly seventy years ago. In 1882 he joined The London Daily Telegraph and remained with that paper until his death. He reported the Egyptian war and the various Sudan campaigns, the French annexation of Madagascar, the Ashanti war, the Spanish expedition in Morocco, the first Graeco-Turkish war, the Tripolitan war, the Transval war, the Somali war, the Russo-Japanese war, and the recent Balkan war. At one time Bennet Burleigh went into politics, and stood for a Scottish constituency.

Bennet Burleigh came to this country at the outbreak of the civil war and enlisted in the Confederate army. He became a Captain before the end of the war, and distinguished himself on many occasions. His escape from the Fort Delaware prison was characteristic. He had been sentenced to be shot and tore up the flooring boards and dropped into the sewer beneath his cell. He swam for five hours in the dark and landed at New Salem, N. J., without clothing. Another time he arranged a general delivery of Confederate prisoners from Johnson's Island in Lake Erie. With a few friends he captured a lake steamer and got the prisoners on board. The Union sloop-of-war Michigan gave chase, and when the prisoners refused to fight their pursurers Burleigh escaped to the Canadian shore. A reward was offered for his capture and he was taken and charged with piracy. Owing to the international features of his case there was much discussion and controversy among the lawyers as to what should be done to him; whether to hang, imprison, or set him free. Ultimately the case came to the Supreme Court and Burleigh settled it by breaking jail and escaping to Canada.

After the war he went to Texas, began journalism, and shortly after joined the staff of The Central News. In 1884 he accompanied the Gordon Relief Expedition as representative of The Daily Telegraph. Mr. Burleigh wrote extensively, the best-known of his books being "Two Campaigns" and "The Empire of the East."

Martin M. Reynolds.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., June 17.—Martin M. Reynolds of Montreal, Vice President in charge of the financial department of the Grand Trunk Railway, died at Old Point Comfort, Va., to-day, according to a telegram received here. Mr. Reynolds was born and educated in Syracuse, N. Y. In 1908 he went to Canada, and became Fifth Vice President of the Grand Trunk Railway and Third Vice President of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Previous to his going to Canada he was Controller of the Government railways in Mexico, which position he resigned after five years to go to the Grand Trunk system. Mr. Reynolds was a member of the St. James, Canada, Montreal, and Quebec Clubs.

Major Wm. Russell Found Dead.

Major William Russell, Chief of the Lexigraphical Division in the Register's office, Brooklyn, was found dead yesterday morning in his room at 51 Cranberry Street, Brooklyn, where he boarded. The cause of death was apoplexy. Major Russell was 76 years old. He had been attached to the Register's office for thirty years, and was said to be the oldest employe there. Major Russell was a veteran of the civil war. He left relatives in Hackettstown, N. J.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Less Active and Lower —Check to Gold Outflow— Steel Trade Position.

Trading on the Stock Exchange fell away yesterday and prices lost a little more ground. Of the last six sessions five have been days of reaction, but the net decline in the general level of prices during this period has amounted to something less than a point. During all of this time the freight rate decision has been awaited from day to day, and this has had some effect upon the market, which has been impatient under waiting for this important news. The Mexican news was regarded as less hopeful yesterday than on any day since the mediation conference at Niagara Falls began, and this added something to the indisposition of traders to exert themselves against the effect of the small volume of selling which the market encountered.

At the same time there were favorable developments of some importance, to which the market paid little heed. One of these was the appearance of a large amount of finance bills, the proceeds of which were loaned out in the New York money market. The drawing of these bills indicated even greater improvement in the European situation than was reflected in the easier tone reported in the London discount market. It is believed that some arrangements already made for further gold exports will be carried through, but at least one large engagement was canceled yesterday as a result of the freedom with which our bankers were able to draw on the foreign markets, and of the consequent decline in exchange rates. Demand sterling closed at a net decline for the day of twenty points, and bills for next week were offered at a further substantial reduction from the rates which prevailed until yesterday.

The effect of a cessation of the gold outflow in the near future could not be measured by the mere fact up to this time the money market here has shown very little response to the loss of gold. It is not doubted that the export of $65,000,000 since the beginning of the year will have its effect upon interest rates later in the year. Were the outward movement to continue at its recent pace it might well have inconvenient effect upon our own money market later on. This would probably be true at least to the extent of making necessary freer use of the new credit machinery which is being provided for the country than would be desirable at the very outset of the operation of the new system. Sidelights on the more comfortable position into which the European money markets seemed to be working were supplied in the German Bank statement, which showed a gain of $7,700,000 in gold and in the preliminary figures of the Bank of France's return showing a gold gain for the week of more than $10,000,000. The carrying forward of arrangements for the proposed French National loan following the vote of confidence obtained by the Viviani Ministry also pointed toward the early solution of a phase of the French banking position, which has caused that market a good deal of inconvenience.

From the steel trade come reports which bore out the previous week's suggestion of improvement, but so far this has not gone beyond some increase in the volume of incoming orders. Prices remain very low, and some makers seem disposed to contract at the present level further into the future than they have lately been willing to do. If consumers should thereby be tempted to increase their orders largely the foundation would be laid for an upturn which the trade is not likely to expect so long as orders are placed on a mere hand-to-mouth basis. There will be a close relationship between the progress of the crops and the fortunes of the steel trade later in the year, which is but one of many of the facts which give importance to the continued favorable agricultural outlook. The statement of agricultural exports for May, which came to hand yesterday, showed a decrease of something less than $6,000,000, compared with the same month a year ago, which was a much smaller decline than that reported in April. The May exports were large enough to carry the total for the eleven months above a billion dollars. The chances are that we shall have a much larger exportable surplus of agricultural products this year. That is an agreeable prospect to look forward to.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

A Quiet Slump.

Yesterday's break in prices was remarkable for the small amount of selling that brought it about. Less than 1,800 shares of Smelters sufficed to break the price 2 points at the close; 100 shares of Illinois Central brought a reaction of 1 point; 1,700 shares of Northern Pacific resulted in a loss of 1¼; 1,100 shares of United Railways induced a break of 8½. Such issues as were weak were very weak, while others which were more actively dealt in lost relatively small amounts. Brokers do not like that kind of a market. If the decline had been accompanied by a stimulation of trading through the production of orders for the stocks selling down to bargain prices it would have shown that the public was closely watching the market, but yesterday's total sales were only 111,000 shares, which was even less than the business done on Tuesday.

Syndicate Members Hedging.

In the recent weakness of Western Union the Street has seen efforts on the part of some of the members of the underwriting syndicate formed in connection with the offering of Western Union stock formerly held by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to Western Union shareholders to sell their syndicate allotments before they are received. Western Union broke yesterday to 58¾. The $30,000,000 of stock was offered by the syndicate to stockholders at 63, and the whole block is said to have been underwritten at 61. It was understood at the time that the offer was closed that about half of the stock had been taken by shareholders, but the syndicate remains in force until July 1, and it is not even certain that the unsold stock will be distributed then, as the agreement is subject to extension. However, some of the members are supposed to be acting on the theory that discretion is the better part of valor and to be selling in advance the amount of Western Union which they expect to receive in the distribution. If they should not get this stock they will constitute a short interest.

⁂

Almost Too Good.

The crop news being brought to the East by well-known Western authorities is so uniformly good that conservative persons who cannot distinguish growing wheat from tomato plants, but who, nevertheless, know how to use the Government crop figures, are fearful lest some dire catastrophe overwhelm the country. It does not seem possible that conditions can be as good as described, and Wall Street would feel easier if some well-known pessimist would discount reports by discovering evidence of rust or some other peril.

⁂

Oil Rumor Sends Shares Down.

A drop of nearly 3 points in Mexican Petroleum shares yesterday was credited chiefly to the sentimental effect of a report that one of the Standard Oil companies had taken a mortgage on the Mexican properties in exchange for funds advanced. In banking circles, where Mexican Petroleum affairs are closely followed, the story was instantly labeled as untrue, but pressure continued against the shares after a denial had been made public. It was pointed out as impossible for a mortgage to be given without shareholders learning about it in advance. The statement was made also that the company, as the result of conserving funds in recent months which would have gone to pay preferred dividends in a normal period of Mexican politics, is in a satisfactory financial condition. The suggestion was made by a banker that perhaps the word mortgage had been used in error for option. A rumor went the rounds several months ago that Standard Oil interests were seeking some of the lands controlled by the Mexican Petroleum Company. If an option on any part of the company's fields has been obtained, no information of it has been sent here, the bankers stated.

⁂

Short Delay in Mexican Output.

A full account of the stress of military operations about Tampico has reached the headquarters of the Mexican Petroleum Company in this city. It relates that the fall of the city into Constitutionalist hands caused only a twenty-eight hour loss of production. A steamer carrying a full cargo of oil left the port on the day following the Federal evacuation, and since that time operations have been practically normal in point of development work, and the output has been as large as conditions appeared to warrant. The producing concerns of the Tampico and Tuxpam fields have sunk a number of new wells down to the edge of the oil-bearing stratum and are waiting for better times to bring these wells in. The prediction is made by persons familiar with these petroleum districts that a cessation of hostilities would quickly bring about a substantial increase of production.

Interest and Dividends in July.

Interest and dividend payments in July will amount to $268,463,527, as compared with $258,798,974 in the same month last year, according to figures prepared by The Journal of Commerce. This total includes, in addition to disbursements by corporations, the distribution of interest on national and municipal debts, and the retirement of about $6,000,000 revenue bonds of New York City was added in. Exclusive of this amount, interest payments will amount to $167,167,145, against $161,897,145 in the preceding July. Dividends will show a decline of more than $2,000,000, with a total of $95,266,482.

Failed Bank's Stocks Sell Low.

An echo of the failure last year of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburgh was heard yesterday when bids were made at public auction for securities directly affected by the bank's collapse. A price of $3 for the lot was paid for 200 shares of J. S. & W. S. Kuhn, Inc., the banking house whose leading partners were interested in the Pittsburgh bank, while $49,600 par value of the bank's stock went for $3,000. The best bid for 750 shares of American Water Works and Guarantee Company common stock was $6 for the block, and 100 shares of West Penn Traction preferred brought 30 each.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The New York Central 4½ per cent. equipment certificates recently bought by J. P. Morgan & Co. have all been sold.

The New York Mortgage and Security Co. has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 3 per cent., payable on July 1 to shareholders of record on June 24.

Holders of $3,366,500 cumulative 5 per cent. preferred stock of the Philadelphia Company have exchanged their shares for 6 per cent. preferred stock. When the company increased its capital from $48,400,000 to $73,400,000 the right was given to holders of the common stock to convert their shares.

A Reorganization Committee was elected at a meeting yesterday of bondholders of the Ashland Emery and Corundum Company at the offices of Wollman & Wollman. C. H. Barber of Akron, Ohio; R. W. Lesley of Philadelphia; John M. Braly of Spring Lake, N. J.; Henry L. Moses, and James T. Molineux of this city compose the committee. The company's property will be sold at auction in Boston on June 23.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Further Decline in the Oil Stocks the Feature of Interest.

Transactions in the outside security market yesterday amounted to 30,985 shares of stock and $84,000 of bonds. The sales of stocks were divided as follows: Industrials, 5,588; oils, 1,297, and mining, 24,100. The range of prices in all issues in which transactions were reported was:

BOURSES OF EUROPE

London Market More Cheerful on the Better Outlook in France—Mexicans Lower.

LONDON, June 17.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were easy today.

The stock market was cheered by the better political outlook in France and good Paris support. The opening was quiet and firm. Kaffirs, Rio Tintos, and all the Continental favorites advanced steadily, and Consols rose five-sixteenths, but business slackened in the afternoon and the market closed quiet and steady, but under the best. Mexican rails were lower on the unfavorable political news.

American securities opened steady and unchanged. Fair buying advanced prices from ⅛ to ¾ during the forenoon, but later the list declined under Wall Street offerings, and the closing was easy.

PARIS, June 17.—Prices opened firm and closed steady on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes 84 francs 95 centimes for the account.

BERLIN, June 17.—Trading was quiet on the Boerse today. Iron shares and Russian issues closed higher.

HALT IN GOLD EXPORTS.

Heavy Sales of Finance Bills Here Cause a Big Drop in Exchange.

Signs of an easier state of the financial situation abroad were detected in the Wall Street district yesterday. The day passed without announcement of further engagements of gold for shipment to Paris or London—the first in nearly two weeks—and bankers estimated that in the past three days about $7,000,000 of finance bills, drawn against credits in London, had been disposed of in this market.

The large output of these bills was considered to reflect a belief among bankers that foreign exchange rates were in process of falling, and that the drawers believed that when the bills fell due they could be paid off at an advantage under the rates prevailing at the time. During the day the quotation of demand Sterling receded 20 points from the top figure to $4.8875, and it was learned that at least one shipment of gold which had been tentatively arranged for Saturday had been canceled.

A result of the large increase of funds brought about by the sale of finance bills was a heavy increase of offerings in the call money market on the Stock Exchange. International banking houses that have not been lenders on call since the outward flow of gold began offered in the neighborhood of $5,000,000 at 1¾ per cent., of which only a small portion was placed.

The weekly statements of the Banks of Germany and France showed that each had gained in gold holdings to a substantial degree. The Imperial Bank of Germany increased its gold more than $7,700,000 and the Bank of France gained in excess of $10,000,000 during the week.

POPE CO. REORGANIZATION.

Capitalization to be $2,800,000—$1,400,000 of Notes.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 17.—It is stated that the reorganization of the Pope Manufacturing Company will result in a corporation with only $2,800,000 capitalization, against a capitalization and debt of the present corporation of nearly $8,000,000. The reorganization plan contemplates the creation of a concern with $1,400,000 five-year 6 per cent. notes and a stock capitalization of like amount divided into $600,000 preferred and $800,000 common.

The sum of $400,000 cash will be raised to pay off a portion of the debt, and this $400,000 will be provided through subscriptions to the new stock which is to be offered to present shareholders. Holders of each eight shares of present preferred may subscribe for one share of new preferred and will receive a bonus of one share of new common. Common stockholders of the present company may subscribe for one share of new common for each twelve shares of old stock, and will receive one-half share of common as a bonus with each new share taken. This stock offering is what has been underwritten by the Boston syndicate engaged in putting the company on its feet.

The capitalization of $2,800,000 compares with an actual inventory appraisal of more than $3,200,000.

The company has in cash or in immediate cash prospects close to $500,000, not including receivables or raw materials at the Westfield plant.

PREDICTS BUMPER CROPS.

St. Paul's President Says Outlook Encourages Western Business Men.

A. J. Earling, President of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, said yesterday that the outlook for big crops was excellent, and that the prospect of a bumper yield gave Western business men cause for a more cheerful view of the situation. He said that in Washington much of the wheat was safe now, and that the small grains would be "made" in other parts of the St. Paul's territory by July 10 if the weather continued favorable. A wheat man in South Dakota, who has been in one district for thirty-two years, reported that conditions were better so far this year than ever before in his experience.

Electrification work in Montana is going ahead rapidly, and it is expected that the first part of the 400-mile stretch on which the steam locomotives are to be displaced will be ready before April 1 next, the time set for its completion. This embraces 100 miles crossing the continental divide, where a grade of 1.7 per cent. has to be negotiated. The trains will be drawn by two units capable of pulling 2,500 tons over the grade. The company is now using Mallet engines for that work, and expects to effect a considerable saving by the substitution of electric motors.

Mr. Earling said that Montana had never seen such an influx of settlers as has poured into that State in recent months.

CENTRAL TRUST'S ANSWER.

Holds Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Securities as Trustee, It Says.

The Central Trust Company yesterday filed in the Federal District Court its answer to the cross suit brought by the Bankers' Trust Company against the Wabash Railroad Company and other defendants. It admits that the mortgage executed by the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Company was delivered to the Mercantile Trust Company, as trustee, and that 140,000 shares of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company were pledged as collateral security for a note of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company for $1,500,000.

It also admits that $3,800,000 of the bonds of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Canal Company were pledged as security for a note of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company for the sum of $3,800,000, but it says that neither of these notes and no part of the $14,000,000 of the stock of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company or the $3,800,000 of its bonds ever came into the possession of the Equitable Trust Company or its predecessor, the Bowling Green Trust Company. Moreover, it asserts that it is in possession of the notes, stocks and bonds, as trustee, under the note trust agreement, and that it was the purchaser for value of the securities without any notice of any claims thereto by the Bankers' Trust Company or any one else.

UNCERTAINTY IN STEEL.

Some Say Improvement Is Holding, Others That It Isn't.

The slight improvement in buying which appeared in the steel trade a fortnight ago appears to be holding, although various estimates as to its extent in comparison with May business are heard. The Iron Age says:

> Reports differ on the extent of the improvement in the steel trade noticed two weeks ago. The general condition of restraint in buying continues, but the combination of lower prices and the natural midyear buying has caused greater activity. It is questioned if the June movement will equal that of January, though it is expected to be enough to make the month's shipments and new business break even.
>
> At Chicago, where the excellent crop outlook is influential, bargain prices are credited with bringing out somewhat larger orders in steel, but it is added that the general check upon business is still operating. June has brought the lowest prices of the year in practically all finished products, but without willingness on the part of sellers to make them apply many months ahead or effort by buyers, excepting some implement companies and a few others, to contract beyond this year.

The Iron Trade Review says:

> The moderate betterment in the steel trade which appeared early in June, as contrasted with other recent months, has been maintained. The volume of new business in a number of finished steel lines has undergone some expansion, specifications are better, and there is considerable negotiating by consumers on contracts for forward deliveries. Some makers report their bookings fully 50 per cent. better than in May.
>
> The Steel Corporation's tonnage is considerably ahead of last month, and last week the leading interest operated at 65 per cent. of capacity. Car builders have been placing some round tonnages of steel. Price situation in finished products, which is very unsatisfactory from a maker's standpoint, does not improve, and probably will not until it is determined whether the present activity of the market represents a permanent improvement.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Transactions took place on the Consolidated Stock Exchange in the following stocks of which no sales were reported elsewhere in the financial district: Interborough common, National Lead, Rumely, National Enameling, Denver & Rio Grande and Chicago Great Western preferred. The price movement as far as the general list was concerned reflected heaviness, although there was a slightly steadier tone near the close. Sentiment was adversely influenced by the belief that the Mexican situation was again becoming threatening. Opening quotations on the 9:30 o'clock call proved to be the highest for a number of the prominent stocks.

CITY LIABLE UNDER COMPENSATION LAW

But Only for Hazardous Occupations from Which It Derives Pecuniary Gain.

DOES NOT APPLY TO POLICE

Nor Can Firemen Profit by Its Provisions—Attorney General Carmody's Opinion.

Robert E. Dowling, Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Commission, has received from Attorney General Carmody an opinion on the application of the law to the State and its political subdivisions, the effect of which is that New York City, which has nearly 100,000 employes, including those of the counties and boroughs, is liable for compensation only to persons engaged in occupations specified in the act as hazardous, and then only when employed in a trade, business or occupation carried on by the city for pecuniary gain.

It would probably be held to apply, for instance, to the engineer of a Staten Island ferryboat, although the city's "pecuniary gain" in that case is a minus quantity. Apparently it would not apply to the thousands of policemen and firemen.

When the workmen's compensation law was enacted in 1913 the city was excluded from its operation by the following definition:

> Employer, except when otherwise expressly stated, means a person, partnership, association, corporation, and the legal representative of a deceased employer, or the receiver or trustee of a person, partnership, association, or corporation employing workmen in hazardous employments, but does not include the State or a municipal corporation or other political subdivision thereof.

The Legislature of 1914 amended this definition by changing the words after "hazardous employments" to read "including the State and a municipal corporation or other political subdivision thereof."

"The effect of this amendment," says the Attorney General, "was to do away with the provision contained in the original enactment excepting the State, its municipalities and other political subdivisions from the operation of the law, and to substitute therefor a definition expressly including them in the act as amended. There was, however, nowhere any provision increasing the liability of the State or its municipalities or other political subdivisions beyond that provided as to private corporations and individuals. The State and its political subdivisions were brought within the same class as other employers previously made liable.

"It therefore follows that all the provisions of the act are applicable to the State and its political subdivisions. There is no liability created as against the State or its political subdivisions except that created by the act as to hazardous employment therein in detail classified.

"The term 'employment' is defined as follows:

> "Employment" includes employment only in a trade, business, or occupation carried on by the employer for pecuniary gain.

"It is applicable to the State, its municipalities and political subdivisions. It may very properly be urged that there are not many occupations carried on by the State, its municipalities and political subdivisions, for pecuniary gain; but only so far as there are such occupations has the statute included the State and its political subdivisions within its provisions.

"There is no liability created by this act except by virtue of its provisions, and it cannot logically be urged that a statute which expressly limits its application to certain employments can be extended to include other employments.

"When by the amendment of 1914 the State and its political subdivisions were included within the definition of 'employer,' no greater or different liability was imposed than that provided by the statute itself as to employers in general.

"When the Legislature placed these governmental agencies within the duties and liabilities of the law it cannot be said to have thereby extended the measure of their obligations beyond such duties and liabilities."

SEES BUMPER WHEAT CROP.

But J. J. Hill Says Farmer, Not Manufacturer, Will Benefit.

James J. Hill, who reached New York yesterday to prepare for his annual salmon fishing excursion up the St. John's River, said he did not see how agricultural conditions in the Northwest could be improved upon. While loath to figure on the wheat crop until it is ready for the harvester, he said that with a continuance of favorable weather this year's yield would establish a new high record.

Mr. Hill said that more than a bumper wheat crop would be needed to speed up the wheels of American industry again.

"The money for this crop will go to the farmers," he said. "That won't make business much better for the merchants and manufacturers, because the farmer has not had to stint himself in the past. He has had money to buy. This country has a capacity for manufacturing 30 per cent. more than it is turning out now if the markets were ready.

"I can mention articles that pay 60 per cent. duty when they come into this country, and which can be made abroad for sale here cheaper than the American article. The difference is mostly in the cost of labor here and abroad."

Mr. Hill said that earnings on the Great Northern for the fiscal year would be in excess of 8¼ per cent. Gross earnings in the past few months have been considerably under those of a year ago, but they are picking up and gross revenues for June will probably be only about $500,000 less than last June, whereas in May and April decreases were more than $1,000,000. Because of the large amount of up-keep work expenses have not shown decreases under last year.

Asked as to specific reasons for the recent decline in earnings, Mr. Hill remarked that the business simply wasn't in the country and pointed out that Great Northern's ore shipments were considerably under last year.

BANKERS WANT BREWSTER.

Urge the Election of Carriage Maker to Reserve Bank Directorate.

The election of William Brewster, the carriage manufacturer of New York and Long Island City, as a Class B Director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is urged in a circular letter that has just been sent out by the First National Bank of Corona, Flushing National, Ridgewood National, Hamilton National of Hamilton, First National of Jamaica, Citizens' National of Patchogue, and First National of Whitestone.

Mr. Brewster and F. F. Peabody, the collar manufacturer of Troy, were put up by the Nominating Committee appointed by the conference of medium-sized banks. The insurgent candidate for the place is William B. Thompson of Yonkers and New York, who has large manufacturing and mining interests and is the head of the Stock Exchange firm of Thompson, Towle & Co. Only one can be elected, as only one Class B Director is to be chosen by the group of banks concerned.

"Mr. Brewster," says the circular letter, "is very modest, and will make no personal canvass to be elected, although well qualified to represent the interest of the banks in our group.

"Mr. Brewster is 48 years of age, highly educated, and is President of Brewster & Co., a concern founded by his grandfather in 1810. He employs 1,000 men. He is a Director of the Northern Insurance Company, a Director of the Chamber of Commerce of Queens County, a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, a life member of the Museum of Natural History. He is a member of the Union League, Automobile of America, Piping Rock, and Sleepy Hollow Clubs.

"With the election of Mr. Brewster, our group is assured of a representative who will at all times be able and glad to afford the counsel and help as to the working and benefits to be derived from the Federal Reserve act."

ROAD SPENDING $10,000,000.

Illinois Central Has 4,000 Men at Work on Improvements.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Approximately $10,000,000 is to be expended by the Illinois Central Railroad on improvements planned or under way. About 4,000 men are employed on the work at present. Part of the work will mean the shortening of the main freight route between Chicago and New Orleans by six miles.

The most extensive improvements under way are the Kensington track elevation in Chicago and the terminal work in Memphis. The local work will cost $2,500,000 and will eliminate ten grade crossings. The Memphis work will cost about $3,300,000.

POLO ROUTS TRADERS ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Teams Mounted on Stick Ponies Play a Match Game on the Board Room Floor.

PACKED GALLERY LOOKS ON

Dark Shirts Beat Whites Minus 2 to Minus 4, and Win a Sanitary Paper Cup.

The enthusiasm aroused among members of the Stock Exchange by the international polo games boiled all over the board room floor yesterday afternoon, when, to the intense disgust of the older men on the board, the polo fans engaged in a near real polo match, under the direction of Charley Knoblauch and "Buck" Buchanan, moving spirits in sporting events on the Exchange in busier and better times.

It was evident in the early hours of business that something beside buying and selling of securities was coming off before the day was over. A number of the members who fail sometimes to behave in the staid fashion of those who bought their seats before the panic of '93 were seen to have much to do in the shops of New Street, and when they returned to the Stock Exchange they carried odd-looking bundles. After events showed that the packages contained "polo ponies" imported for the single match.

The game started shortly after 1 o'clock, with a large gallery to watch and cheer the skill of the players. Most of the brokerage houses had been tipped off at noon to send everybody over to the Exchange to see the fun, and in a short time the balconies were filled.

The management gave a touch of true polo flavor to the preliminaries of the game by appointing W. Strother Jones, Jr., as timer. Mr. Jones acted in that capacity at the Meadow Brook matches, and showed familiarity with his duties by taking out his watch immediately upon the appearance of the teams.

The players pranced out from under the north gallery, each man astride of a child's steed—a stick with a carved horse's head. The parade of polo ponies around the field was held by the spectators to be without parallel in any similar exhibition in the world. The field was the eastern quarter of the floor, with goals wherever the umpire, George M. Sidenberg, liked best to see the ball go. Each player swung a croquet mallet and the ball was a croquet ball, solid and heavy.

The teams lined up as the White and Dark Shirts, with John Julian Dick as No. 1 for the Whites, William T. Starr as No. 2, W. W. Stokes as No. 3 and George B. Buchanan as back. The Dark Shirts were Chalmers Wood, Jr., as No. 1, James F. Pierce as No. 2, Fritz W. Hoeninghaus as No. 3 and Harrison K. Bird as back.

It was decided to play four chukkers of eight seconds each. The periods were considered plenty long enough after action started, as there were members who actually tried to do business around the Southern Pacific and Steel posts while the game was on, and the serious objections filed by these men would have been disastrous to a longer game. As it was, one of the short chukkers was largely cut down by an altercation between "Major" Bird and a stout member when a hard-driven ball carromed off the stout member's left shin.

Fouls were plenty; in fact, they were the feature of the game. But the audience liked the clever horsemanship displayed and criticised nothing that was done. At the end of the fourth chukker, when Referee Knoblauch called it enough for one day, it was figured that each side had scored 5 goals, but penalties had written off the plus counts and only minus ones remained. Laborious calculations made the corrected score minus 4 for the Whites and minus 2 for the Darks. So the Darks had the better of the match, and immediately began to talk of challenging the winners of the international trophy.

The presentation of the cup was a more or less solemn affair. Neville G. Higham, who used to be a member of the London Stock Exchange, and Rupert L. Joseph received the cup—a sanitary vessel made of paper—for the winning team, and expressed the deep satisfaction of the serious-minded members of the board that the game had been won and lost without greater casualties than the barked shins of unoffending bystanders.

FORT HANCOCK, N. J.—Sealed proposals in triplicate will be received here until 12 M. June 24, 1914, and then opened, for constructing standard gauge railroad, reconstructing parallel gravel wagon road, and filling trestle. Information furnished on application. Envelopes should be indorsed "Proposals for Constructing Roads," and addressed to the Quartermaster.

U. S. BOND MARKET POOR.

Channing Rudd Thinks Reserve Banks Will Get 2s Under Par.

Special to The New York Times.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 17.—The principal address at the annual meeting of the Maryland Bankers' Association here to-day was delivered by Channing Rudd of Baltimore, who discussed the possible relations of currency and United States bonds under the Federal Reserve act.

Mr. Rudd asserted that the act was fourfold in its purpose, aiming toward centralized control of the banking system, for mobilized reserves, for rediscount facilities, and for elasticity of the circulating medium. In discussing the right vested in the Federal reserve banks to purchase each year $25,000,000 United States bonds, Mr. Rudd said:

"The supply of bonds in the open market would come from liquidating banks, banks retiring from the system, and from the general public. As the likelihood of the 2s selling above par is remote, the reserve banks will undoubtedly have many opportunities to purchase bonds in the open market below par. Consequently it is reasonable to suppose that all of their purchases will be below par, and in the open market, unless the Reserve Board forces them to purchase bonds from the national banks at par. However, if the general market supply of bonds is small, the purchases by reserve banks under the refunding provision should result in maintaining the price of the 2s close to par.

"In view of present redundant circulation, and the possibility that the Government may issue new bonds, either to replenish Treasury cash or to finance any Mexican crisis, the present market for United States bonds is unsettled and an immediate advance in market prices is unlikely. There should, however, be a normal demand for bonds when business conditions improve and the demand for money increases."

Representative Carter Glass is scheduled to address the convention at the annual dinner this evening. Carl R. Gray, President of the Western Maryland Railroad, is also to speak.

VANDERLIP IN U. P. SUIT.

Testifies That as Director He Accepts Auditors' Figures.

Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank, testified before Supreme Court Justice Page yesterday in the suit brought by Joseph T. McCaddon to prevent the distribution by the Union Pacific Railroad as an extra dividend of $74,020,372 worth of Baltimore & Ohio stock among the Union Pacific's common stockholders.

Mr. McCaddon, who is a preferred stockholder of the Union Pacific, holds that the Baltimore & Ohio stock is part of the capital holdings of the Union Pacific Railroad, and that as the distribution is of assets and not of earnings the preferred stockholders are entitled to share in it.

Mr. Vanderlip is one of the Union Pacific's Directors, and voted in favor of the distribution. He testified as to the correctness of certain of the Union Pacific's balance sheets. He said that he could not say positively that the balance sheets were correct, as he had not added up the various items, but he assumed that competent accountants had been employed. He had confidence, he said, in the correctness of the figures furnished by the auditors.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Appraisers Fix the Duties on a Variety of Imports.

Tobacco pouches, rubber-lined, are "smokers' articles" within the meaning of the tariff, according to a decision of the Board of United States General Appraisers made yesterday.

L. S. Holtzoff & Co. failed in a protest relating to mufflers made of cotton cloth containing between 150 and 200 threads per square inch, and having over 6 yards to the pound. Duty was taken at the rate of 5 cents per square yard under Paragraph 322. The importers claimed 45 per cent. ad valorem as manufactures of cotton under the same paragraph.

Best & Co. objected to a 60 per cent. duty on children's aprons as appliqued cotton wearing apparel under the old law. Duty at 50 per cent. was claimed under Paragraph 324 as cotton wearing apparel not specially provided for. Protest sustained.

Waxed artificial flowers on wire stems imported by C. H. Wyman & Co., St. Louis, were admitted by the board at 45 per cent. ad valorem under the tariff of 1897 as manufactures in chief value of metal. They were classified by the customs authorities as artificial flowers with a tax of 60 per cent. Collector reversed.

George Silva filed a protest claiming clerical error. An item on the invoice was erroneously listed at £102 10s. instead of £87 10s. The Appraiser, in making his return, reported "full foreign market value would be covered if this lot is taken at £87 10s. instead of £102 10s." The Treasury Department and the Collector refused to make an allowance on the ground that the error was not manifest. The board accordingly overrules the claim for relief. Other clerical error protests overruled were in the names of Dower & Clinton, Hawley & Letzerich, and Kunstadter Brothers.

Sahadi Brothers were overruled in a contention dealing with wild cherry kernels, shelled. They were returned for duty under the old law at 10 per cent. ad valorem as unenumerated unmanufactured articles and were claimed free as non-edible drugs, or as crude vegetable substances unmanufactured.

The Haisler Brothers Company, Chicago, lost in a contention for lower duty on fibre imported under the old act. It was assessed at 20 per cent. as not enumerated, whereas the importers claimed it free as a vegetable substance not specially provided for in Paragraph 630. The Appraiser reported the fibre as dressed, cut, and suitable for brushmakers' use. Judge Hay says that neither the importer, when called as a witness, nor the Government Examiner seemed to know very much about the merchandise. The board is therefore left without definite knowledge as to the exact character of the merchandise.

Waldorf-Astoria Tax Order.

An order was issued by Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum yesterday to compel the Tax Commissioners to show cause why the assessment of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel property should not be reduced. The application complained that the property was assessed at $13,710,000 while a fair value for it would be $11,800,000. It was also set forth that other real estate is assessed at only 95 per cent. of its value while the Waldorf-Astoria was assessed at $2,000,000 more than its value.

Upholstery Buyers Active.

At a meeting of the upholstery buyers of the Dry Goods Alliance, 75 Spring Street, yesterday there was no indication of the reported depression in business. Several representative stores in the Eastern States had their buyers here for merchandise for immediate and Fall delivery, and buying was every bit as liberal as it was a year ago, if not more so. There was no especial feature to it, however.

⁂

The River of Doubt on the Map.

An enterprising firm of map makers in this city is now showing maps containing the much disputed River of Doubt, locating it and its tributaries on the map of Brazil according to the information given out by its famous discoverer. The idea of the makers is to have the new map used as a window display, and if it attracts as much attention in the windows of their customers as it does in their own it will be a valuable means of drawing attention to merchandise shown in the store windows.

⁂

Another New Sales Stunt.

Another new kind of special sale, one which should prove of value to merchants in cities and towns where the stores are open evenings, has just been tried out successfully by an up-State merchant. He called it an "after supper" sale, the special offerings having been put on the counters for distribution only in the evening. The first sale of this sort was held on Saturday evening, and it is said to have stimulated business considerably. In trade opinion it should be just as effective on other evenings, especially so on Monday, when stores in many of the smaller places are open even during the heated period.

⁂

Gray Goods Continue Quiet.

Quiet continued in the local gray goods market yesterday, but prices continued firm at recent levels. Print cloth sales were limited; 38½-inch 64-60s sold in a small way at 5 cents for nearby delivery. This was also true of 39-inch 68-72s at 5¾ cents; 80 square, four yard, goods sold in a rather small way for 7 cents. There was only a small business done on sheetings, drills, and similar goods. The 48 square, four yard, sheetings were firmly held at 5½ cents. Quotations were firm also on 48 square, three yard, goods at 7⅞ cents and on 48-52, 4.70 yard, goods at 4⅞ cents. Some small business was done on 40-inch lawns in the course of the day.

⁂

No Motive to Sacrifice.

There is at least one bright phase to conditions in the clothing trade this season. While stocks may not be moving as quickly as desired, they are not depreciating in value in the meantime. The advances which have occurred in the piece goods market have actually increased the net worth of merchandise bought but not yet sold. Manufacturers cannot afford to offer lower prices than they did formerly in the season, and consequently the retailer is given no motive to buy and sacrifice what stock he has on his hands to obtain the fresher merchandise. The continued tendency of fabric prices to harden should be beneficial to the industry in general and prevent profit slashing to a great extent.

⁂

New Wool Makes Poorer Cloth.

One of the largest manufacturing clothiers in the trade, commenting upon the rising cost of fabrics, remarked that the scarcity of wool and the necessity of putting what raw product is bought immediately into cloth have made for an inferior grade of goods. He knew of only one mill, he said, that always keeps a sufficiently large quantity of wool on hand to draw from a matured stock.

"The result of speeding the wool from the sheep's back to the loom," he said, "has been the production of a much inferior cloth. You have live wool for dead stock. A comparison after the cloth has been sponged, between the goods where the wool has been allowed to mature and a similar fabric that grew but recently on the sheep, shows a shrinkage of from 50 to 60 per cent. less in favor of the former."

⁂

Spring Prices for Men's Wear.

The question uppermost in the minds of the controlling factors in the men's wear primary market is that of Spring prices. It is understood to have been the intention of the leading seller to open up lines for next season before this, but continued advances on raw wool prevented the operation of this plan. One staple number in this company's line was recently advanced 7½ cents, and, as the fabric referred to is a year-around cloth, the increase should serve as a pretty fair indication as to what may be expected on other offerings for the lightweight season. It is the general impression that advances over last Spring should average about 7 per cent. So far the prominent serge houses in the clothing trade report that no prices have been made to them, and are not expected until around the first of next month.

⁂

May Close Again on Thursdays.

According to information received from merchants in some of the smaller cities, the idea put into practice last Summer of giving a half holiday on Thursday to employes of stores which do most of their business on Saturday afternoon and evening, was so successful that it will be tried again this year by many of them. It is said that it did not take the buying public of the cities in which the scheme was tried very long to make up their minds to concentrate their purchases on other days, and it is thought that very little business was lost after the first two or three weeks the plan was in operation. It has been advocated that the stores in the smaller cities imitate the big stores in this city and give a whole day off, this day, of course, being Thursday instead of Saturday, as is the case here. There is some doubt, however, of this scheme being put into operation.

⁂

Office Equipment Exports.

The United States stands pre-eminent in the manufacture and exportation of labor-saving devices for office use. In the calendar year of 1913 the exports of typewriters from the United States amounted to five times the value of the corresponding exports from Germany and sixty times those from the United Kingdom. Adding machines exported from the United States were worth two and a half times and cash registers forty-four times as much as those exported from Germany. The combined exports of the three articles from France represented only one-fortieth the value of the American shipments. The distribution of these exports from the United States is general, and few countries of the world are without American typewriters, adding machines, or cash registers. The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce has just issued a report on the subject, showing, among other things, the duties imposed by foreign countries on the articles mentioned.

⁂

Dried Potatoes for Cattle.

The "Utilization of Potatoes in Europe" forms the subject of a monograph just issued by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. The subject is treated by Consul General Robert P. Skinner of Hamburg, and contains, in addition, numerous Consular reports from other sections of Europe. The German potato crop is now about four times that of the United States, and the industrial use of the tuber in Germany has reached proportions that are attracting world-wide attention. Starch, alcohol, and dried potatoes for fodder are the principal products, of which the last named is the newest and most interesting. Fresh raw potatoes are not a satisfactory feed for cattle, even where they are to be had at very low prices, and the discovery that dried potatoes were excellent for feeding purposes and had good keeping qualities marked an epoch in the history of Germany's agricultural development.

⁂

Sardines Not Plentiful.

Reports received in this city yesterday by importers of canned fish products is to the effect that the fishing for French sardines in the Vendee district, which started on May 13, resulted in some catch, although not the quantity that was expected. Indications are that by the end of this month the fishing will be general throughout Brittany. The packers generally are very pessimistic, and do not see any relief from the high prices characterizing the French fishing for the past few years. Cabled reports are that fishing for Portuguese sardines continues fair; the fish now being caught, however, are only suitable for the Dingley ¼s with bones, and the ½s with bones. Boneless ¼s continue quite scarce, and there has been a marked improvement in the demand for them in the past few weeks. The Stronmeyer & Arpe Company are advised by their correspondents that the packers have not been able to put up any skinless and boneless Portuguese sardines owing to the fish not being of a suitable size for preparation. Fishing for Norwegian sardines has been in progress for over a month, but no reports have been received here on which to base a judgment of this year's run.

FREIGHTS DULL IN EUROPE.

Lloyd B. Sanderson Sees Good Outlook Here Because of Crops.

Lloyd B. Sanderson, general agent of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, who returned from London yesterday on the White Star liner Olympic, said the outlook for general freights in Europe this season was not bright, but the prospects for the North Atlantic trade were good on account of expected heavy crops in the United States.

"The grain will start moving across the Atlantic in September," said Mr. Sanderson, "and there will be plenty of tonnage this year because there is little demand for it in Europe, which will be different from 1912, when no ships were to be had."

He added that all the shipyards were busy on the other side and that no doubt a good deal of the new tonnage was intended for the Panama Canal trade.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

WHEAT.

The wheat market was again under pressure of new-crop offerings, and during the first part of the day prices were decidedly weak, with heavy selling. Leading commission houses were aggressive on the bear side, and at the decline the market touched the lowest point reached for a number of years.

Late in the day there was a partial reaction, which left the market ¼c to ⅜c lower at the close.

In the local cash market No. 2 hard Winter wheat was quoted at 97⅞c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York; new No. 2 red, 90¾c, July shipment, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.00¾, free on board, afloat; No. 1 Northern, Manitoba, $1.02¼, free on board, afloat.

STORMY TRANSIT MEETING.

Shareholder of Manhattan Co. Wants to Know What Directors Have Done.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Manhattan Transit Company was held yesterday at 250 East Forty-eighth Street. There were too many stock owners present for the capacity of the room, and much confusion resulted, especially when some one on the outskirts of the crowd wanted to know what the Directors had done since the last previous meeting in 1911. Inquirers did not receive much information, and it was decided finally to adjourn the meeting until today.

These Directors were elected: Nicholas Abel, G. E. Bouche, W. R. Sheldon, John A. Burke, George P. McCreedy, E. K. Hill, O. B. Corbin, W. E. White, W. W. Walters, Frank Loomis, and Seyd Havens. The Stockholders' Protective Committee has called a meeting also of shareholders for today, and it is expected that objections will be made then to the action of the majority shareholders yesterday in voting to uphold the Directors in their work since the meeting three years ago.

BUSINESS NOTES.

An average of between 60 and 70 cents on the dollar was obtained on a stock of clothing inventoried at about $10,000 and sold yesterday by Van Praag & Co., 15 Greene Street. The attendance and the bidding seemed to indicate an active demand for merchandise of the sort.

Cloos & Simon, resident buyers, 15 East Twenty-sixth Street, have added three new accounts to their list. They are the Newman, Sobel Company of Chicago, A. Livingston & Sons of Bloomington, Ill., and the Albany Model Company of Albany, N. Y.

The thirty-first anniversary sale of hosiery and underwear now carried on by [illegible] & Frank, 578 Broadway, has attracted the attention of buyers from all over the country. It was said yesterday by a member of the firm that not only were the merchants now in the city taking advantage of the offerings in a substantial way, but heavy mail orders have been received as well. Ribbed vests for women, women's hosiery, and men's half hose are in special demand. The sale will continue to the end of the coming week.

BEAD NECKLACE DUTIES.

Treasury Department Gives Rule for Classifying Them.

The Treasury Department in a letter to Collector Malone, which has the effect of an order to all officials of the customs, has made an attempt to dispose of the troublesome question of the classification of bead necklaces imported under the act of 1913.

Considerable correspondence on the subject has taken place between the department and Collector Malone. In his latest letter to the Collector, Assistant Secretary Malburn refers to the variance in practice at several ports in the classification of the necklaces. Previously the Collector had expressed the opinion that the necklaces when valued above 20 cents per dozen pieces should be assessed with duty at the rate of 60 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 356 as jewelry, and when valued at less than 20 cents per dozen pieces classification should be made according to the component material of chief value. The Assistant Secretary concurs in the views expressed by the Collector. Mr. Malburn's letter says:

> As it appears from the Appraiser's report of April 29 last, that it has been the practice at your port to classify beaded bracelets and beaded necklaces under Paragraph 333 of the Tariff act at the rate of 50 per cent. ad valorem, and the duty under Paragraph 356 would be a higher rate, you are hereby directed to continue to assess duty upon the articles in question at the rate of 50 per cent. ad valorem imported or withdrawn from warehouse within thirty days from the date thereof, after which date you are directed to assess duty on such articles at the rate of 60 per cent. ad valorem as articles commonly and commercially known as jewelry under Paragraph 356 of the Tariff act.
>
> As it further appears from your letter that it is your practice to assess duty upon beaded bracelets and beaded necklaces when valued at 20 cents per dozen pieces or less under Paragraph 333, and that protests are pending before the board against this classification, you are hereby authorized, pending a judicial determination of this question, to continue your practice in this regard. The classification of these articles under Paragraph 333, however, is not to be construed as a modification of the department's decision in T. D. 34019, that rosaries are dutiable according to the component material of chief value, as the department acquiesces in the decision of the United States Circuit Court in T. D. 28883, that rosaries, although composed principally of beads, are neither ornaments nor ornamental in character.

$12,000,000 Bonds from Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The National City Bank of New York, Lee, Higginson & Co., and N. W. Halsey & Co. have purchased the $12,000,000 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds of the Northwestern Elevated Railroad Company, which are created under a new mortgage, closed at $17,000,000. The remaining $5,000,000 bonds will be held in reserve for future corporate purposes. This is part of the plan for financing the Chicago Elevated Railways' $30,000,000 5 per cent. three-year notes which mature on July 1. The notes will be paid in cash.

BUSINESS BETTER IN CHILE.

Lack of Fixed Exchange Rate for Paper Money Blamed for Depression

L. H. Philippe, manager at Valparaiso for a big Scottish rope-making concern, who has lived in Chile for thirteen years, says that while that country is suffering from business depression, the cause is not quite the same as in Argentina, where it is blamed on the Balkan war and the consequent tightening of the purse strings of Europe. Mr. Philippe blames poor exchange and the paper money of the country.

"Business is now improving a little," said Mr. Philippe, who arrived at the Imperial yesterday from Chile. "An effort is being made to get exchange fixed at 10 pence. If this can be done, foreigners will have more confidence in the country. At present the paper dollar may be worth 9 pence (18 cents) one day, and the next it may be worth only 8½.

"Chile has been extravagant, and is having difficulty getting further loans. It bought two great dreadnoughts and had to sell them because there was no money to pay for them.

"Of course the resources of the country are quite different from those of Argentina, being mineral and nitrate. An American copper company is doing the biggest business in Chile, and another American concern has lately started to exploit the copper mines.

"I heard nothing of any anti-American sentiment after the taking of Vera Cruz. The whole of Chile is rather Anglicized. In Valparaiso one need not know a word of Spanish to get along.

"Coming up on the boat with me were five representatives of the Business Men's League of St. Louis, who remained at Panama. They had been investigating commercial opportunities in South American countries."

Special Dispatches to THE TIMES.

UTICA, N. Y.—Lee L. Hall of Stony Creek, an excelsior manufacturer; petition in bankruptcy filed; liabilities, $25,656; assets, $31,333. Mr. Hall sustained a loss of $23,000 recently when his plant and product was destroyed by fire. It was only partly insured.

OMAHA, Neb.—W. L. Yetter & Co., wholesale wall paper manufacturers of Omaha and Kansas City; petition in bankruptcy filed; liabilities, $103,000; assets, $90,000. The poor collections of accounts and the crop failure last year in Kansas and Oklahoma are given as causes of the failure.

WOOL MARKET STRONG.

Prices in the West Higher Than in Many Years.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 17.—The American Wool and Cotton Reporter will say tomorrow:

"The wool market is very strong and in an extremely healthy condition. Prices in the West are on a higher level than they have been in several years. The more conservative operators are showing but little inclination to purchase largely at present prices. Montana wools are now held at 20 cents and over, with Soda Springs ranging from 21 to 21½ cents. Conservative estimates place the amount of the clip already at 85 to 90 per cent. Sales in the Boston market are 4,750,000 pounds for the week.

"The cotton goods market is not particularly active, but prices are well maintained, with no indication that sellers will be willing to grant concessions from present prices for some time to come. The interest of buyers is largely centred in spot goods, and in many instances they are willing to pay slightly higher prices in order to obtain immediate deliveries of desirable fabrics. The conservative attitude of buyers is of special interest to manufacturers, as it is probable that with a short supply it will be easier to obtain advances in prices than would be the case were the dealer possessed of a considerable stock.

"The woolen and worsted goods market is rather inactive, except on certain lines of coatings, chinchillas, mackinaws, and a few novelty fabrics. The women's wear market is decidedly dull, with no indication of great improvement in the near future. The broadcloth situation is practically unchanged, the general opinion seeming to be that this fabric will be stronger than for several years past.

"The worsted yarn market shows a decided increase in the number of inquiries, and a fair volume of business has been accomplished. Prices are firm, with little probability of immediate definite price advances."

Heavy Imports of Potash Salts.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Potash salts imported in 1913 aggregated about 2,000,000,000 pounds, valued at more than $15,000,000, according to figures issued today by the Geological Survey. The imports for consumption of materials entering largely into the fertilizer industry plus the value of the domestic phosphate rock reached the total valuation of $52,990,469.

NEW YORK—Catskill Mountains.

The Catskill Mountains

The high altitude, romantic scenery, green fields, towering crags, native grandeur, wildwood charm, attractive hotels, boarding houses, farm houses, trout streams, popular walks, drives, parks and the purest and best air in this historic, picturesque and healthful paradise, are the attractions that increase its popularity each year as a Summer resort.

The ULSTER & DELAWARE R.R.

reaches all points in this mountain sanitarium and great pleasure ground, and in connection with West Shore R. R., operates through trains, including Pullman service.

The RIP VAN WINKLE EXPRESS leaves Cortlandt Street 12:40 noon, West 42d Street 1 o'clock P. M., daily except Sunday.

Steamers of the Hudson River Day Line make direct connection at Kingston Point with afternoon trains for all points in the mountains.

The Summer time schedule for season of 1914 will go in effect Sunday, June 28th.

The annual illustrated book with revised map of the Catskill Mountain section, also map showing the great Ashokan Reservoir, and containing corrected list of over 1,000 hotels and boarding houses, will be sent free on receipt of 6 cents postage.

Here is a glorious playground where Nature bids you to enjoy her riches!

You may sail, fish or swim in crystal water which changes its hues with each varying slant of sunlight—ride, drive or wheel on the world's finest roadways—hewn out of solid white coral rock—which wind their way through a veritable Eden of loveliness—or you may indulge to an unlimited extent in your favorite sport of golf, tennis, baseball, etc.

The marvelous crystal caves and wonderful sea-gardens, too, will play an important part in your pleasurable remembrances, and, to crown it all, the safe, swift and palatial steamers which carry you there sail through balmy Summer seas, making the voyage seem an all-too-short delightful yachting cruise.

If you have been planning to go elsewhere on your vacation, it will pay you a thousand-fold to reconsider and investigate the unequaled delights of Bermuda—the Ocean Paradise. Write for illustrated descriptive booklets now, while you think of it, and enjoy a vacation you will talk of for years to come.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—There has been a rise in temperature throughout the country, except in the South, where there were again general showers, with stationary and lower temperatures.

Over the western half of the country temperatures are quite high, especially in the great Valley of California, where they range from 94 degrees to 108 degrees. There was no precipitation other than that in the South, except some scattering showers in Minnesota, Nebraska, and the Dakotas, exereme Northwestern Iowa, and New Mexico.

There is quite a marked depression over Southern Alberta, and its eastward movement will be attended by higher temperatures over the central and northern portions of the country, reaching the Atlantic States by Friday. In the South, thunder showers Thursday will prevent any considerable rise in temperature, but it will be somewhat warmer by Friday, by which time the showers will not cover so large an area.

Over the remainder of the country the weather will be generally fair Thursday and Friday, except in the Northwest, the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys, where there will be local showers that may extend Thursday night or Friday into the Lake region.

Winds for Thursday and Friday along the North and Middle Atlantic Coasts will be moderate south; South Atlantic Coast, moderate northeast- except variable off the Florida Coast.

FORECASTS: TODAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair Thursday and Friday, with rising temperatures; moderate south winds.

Southern New England—Fair Thursday, slightly warmer in interior. Friday, fair; moderate south winds.

New Jersey—Fair Thursday, warmer in interior. Friday, fair, warmer; gentle to moderate south winds.

Western New York—Fair Thursday, warmer in east and south portions. Friday, fair, warmer; gentle to moderate south and southwest winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Thursday. Friday, fair, warmer; gentle to moderate south winds.

Northern New England—Fair Thursday, warmer, except on East Maine Coast. Friday fair; moderate south winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1913.	1914.		1913.	1914.
3 A. M.	75	55	4 P. M.	85	73
6 A. M.	77	54	6 P. M.	82	69
9 A. M.	79	62	9 P. M.	75	62
12 M.	83	69	11 P. M.	71	62

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 62; for the corresponding date last year it was 78; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three yeads, 69.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 57; at 8 P. M. it was 63. Maximum temperature, 73 degrees at 2:30 P. M.; minimum, 52 degrees at 5 A. M. Humidity, 53 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 53 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.16 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.19 inches.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The Association of Workers among Truant and Delinquent Children has been organized by Principals, Miss Olive M. Jones, Public School 120; Miss Lucille Nicol, Public School 61, Hobart H. Todd, the Parental School, Flushing, and Miss Annette M. Arnold, the school on Randall's Island. All teachers and others interested in this work are requested to become members. The dues are 50 cents a year.

There will be a shopwork exhibition at Public School 74, 220 East Sixty-third Street, from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M., on June 26.

An exhibition by the classes in costume illustration, blackboard drawing and water color, under the auspices of the Brooklyn Teachers' Association, will be given in the kindergarten room of the Brooklyn Training School for Teachers, Park Place, near Nostrand Avenue, on June 20.

The Board of Education has amended contracts for improving the sanitary conditions at Public School 2, 51, 66, and 75, the Jamaica and Richmond Hill High Schools, and the Parental School, Queens.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

Candidates for the examination for draughtsman at Terrace Garden on June 23 must bring a drawing board 24 by 30 inches and drawing instruments. The commission will supply only the paper.

The examination for engineering chemist will be held on July 1. There are forty-one candidates. One for junior chemist will be held on July 3. There are thirty-one candidates.

The receipt of applications for trade instructor in basketry and mattress making will be closed at 4 P. M. on June 29. There are three vacancies in the Public Charities Dept. at a salary of $900.

The commission has refused to place the position of stenographer to the Deputy Commissioner, Public Charities Dept., in the exempt class.

These have been approved: Recommendation of the Advisory Board that the order for the examination for radiographer be canceled because the list for photographer X-ray now being prepared should properly be certified for that position.

Request of the Controller for an examination for promotion to fourth-grade examiner to fill a vacancy in the law and ajustment div.

A hearing on the question of placing the position of chief engineer, Parks Dept., in the exempt class was held by the commission yesterday. Decision was reserved.

United States.

A competitive examination will be held at the New York Custom House for timber scaler, for men only, on July 8, to fill a vacancy, at $90 a month, on ceded Chippewa Indian lands in Minn., under the General Land Office, Interior Dept. Persons appointed will be employed only during the logging season, beginning in Oct. of each year and ending the following Spring. Competitors will be examined in (1) practical questions and (2) training and experience. At least three years' practical experience in lumbering operations is a prerequisite. Applicants must have reached their twentieth but not their fiftieth birthday on the date of the examination. Further information may be obtained from the commission, Washington, D. C.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

New Corporation to Erect Thirty-two-story Office Building on American Bank Note Plot at Cost of $4,000,000—Sale of Mrs. Philip Lydig's House Reported.

Outside of the reported sale of Mrs. Philip Lydig's residence at 38 East Fifty-second Street and the announcement of the sale of the American Bank Note plot at Trinity Place and Greenwich Street for the erection of a thirty-two story office building, little of importance was recorded in the realty market yesterday. Willard D. Straight bought a garage site in East Ninety-Second Street, and the Dyckman section showed continued evidences of activity in the report of a deal pending for a new apartment house.

Skyscraper for Trinity Place.

Negotiations have been completed for the sale of the American Bank Note plot on Trinity Place and Greenwich Street, between Rector and Cedar Streets. This property is held at $1,300,000. It will be transferred to a new corporation, which will erect a thirty-two story office building at a cost of $4,000,000. The sale was negotiated by Herbert T. Spyr.

Lydig House Sale.

The Lydig house covers a plot 25.6 by 100.5 between Madison and Park Avenues. Negotiations for its purchase have been in progress for several days. Mrs. Lydig is now traveling in Europe. The residence is a five-story American basement dwelling and is assessed at $105,000. Directly opposite is the large seven-story apartment house owned by William K. Vanderbilt.

W. D. Straight Buys Garage Site.

Willard D. Straight, who is erecting a fine residence on the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Ninety-fourth Street, has purchased the two plots at 160 and 162 East Ninety-second Street, between Lexington and Third Avenues, for improvement with a two-story garage for his use. Two old frame buildings are now on the property. The plot at 160 was bought from Henry Grenhart and the other from Clara S. Neumann and others. The combined frontage is 50 feet by 100.8. Pease & Elliman were the brokers in the sale.

Dyckman Deal Pending.

Negotiations are pending for the sale of the six-story flathouse occupying a plot 110 by 134 on the northwest corner of Naegle Avenue and Arden Street.

This is one of several similar structures recently completed and owned by the Hensle Construction Company, of which Charles Hensle is President. The prospective buyer is an investor who, it is understood, has arranged to give vacant property in part payment.

A Recent Buyer.

T. Chambers Reid is the buyer of 874 West End Avenue, sold recently by Harriet B. Leeming. The buyer owns 876.

Bronx Sales.

Epstein & Yarfetz sold for the 173d Street Improvement Company to a client for investment 978 Aldus Street, a five-story new law flat, on a plot 42 by 107 feet, adjoining the northeast corner of Hoe Avenue. The same firm of brokers also sold for the estate of Aleck Kahn and Isaac Heineman a plot of five lots on the east side of Seabury Place, 100 feet south of Boston Road. The buyer will improve the property with three five-story apartment houses.

Brooklyn.

Bryan L. Kennelly has sold for Stewart McDougall to Maurice Hartman the southwest corner of Forty-second Street and Tenth Avenue, a vacant plot, 100 by 100 feet. The property is close to the new dual subway station at Forty-fourth Street and New Utrecht Avenue. Mr. Hartman plans to improve it with apartment houses.

Newmann Leavy sold for the Robert Lee estate the southwest corner of Fifty-second Street and Fifteenth Avenue, a plot 100 by 100 feet, to a client.

Long Island.

G. Taus & Son have sold the residence of Mrs. V. Wolf on the east side of South Wave Crest Avenue, Arverne, to B. Baff as a Summer residence.

Westchester County.

The Duross Company has sold for J. Burke a lot on the north side of Home Street, 100 feet from Fisher Avenue, White Plains, to William Hammond.

Fish & Marvin have sold for the Briarcliff Realty Company five acres of land with farm house and outbuildings, situated on Bedford Road, Briarcliff Manor, to Dr. Finley R. Cook of Chappaqua. The purchaser will remodel the farmhouse and make extensive improvements.

Commercial Leases.

Three lofts, the first, second, and third in the twelve-story building now under construction at 36 to 46 East Thirty-first Street by the Aeon Realty Company, Sumner Gerard President, have been leased from the plans by Nat Goldston & Co., manufacturers of women's wear, now at 26 West Seventeenth Street. The firm has also leased the first loft in the adjoining building, 32 and 34 East Thirty-first Street, being erected by the Adroit Building Company, J. M. Brady President. Nathan Weiss was the broker.

Shaw & Co. have leased the following stores, 200 St. Nicholas Avenue, for De Witt C. Judson to Frank A. Kenny, 278 Lenox Avenue, for John J. Spowers to Emil Coblitz, and 2,353 Jerome Avenue for August Schuck to Dora Pikulin.

Duros Company has leased for B. Bickford to the Supreme Chocolate Company the four lofts and basement in 69 Barrow Street, running through to 33 Commerce Street, for a term of years. S. Albert represented the lessor.

Louis Kempner & Son have leased for the Aetna Amusement Corporation the corner store in the Olympia Theatre Building, at the southwest corner of Broadway and 107th Street, to C. C. Trepel, who some six months ago acquired from Klein & Jackson the lease of the half block on the west side of Broadway, between Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth Streets.

Slawson & Hobbs have leased for the Telaforre Company, Frank Tilford President, the three-story private stable 254 West Sixty-ninth Street to Frederick G. Bowne, President of the Singer Manufacturing Company.

M. and L. Hess have leased the entire Fourth Avenue front of the eighteenth floor in the Hess Building, 354-360 Fourth Avenue, to the J. C. Penney Company, Inc.

Private Dwellings Leased.

Louis Kempner & Son have leased for Lowenfeld & Prager for a term of years the private house 619 West End Avenue, being the southwest corner of Ninetieth Street, to Juletta Willson.

S. Werdenschlag and Martin H. Cohen have leased for S. J. Singer for a term of years the dwelling 519 West 142d Street to a client for occupancy.

Pease & Elliman have leased the three-story residence at 252 West Seventy-fourth Street for Mrs. C. E. Gargan to William Sturgis, and for George Randolph Chester to Ecklin P. Gayer the four-story house at 41 West Seventy-fourth Street.

Payson McL. Merrill Company, Inc., has leased for Albert Herter to Patrick Mullins the three-story dwelling 2,046 Madison Avenue.

Gould Brokaw Estate Leased.

The W. Gould Brokaw estate at Great Neck, L. I., has been leased for the season, with the large house furnished, to Harry F. Guggenheim. Pease & Elliman negotiated the lease.

Big 43d Street Alteration.

No plans for new buildings were filed yesterday either in Manhattan or the Bronx. One alteration plan exceeding $5,000 was filed in Manhattan involving alterations to the two seven-story apartment houses at 241 and 247 West Forty-third Street, recently leased on a long term by Henry Claman. Gronenberg & Leuchtag, the architects, place the cost at $50,000.

New Queens Traction Line.

The New York & Long Island Traction Company will connect its present lines in the Jamaica section with the elevated extension on Liberty Avenue, Jamaica. A certificate of extension was filed last week with the Queens County Clerk. The company will extend a line from the Rockaway Plank Road to Liberty Avenue at Ozone Park, where connection will be made with the new elevated line, and will add a loop on Ocean Avenue.

Realty Notes.

Plans have been prepared by Maximilian Zipkes, architect, for alterations to 163 and 165 East Eighty-fourth Street, for Francis J. McAneny. The cost is estimated at $7,000.

Justice Greenbaum has granted permission to the Ancient Order of Hibernians to mortgage its property, at the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and 116th Street, for $160,000, as follows: $140,000 to M. M. Warburg of Hamburg, Germany, and a second mortgage for $20,000 to Max Kobre of Manhattan. The new loans will retire $60,000 due the Mutual Life Insurance Company and a building loan for $72,000.

The STORY of JUNE 23rd, 1914

CHAPTER X.

AUCTION SALES

IN 1766 a map was made for His Majesty's Governor General of the Province of New York, by Lieutenant Ratzer, in His Majesty's Royal American regiment.

This map was built to show all the summer and winter resorts — foreign and domestic watering places—tea dansants—roof gardens and other interesting places in the City of New York. But it doesn't. It shows mostly farms.

A favorite "get-rich-quick" scheme at this period and for many years later was to get a Government license and be a pirate.

Many business men of the city did this; called themselves Shipping Merchants, and their ships, Privateersmen.

These merchants became wealthy and bought the farms. They used them as country houses, and became amateur farmers — raised milk, butter and eggs at $5 per quart, pound or piece — and complained of the high cost of living, the same as Captains of Industry today.

Later on, when the City ran a street through their back parlor or they died or did something, their farms were divided into lots—and put up at Auction.

Ninety per cent of the City of New York and its tremendous wealth in Real Estate consists of property that was put up at Auction exactly as the City-Line Property is going to be put up at Auction and sold on June 23rd.

Just glance over the following list of what property sold for at Auction Sales—and its value today.

LOCATION	Sold at Auction per lot	New Worth per lot	LOCATION	Sold at Auction per lot	New Worth per lot
Park Av. bet. 50th and 51st St.	$ 450	$ 60,000	57th St. bet. B'way and 7th Av.	$ 300	$ 85,000
59th St. bet. B'way and 7th Av.	230	100,000	32d St. bet. Park Av. and 5th	1,500	60,000
42d St. bet. B'way and 6th Av.	1,870	200,000	45th St. bet. 5th and 6th Av.	775	75,000
6th Ave. bet. 42d and 43d St.	2,100	150,000	77th St. bet. 5th and Park Av.	650	60,000
B'way bet. 41st and 42d St.	2,500	350,000	5th Avenue and 58th Street	500	300,000
B'way bet. 46th and 47th St.	1,000	250,000	8th Avenue and 65th Street	400	60,000
B'way bet. 57th and 59th St.	700	250,000	83d Street and Park Avenue	275	50,000
50th St. bet. 3d and Park Av.	400	20,000	5th Av., bet. 86th and 87th Sts.	550	150,000

When these lots were sold at the above prices at Auction, people said the lots would never be worth any more — that the opportunities had all passed.

Short-sighted people say the same today. But we know from the experience of generations that the opportunities are here today and are better than ever because the City is growing faster.

The Pearsall Sale was held week before last. A purchaser at this sale has already been offered a $10,000 profit — and refused it. Other buyers were offered profits. Some sold at a profit before leaving the Auction Room.

At the Hennessey Estate Sale — held April 28th — a number of the buyers have already sold at a profit. Building has already started on the property. You can go there and see it — convince yourself.

AN ABSOLUTE AUCTION SALE OF NEW YORK CITY PROPERTY ALONG THE LINE OF ITS NORTHWARD GROWTH — PARTICULARLY ALONG BROADWAY — OFFERS THE SAFEST, CLEANEST AND BEST WAY OF MAKING MONEY, WITHOUT TAKING ANY RISK.

The Auction Sale on June 23rd of the Broadway City-Line Property is the best opportunity that has been or will be offered for many years. See Chapter XI Tomorrow.

Shore Acres

Nothing more beautiful in all Westchester County than Shore Acres—right on Long Island Sound, and only 40 minutes from Grand Central. Will have 165 trains daily. Only a short distance from Mamaroneck; every modern improvement, and with a parkway a mile long leading from the famous Boston Post Road direct to the beautiful clubhouse at the water's edge. Every lot a water front or water view—yet priced at little more than inland property elsewhere. Come and see—as our guest—and let the beauty of Shore Acres do its own talking. It can do it better than we can.

MASTER'S SALE.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE DISTRICT OF KANSAS, FIRST DIVISION, IN EQUITY, CONSOLIDATED CASE NO. 1,262.—UNITED STATES & MEXICAN TRUST COMPANY, ET AL., COMPLAINANTS, vs. THE KANSAS CITY, MEXICO & ORIENT RAILWAY COMPANY, ET AL., DEFENDANTS.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE AND SALE.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the decree of foreclosure and sale in the above entitled cause, made by the District Court of the United States for the District of Kansas, First Division, on the second day of February, 1914, and certain decrees ancillary thereto, duly entered in the several courts having jurisdiction of the several parts of the property hereinafter described, I, Bernard Kelly, as Special Master thereto duly authorized and empowered by the decrees above mentioned, will sell, in the manner hereinafter specified, at public auction, to the highest and best bidder or bidders, at the west front door of the County Court House, situate in the City of Wichita, Sedgwick County, State of Kansas, at ten o'clock A. M., on the sixth day of July, 1914, the following property of The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway Company, to-wit: All the mortgaged railroads, property, rights, franchises, functions, immunities and appurtenances to the same belonging, rolling stock, corporate stocks, or bonds or interest in corporate stock, or bonds, contracts, choses in action, interests in any litigation affecting the mortgaged property or any part thereof, brought by or on behalf of said The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway Company, or the trustee under its first mortgage, dated February 1st, 1901, or to which said trustee may for the time being be a party, property, premises and rights of every kind and description covered by and embraced in said first mortgage of said Railway Company, all of which are hereinafter referred to as Lot "A."

For a more detailed description of the property to be sold, prospective purchasers are referred to the aforesaid decree of foreclosure and sale entered in the above entitled cause on Februry 2nd, 1914.

At the same time and place I will sell, in the manner hereinafter specified, to the highest and best bidder or bidders, all other property of said The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway Company, real, personal and mixed, rights, franchises, functions, immunities and appurtenances of every kind and description belonging to the said Railway Company and not covered by or included in the aforesaid first mortgage, dated February 1st, 1901, or subject to the lien thereof, all of which property is hereinafter referred to as Lot "B."

The said property, designated as Lot "A," shall be sold, free and clear of any liens or charges, to secure the payment of the outstanding receivers' certificates and receivers' notes, such lien or charge being transferred to the money to be paid into court to pay off and discharge said certificates and said notes and interest thereon, as in the aforesaid decree of foreclosure and sale provided, but subject to a lien to secure the payment of any other indebtedness, obligation, or liability which shall have been duly and lawfully contracted or incurred by the receivers in the operations of the railway properties in their custody and control, and also subject to the rights and claims of certain other persons or companies as in said decree of foreclosure and sale provided, if and to the extent to which the same may hereafter be established, and not otherwise.

Said Lot "A" shall first be offered for sale and bids received therefor; then said Lot "B" shall be offered for sale and bids received therefor.

Immediately after said Lots "A" and "B" shall have been offered for sale and bids received therefor, all the property constituting Lots "A" and "B" shall be offered together as a single lot or parcel and bids received therefor.

If the highest bid for all such property when offered together as a single lot or parcel shall exceed the aggregate of the highest bids received and noted for said Lots "A" and "B" when offered separately, as aforesaid, then all such property shall be struck off and sold together as a single lot or parcel to the purchaser making the highest bid therefor; and if no bid shall be received for said Lots "A" and "B" when offered together which shall exceed the aggregate of the bids for said lots when offered separately, then said lots shall be struck off to the highest bidders therefor when the same shall have been offered separately.

No bid for Lot "A" shall be received from any one offering to bid therefor unless such person so offering to bid shall have first deposited with me, as Special Master, as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, the sum of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) in cash or by certified check upon any bank or trust company acceptable to said Special Master, or bonds secured by said first mortgage or certificates of deposit of Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company therefor in the amount of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00.)

No bid for Lot "B" will be received unless the person offering to bid therefor shall have first deposited with me as Special Master, as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of acceptance, the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) in cash or by certified check upon any bank or trust company acceptable to such Special Master.

No bid for said railroads, franchises, property, and premises embraced in Lot "A" less than the sum of Six Million Dollars ($6,000,000.00) will be accepted by said Special Master, and no bid for the property embraced in Lot "B" less than the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) will be accepted by the said Special Master, and unless said sums shall be bid for said lots respectively, the sale will be adjourned.

Upon the acceptance of any bid for Lot "A" the person or persons making the same shall, after the application thereto of any amounts theretofore deposited by him or them in cash, make payment in cash to the Special Master within ten (10) days after the entry of an order of the Court directing such payment, of such amount as shall be necessary to pay and satisfy the costs in the above case, the allowances that shall be made, and any taxes which may be a lien upon the mortgaged premises; and such purchaser will also be required, upon confirmation of the sale, to deposit in such banks or trust companies as may be approved by the Court, the sums of money mentioned in the aforesaid decree of foreclosure and sale, dated February 2nd, 1914, for the purpose of discharging and satisfying the obligations specified in paragraph 19 of said decree.

The balance of the purchase price of Lot "A" not required to be paid in cash, may be paid either in cash, or the purchaser may satisfy and make good the balance of his bid in whole or in part by turning in to be paid and cancelled, or to have payment on account credited thereon, first mortgage bonds and coupons, and such purchaser shall be credited therefor on account of the purchase price with such sums in cash as would be payable on such bonds and coupons out of the proceeds of the sale, if the whole amount of the purchase price were paid in cash.

The amount payable upon the acceptance of a bid for Lot "B" shall be payable in cash, any moneys deposited to qualify the purchaser to bid being first applied thereon.

In case any bidder or purchaser shall fail to make good his bid upon its acceptance by the Special Master, by making any of the payments as hereinbefore provided in consummation of his purchase then the sums paid or deposited by such bidder or purchaser shall be forfeited as a penalty for such failure, and shall be applied toward the payment of the expenses of a resale, and toward making good any deficiency or loss in case the property shall be sold at a less price upon such resale, and for any other or further purposes that the Court may direct. If any sale for which a deposit has been made shall not be confirmed by the Court, such deposit shall be returned to the purchaser and the deposit of any unsuccessful bidder shall be returned to him when a bid other than that made by him shall have been accepted. The right is reserved to retake and resell the property upon such notice as the aforesaid Court shall direct in case the purchaser shall fail or omit to make any payment on account of the purchase price as hereinbefore required.

Upon payment of the purchase price by the purchaser or purchasers of said property, or his or their successors or assigns, or upon making such provision for the payment thereof as the Court shall approve, and upon confirmation of the sale, the Special Master making the sale will execute and deliver a good and sufficient deed or deeds and instrument or instruments of transfer, giving and transferring the property purchased to the purchaser thereof, or his or their successors or assigns, and upon the execution and delivery of said deed or deeds or instrument or instruments of transfer, the grantee or grantees therein named shall be let in to possession of the property and premises thereby conveyed and transferred.

For a more specific statement of the rights and property to be sold as aforesaid, and the terms and conditions of the sale thereof, reference is hereby made to the decree of foreclosure and sale entered in the aforesaid Court on February 2nd, 1914, as hereinbefore stated.

Special Master.

DUTCHESS COUNTY, N. Y.
L. W. KAYSER, Proprietor.

June 16th, 1914.

The New York Times:—

For four years I have rented the rooms of Pleasant View House exclusively through the Country Board column of The New York Times. I have tried other newspapers, but without success.

I also use The New York Times to rent rooms in my city apartment, as I find it brings the most satisfactory people. I appreciate this service.

WORK ON THE PANAMA CANAL is practically at an end, and the vast army of "diggers" now have to seek employment in some new field. I am one of them, and am most anxious to get in touch with some one who needs the services of a man with this training and experience: Cornell University, '94; member of New York Bar; four years on the Canal work; the past two years as Chief Inspector of the Panama Rail Road. The Chief Inspector is the General Superintendent's confidential man. I had supervision of the work of about 100 men.

I have been in every State in the Union a number of times and traveled extensively on the Continent. This experience has made me a good judge of men and a good "mixer."

I am thoroughly competent to take charge of an office or to fill a position as personal secretary, where a knowledge of stenography is not required.

I know how to meet people in all walks of life and how to handle them when met.

Am I not the man you are looking for? Of course I can furnish satisfactory references. Address W. W. Wait, 217 West 49th St., New York City. Telephone, Columbus 1807.

MRS. ALDEN REBUKED AS SUNSHINE LEADER

Report Charges Her with 'Loose and Careless' Management of Society's Funds.

RECOMMENDS NEW INQUIRY

Minister's Mite-Box Collections Never Checked Up—Some of the Books Strangely Disappeared.

The International Sunshine Society, 96 Fifth Avenue, which was founded by Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden "to bring the sunshine of happiness into the greatest possible number of hearts and homes," and which has been supported by popular subscription, is vigorously censured in a report made public yesterday by the State Board of Charities. Mrs. Alden is charged with "loose and careless" management of the funds of the society, and it is charged that she has acted in some instances without warrant of law.

There is no charge that any one acted with intent to profit, but grafting is implied, and the State Board specifically requests that the Supreme Court appoint a visitor to make further inquiries regarding the institution. The report has been sent to the Attorney General for such action as he may deem fit. It is expected that a further investigation will result.

Mrs. Alden receives the brunt of the criticism in the report, but others are named as associated with her in "financial operations the legality and moral right of which are open to serious question." The report devotes considerable space to George E. Crater, Jr., an attorney who represented the International Sunshine Society in real estate and financial transactions, and the Rev. Edwin C. Holman of New Jersey, who received a 25 per cent. commission on collections for the society from "mite boxes" which he placed in hotels and clubs.

The International Sunshine Society was organized in 1896 and was incorporated in 1900 as a non-sectarian institution. Besides Mrs. Alden the officers are Mrs. Theodore F. Seward, Mrs. Edwin Knowles, Mrs. Agnes Schull-Gramm, Mrs. Minnie W. Delbridge, and Mrs. Edith A. M. Casey. The institutions owned and operated by the society are the Sunshine Arthur Home for Blind Babies, Summit, N. J.; Sunshine Sanitarium, Bensonhurst-by-the-Sea, Brooklyn; Starkey Seminary Sunshine Lodge, a boarding house for girls at Lakemont, Yates County, N. Y., and Westover Lodge, Cropsey and Twenty-third Avenues, Brooklyn. In addition the society maintains an advisory interest in some 2,000 branches throughout the United States. According to Mrs. Alden's own admissions the society had collected from the public about $1,000,000.

Applied for a Charter.

The society's troubles began in 1913 when Attorney General Carmody held that it could not legally maintain a home for blind babies under its charter. Such a home had been maintained for some time. The society proceeded to get a new charter. The application, if granted, would have given the society powers equivalent to the Red Cross organization. It was referred to the State Board of Charities and just about that time the New Jersey State Commission for the Care of the Blind requested an investigation of the society's activities at its Summit home. This request resulted in a preliminary hearing by the New York State Board of Charities. This hearing proved so sensational that a formal investigation was precipitated. Fourteen hearings were held by a special committee of the board, composed of William R. Stewart, Herman Ridder, J. Richard Kevin, and Horace McGuire. Mrs. Alden and nine other witnesses were questioned by Robert W. Hebbard, Secretary of the State Board, and on their testimony the committee's report was based. This report was adopted unanimously by the State Board on Tuesday and was made public yesterday.

The report denies the application for an extension of the powers of the International Sunshine Society on the ground that "the business character and financial ability of Mrs. Alden and her associates" does not warrant it; furthermore, that there is no need for the existence of an additional institution to care for blind babies and that the expenditure of publicly donated funds for such an extension should not be intrusted to this society. Then follow these findings:

"First. That the International Sunshine Society has no legal right to conduct the Bensonhurst Hospital and Sanitarium nor the Home for Blind Babies at Summit, and that all such work should be immediately discontinued.

"Second. That large sums of money given for charitable purposes have been improperly used in maintaining the Bensonhurst Hospital and Sanitarium as a losing business venture, which moneys have been used in considerable part without business judgment or discretion, and under circumstances which, to say the least, are peculiar.

"Third. That of the sum of $5,000 paid from the treasury of the separately incorporated 'International Sunshine Branch for the Blind,' which maintains a home for blind babies at Dyker Heights, Brooklyn, into the maintenance funds of the Bensonhurst Hospital and Sanitarium, the sum of at least $2,500 was unlawfully and improperly taken and should be at once restored to the treasury of such corporation.

"Fourth. That the management of the funds of the International Sunshine Society and the Branch for the Blind under the direction of Mrs. Alden has been loose and careless and in some cases without warrant of law.

"Fifth. That this report together with the testimony taken and the other documents and papers be referred to the Attorney General for such action as he may find it possible to take thereupon."

Mrs. Alden's Letters.

Most of the fifty-column report is devoted to the methods of money collection and the methods of accounting and financing employed by Mrs. Alden and her agents. Mrs. Alden could write most appealing letters to the public. Thus she had an "empty stocking fund," a "free air fund," and many others. In her letters she told very graphically how the poor girls and mothers went to her office with their tales of woe. One letter was dictated at a temperature, according to Mrs. Alden, of 101 degrees, and while the letter was being dictated the stenographer, who was one of the girls who had applied to the society for help, was overcome by the heat. In her appeals Mrs. Alden explained that she wanted money for specific purposes. In her account books, however, it appeared that money collected for one purpose went to others. It is charged in the report that of $300 which was collected for "balls and dolls" for babies only $24 was so spent, the remainder going to a general fund. In another case a balance of $400 was charged to "profit and loss." In another case a $5,000 bequest went to pay for participation in a mortgage on one of the society's buildings.

The Bensonhurst Sanitarium, it is charged, was never a paying institution. It is charged that Mrs. Alden caused the general collections of the society to be wasted on this home and that this was done so as to bolster up the financial standing of the sanitarium; that money should have been made at the rates charged by the Sanitarium; that discrimination was employed as between pay and free patients; that Mrs. Alden authorized the payment by the society of $100 a share for 280 shares of stock of the Sanitarium when the stock could have been purchased for $50 to $80. It is charged that unexplained financial transactions were made between Mrs. Alden and Crater, the lawyer, by certified checks, and that large sums of money out of the society's treasury were paid to Crater.

Mrs. Alden, it appears, collected many endowment funds for beds in her various charitable departments. It is charged that these funds were not applied so as to keep these beds occupied, that some of the beds, in fact, were only occupied a few weeks a year. It is in this connection that the report cites the case of the $5,000 contribution by the society's branch on Dycker Heights for a bed in the Bensonhurst Sanitarium.

Books "Strangely Disappeared."

"The sum of $5,037.50 was raised, but the committee was unable to discover where an item of $2,500 came from," the report says. "It was learned that the item of $2,500 was transferred from an account called the reserve fund, and that another item of $268.71 came from a savings bank. It therefore seems certain that the two items represent funds not collected for the purpose of endowing beds. Your committee regrets that the books of the society which would throw light on the specific sources from which the $2,500 were received have so strangely disappeared. On inquiry it was learned that no urgent need for this bed endowment existed."

No matter how the money came into the treasury, it appears from the report, there was always some form of irregularity about the method of accounting for it. With reference to the activities of the Rev. Edward C. Holman of Franklin Furnace, N. J., who was appointed Field Secretary of the society by Mrs. Alden, the report states that no attempt was made to check up on the minister's collection from the "mite boxes." This same Mr. Holman, the committee notes, is now collecting money for the care of blind girls from mite boxes for an organization called "The Golden Rule Alliance," founded by him.

"These mite boxes," says the report, "for a time bore a card indicating the actual existence of a home, but in view of the charge that such home has not been established, the Rev. Holman changed the card to read: 'A penny a week will help us build a home for blind girls.' Such cards are displayed in public places in different parts of the State, and advertisements frequently appear in the newspapers regarding this society, which is not authorized to maintain in this State an institution for young children."

Mrs. Alden on her part, it appears from the report, did hire an accountant to go over the books from time to time. This accountant wrote her glowing letters about the good condition of her books. These letters were made use of in the appeal for funds, "apparently for the purpose of establishing confidence in the minds of the public as to the accuracy and completeness of the financial records of the society."

"Such prominence appears not to have been warranted by the facts," says the report. "The explanation given for the excess of credits admittedly given to Mrs. Alden on the books of the International Sunshine Society, thus increasing the credit balance for which she held stock of the Bensonhurst Sanitarium Company as security, and to cover which she was, with her own concurrence, voted a participation in the mortgage on the property of such company, was that she knew nothing of bookkeeping and that the accountant was incompetent. While all of this may be true, it is clear that the combination of circumstances would probably have proved to be unfortunate financially for the society had an investigation by outside interests not been commenced."

Mrs. Alden is out West attending women's club conventions. She was in Detroit yesterday, it was said at her offices. No statement was forthcoming at her office. Shortly before the proceedings before the special committee of the State Board were concluded, Mrs. Alden took the witness chair and made promises tending to mitigate the charges brought against her. She promised to segregate funds collected for specific purposes from all other funds; to separate the management of the Bensonhurst Hospital and Sanitarium from that of the International Sunshine Society and from the Arthur Home for the Blind in Summit in any manner satisfactory to the special committee of the State Board of Charities; also to return to the International Sunshine Branch for the Blind any moneys which in the opinion of the committee were improperly used, and also to undertake to present a set of books showing all receipts and disbursements of her society.

Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Mrs. Alden, dictated a statement at night attacking the State Board of Charities and its President, William R. Stewart, for making the report against the Sunshine Society public without first giving his client a hearing on the formulated charges. Since the findings of the special committee were based on evidence submitted by witnesses, he contended that the Sunshine Society should have been permitted to appear before the whole board to sum up that evidence for the society.

"The President of the State Board of Charities said at the outset of the hearings," said Mr. Littleton, "that this was to be in the nature of a Grand Jury investigation. If that is true, then this is the first time in recorded history that a Grand Jury has assumed the right to investigate, to indict, to try, to convict, and to sentence without giving the person accused the opportunity of being heard."

Lighthouse Fund Needs $11,500.

Less than $12,000 is now needed to complete the $300,000 fund which is needed by the New York Association for the Blind, to carry on its work of training and educating the blind. The fund at the present time is $288,500, including a subscription of $2,000, made by Felix Warburg, in addition to his original subscription of $5,000 on condition that the entire amount be raised before July 1. The Lighthouse Fund Committee of One Hundred, of which Arthur Williams is Chairman, is making every effort to obtain the balance before July 1. Among the recent large subscriptions are: Charles Baird, $1,000; Harold S. Vanderbilt, $500; Charles Stillman, $1,000; Mrs. Frederic F. Thompson, $5,000, and Mrs. James McLean, $1,000.

COOPER'S ESTATE MUST PAY $34,798

Widow of Joseph L. Cunningham Wins Suit for Commission on Sale of Stocks.

CASE IN COURT FOR YEARS

Debt to George D. Meiklejohn Basis of Evidence on Which Claim Was Finally Decided.

A jury in Supreme Court Justice Giegerich's court returned a verdict yesterday for $34,798 against the estate of the late Edward Cooper and in favor of Mrs. Myra C. Cunningham, executrix of the estate of her husband, Joseph L. Cunningham.

The suit has been in the courts for several years, and was based on a claim growing out of the sale of 2,000 shares of the stock of the Trenton Water Power Company. Mr. Cunningham was a promoter and was on intimate terms with many politicians and business men in New Jersey. The iron firm of Cooper, Hewitt & Co. held the stock of the power company, and efforts had been made to dispose of it for $100,000.

Both Mr. Cooper and Mr. Hewitt had been Mayors of this city, and both were wealthy. Mr. Hewitt died in 1902 and Mr. Cooper three years later. Mr. Cunningham died on Aug. 17, 1906, leaving no tangible assets. Among his papers was found the claim, and Mrs. Cunningham began a suit to test the value of it. It was opposed on the ground that Mr. Hewitt had made the contract with Mr. Cunningham and had transferred his interest in the stock to Mr. Cooper, and that, anyway, the claim had been outlawed. An application was made to Supreme Court Justice Philbin to dismiss the suit.

David H. Bilder, counsel for Mrs. Cunningham, argued that the plaintiff was a poor widow, and because of the difficulty she had to procure proper legal advice she had remained ignorant of her rights. It was pointed out that few lawyers could be found who would enter upon such a contest against the executors of so rich an estate as that left by Mr. Cooper. Justice Philbin denied the motion to dismiss, and the case came to trial.

Among the witnesses for Mrs. Cunningham were John W. Griggs, ex-Governor of New Jersey and ex-Attorney General of the United States, and George D. Meiklejohn, ex-Assistant Secretary of War.

At the trial it came out that after many ineffectual efforts had been made to sell the stock of the water power company Mr. Cunningham was asked to find a purchaser. On June 15, 1899, Mr. Hewitt made a contract with him to give him half of all he could get for the stock over $100,000. On Aug. 15 of that year Mr. Cunningham sold the stock to the Bay State Gas Company for $160,000, $25,000 being paid on the transfer of the stock and the remaining $135,000 to be paid in ninety days. Before the ninety days had expired the gas company went into the hands of a receiver and the remainder of the money was not paid until 1906, when a check for $189,612 was given, covering the principal and interest.

In asking to be relieved of the contract with Mr. Cunningham the defendants said that the litigation caused by the suspension of the gas company had cost them $26,142 in legal fees and costs. The jury was asked to fix a fair value for this service, and the reply was $10,000. Mrs. Cunningham sued for the full half of the $60,000 with interest from the date of the sale. Mr. Hewitt had paid her $8,000, and this was deducted together with a share of the legal expense of getting the money from the gas company.

The success of the suit was largely due to the sale of some stock made by Mr. Cunningham to Mr. Meiklejohn at the time of the Spanish-American war. The stock proved of no value, and Mr. Cunningham told Mr. Meiklejohn he would make the amount good as soon as he got paid for the stock he had sold for Cooper & Hewitt. Mr. Meiklejohn wrote to Mr. Hewitt, and the latter replied admitting the indebtedness to Mr. Cunningham.

OPEN NEW CARS TO SMOKERS

Passengers May Enjoy a Cigar on Converted Trolleys in Brooklyn.

The Public Service Commission has altered with regard to Brooklyn the regulations concerning smoking in the converted street cars so as to permit the enjoyment of a pipe on the four rear seats of the cars. Only Commissioner Maltbie voted against the change, which puts the Brooklyn cars on the same level as those in Manhattan.

Mr. Maltbie took the position that the commission should not interfere in this matter, as there was an old ordinance of the City of Brooklyn dealing with it. Commissioner Williams retorted that the ordinance was very old and was not much regarded.

"The ten commandmants are also very old," remarked Commissioner Maltbie as he voted against the suggestion.

GIFT FROM E. C. BENEDICT.

Will Present a Memorial Hospital to Greenwich, Conn.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., June 17.—Commodore E. C. Benedict and Health Officer A. W. Klein were busy today selecting a site for the Benedict Memorial Hospital, his first public gift to his home town, and it is reported tonight that he has obtained options on a portion of William G. Rockefeller's farm where it adjoins Lafayette Place, and on four residence properties on a corner adjoining Lake Avenue.

Commodore Benedict has promised the Greenwich Medical Society a $125,000 memorial hospital provided the town will give up the General Hospital, the gift of the late Robert M. Bruce, three miles from the village, and the Greenwich Hospital, in the village, built by subscription, George D. Pratt, the Standard Oil operator being a chief donor as a thank offering for the recovery of his wife from a serious illness.

The General Hospital will doubtless be used for town contagious cases and the Greenwich Hospital may become a private hospital.

ARTHUR CAREY COMES BACK

Detective Bureau at Headquarters to be Like the Old Days.

Police Commissioner Woods issued an order last night which is regarded as the final step in the reorganization of the present Detective Division. He orders that the division take the name of Detective Bureau, and he transferred Capt. Arthur A. Carey from the Fourth Avenue Station in Brooklyn to headquarters to have charge of the Homicide Squad. Taken with the Commissioner's recently announced intention of establishing nine branch detective bureaus throughout the city, this action severs absolutely the connection between the detective force and the uniformed force.

Commissioner Wood's policy amounts practically to a return to the old conditions in the police department, which ruled when he was Deputy Commissioner under Gen. Bingham and before that time. Commissioner Waldo altered these conditions one by one until the old system of organization was almost uprooted.

SUES MAN FOR JILTING HER.

Miss Howe Seeks $30,000 from Maccabe for Broken Troth.

Frederic Maccabe, who wrote to the young woman he was to have married, five days before the day set for their wedding, that he liked her and respected her, but didn't really love her, was arrested yesterday afternoon in his office at 57 William Street, on the complaint of Miss Florence Howe, the young woman to whom he was engaged. She said she intended to sue him for $30,000 for breach of promise, and asked for his arrest, fearing that he was about to sail for England. Maccabe was released later on giving a bond for $2,500.

Maccabe boards at 141 Ninety-second Street, Bay Ridge, but his real home is at 23 Grosvenor Street, Liscard, Cheshire, England. He is at the head of the voucher department of the Standard Marine Insurance Company. Miss Howe comes from Pittston, Penn.

Miss Howe says that she spent more than $500 in preparing for the wedding, and that she cannot return to her home town and face her friends because of the humiliation to which she has been subjected.

MINISTER EVICTED BY KINGS CO. SHERIFF

Furnishings of Parkside Presbyterian Parsonage Put Out Into the Street.

WIFE PROTESTS IN VAIN

Riverhead Savings Bank Had Tired of Waiting for the Flatbush Minister to Move Away.

Two deputy sheriffs from the office of Sheriff Swasey of Brooklyn, and a gang of house movers, acting under the authority of a writ issued by the Supreme Court, evicted the Rev. Dr. John B. Long, his wife, and their household effects from the Parkside Presbyterian Church and the parsonage alongside at 42 Lenox Road, Flatbush, yesterday. The eviction was the result of foreclosure proceedings brought against the clergyman by the owners of the church property, the Riverhead Savings Bank.

The Supreme Court order giving the sheriff the authority to put the clergyman's effects out into the street was issued on June 4, but the eviction had been held off by Assemblyman Joseph H. Esquirol, who is also a real estate broker in Flatbush, and who represents the savings bank, on the assurance of Mrs. Long that the occupants would vacate the premises without delay.

After waiting two weeks the bank's officers and Mr. Esquirol decided that it was time for the Sheriff's men to act, as there appeared to be no visible signs of the clergyman moving his effects out of the parsonage. Dr. Long was not at home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning when the Sheriff's men arrived at the parsonage prepared for business. Mrs. Long was there, and she protested against the eviction.

Her protests delayed the work for a few minutes. She complained to the police of the Snyder Avenue Police Station, and a policeman was sent around to the parsonage. He informed Mrs. Long that the police could do nothing; that the Sheriff's men were acting within their rights, and that she would have to submit to eviction.

The movers soon had the lawn in front of the parsonage heaped with furniture, pictures, hundreds of books that made up the clergyman's library, and other household effects. They finished their job in the afternoon and then Mrs. Long engaged moving vans to carry the furnishings away.

Dr. Long had owned the property since he established the church nine years ago. The church has been the house of worship for more than one denomination since Dr. Long owned it. The Presbytery gave it up and Dr. Long continued it as a Socialist church for a time. Then the Baptist denomination worshipped there, but the congregation and the clergyman did not get along very well together and the congregation had to go.

Dr. Long has had a more or less stormy career since then. The last incident was his trouble with the Riverhead Savings Bank, who obtained control of the church by foreclosure proceedings. Mr. Esquirol said yesterday that the bank offered in January to let the clergyman and his wife stay in the parsonage and church property for a monthly rental of $15, but that the money was not forthcoming.

As the church did not belong to any particular denomination, but was an independent organization, the property became subject to taxes. Mr. Esquirol said that the taxes were part of a heavy expense which the bank had to pay and it was decided to sell the property to reimburse the present owners.

One Friday night in February, 1909, instead of having prayer meeting, Dr. Long, at the instigation of Edward T. O'Loughlin, conducted a "human auction" in his church. The building was crowded and 3,000 persons were turned away.

Fifty masked men were brought up to the pulpit, and one after the other was put on the block to be sold to the highest bidder. They were all unemployed men, and Dr. Long was interested in making a social example of their cases. He and O'Loughlin introduced each of the masked men, and the employers in the audience bid for their services. An iron worker, a driver, and several utility men were disposed of, but there were no bids for the remaining forty-four. Andrew Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller were invited, and the latter sent a letter of regret. Of all the churches in New York, Dr. Long's was the only one that responded to O'Loughlin's suggestion for aiding the unemployed.

When Commissioner Baker was at the head of the Police Department Dr. Long got the idea that he was responsible for flagrant violations of the Sunday excise law and attacked him in his sermons.

SET RIVER ON FIRE.

And Those Living Along the Passaic Are Sorry It Didn't Burn Up.

Those living in East Newark and adjacent towns, whose nostrils have been offended for many years by the odors from the Passaic River, thought for a little while yesterday that they were to be rid of that stream. A man living in East Newark who had lighted a cigar threw his match into the river and it caught fire, whether because of leaks from oil tanks was not ascertained.

At all events, the river blazed up merrily. The East Newark Fire Department, under Chief Patrick Breen, was called out, and played clean water from fire plugs on the burning stream. The fire was extinguished after a quarter of an hour, but all afternoon Chief Breen listened to remonstrances from citizens who contended that he ought to have let the river burn up as the best way of getting rid of it.

Dr. M. R. Palmer Operated On.

Dr. Marvin R. Palmer, chief police surgeon, was operated on for appendicitis yesterday at Dr. Henry W. Lloyd's private hospital at 8 St. Nicholas Place. It was said there after the operation that he was doing as well as could be expected. Dr. Palmer's friends at Police Headquarters were surprised to hear of his illness. He left there in apparently good health on Tuesday evening, but shortly after he arrived at his home, 536 West 111th Street, he was taken ill and it was decided to operate immediately.

PROPERTY OWNERS PROTEST

Want City to Make Streets Conform with New Haven Railroad Grade.

Rresidents of Van Nest, in the Bronx, met last night under the auspices of the Van Nest Taxpayers' Association to protest against assessments for raising and grading streets near the Harlem Branch of the New Haven Railroad.

It was contended that the city should pay for the grading, and also the damage to property due to the raising of streets, which has been estimated at from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. This contention is based on the fact that the Board of Estimate authorized the change of the railroad's grade in 1904, and should collect from the railroad if possible.

John Dunnigan cited several instances in which instalment plan homeseekers had found their investments unprofitable on account of the grading assessments. George Peterson, a carpenter, whose home is on Taylor Avenue, he said, owns a house valued for taxes at $4,100, and has paid $840.76 in assessments. In many cases, he said, the streets have been raised so high to pass over the railroad that they are level with the third floors of houses on intersecting street. As a result the section has been dubbed "The Sunken City."

Borough President Mathewson attended the meeting. He said that, while he thought the assessments were not due to the raising of the railroad to as great an extent as the taxpayers believed, the railroad was of much benefit to the city, and he would co-operate in an effort to have the city bear part of the expense.

Francis Martin, District Attorney for Bronx County, said he would investigate all circumstances surrounding permission to the New Haven to alter its tracks, and if he found reason for it he would put the case before the Grand Jury. It was also suggested that if the New York Board of Estimate does not act the taxpayers will seek the Legislature's aid.

Ex-Borough President Haffen, who was an Alderman when the change was authorized, was invited to attend last night's meeting, but was not present.

—Open in about a Week—

To Make It Easier For You Downtown Men

TIME is such a valuable asset these busy days, that we want to save it for you who work downtown. That is one of the reasons why we are opening (next week we hope) our new store at 265-267 Broadway.

We want to make it easy for you whose business is downtown to take advantage of the superb values we offer.

If we can save you time and at the same time show you how your money can bring a greater return, we have done you a service and that is what we propose doing.

Our Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes offer greater values than any other in New York, the same is true of our Hats and Furnishing Goods. We say this from absolute knowledge of facts, and this new store of ours in the heart of the downtown district brings these values within your easy reach.
